Individual and Business Impact

This bill may reduce the cost of preparing and submitting an application for licensure for most applicants. The bill provides an avenue for licensure that was not previously available to foreign trained applicants, however, some foreign trained applicants may incur an additional cost for a credentialing agency evaluation and possibly an examination.

Changes to requirements for licensing by endorsement in several professions may increase the length of time before a person qualifies to be licensed in Utah. This could affect potential earnings in the short term and may affect final licensure.
