

Any additional workload by State organizations can be handled within existing budgets.

Individual and Business Impact

This bill may save consumers the expense of changing telecommunications companies, as well as costs associated with changed rates. The provisions of this bill may increase administrative expenses for those representing telecommunications corporations when conducting certain procedures. These savings or costs cannot be quantified.

Office of the Legislative Fiscal Analyst