Provisions of this bill exempt motor vehicles with a model year that is 30 or more years old from motor vehicle emission inspection beginning January 1, 2003. Enactment of this bill would require the plans covering Ozone, Particulate Matter, Carbon Monoxide, Inspection Maintenance and State Implementation to be rewritten. It is estimated that these one-time revisions would cost $16,800 from the General Fund in FY 2001. Each year additional motor vehicles will become exempt and may require a continual rewrite of the clean air laws. Failure to demonstrate transportation conformity required by federal law could result in loss of as much as $200,000,000 in federal highway funds.

Individuals owning motor vehicles with a model year prior to 1974 would save money by that 16,050 vehicles with registration years between 1968 and 1973 exist in the four counties that require emissions inspection. Based on the cost of inspection being $25 per another model year of motor vehicles would qualify for the exemption, saving the owners the inspection fee.
