

HR4-6-104 Interruptions and questions.

- (1) A representative may not interrupt or question another representative in debate without that representative's consent.
- (2)
 - (a) To obtain consent, the querying representative shall address the presiding officer and, upon recognition by the presiding officer, ask if the representative speaking will yield the floor to a question.
 - (b) If the representative speaking consents to yield the floor to a question, the presiding officer shall allow the querying representative to ask the question.
 - (c) If the representative speaking declines to yield the floor to a question, the presiding officer:
 - (i) shall inform the querying representative that the representative speaking has declined; and
 - (ii) may not allow the querying representative to ask a question.
