(1) If a married couple having one or more minor children are separated, or the married couple's marriage is declared void or dissolved, the court shall enter, and has continuing jurisdiction to modify, an order of custody and parent-time.

(2) In determining any form of custody and parent-time under Subsection (1), the court shall consider the best interest of the child and may consider among other factors the court finds relevant, the following for each parent:

(a) evidence of domestic violence, neglect, physical abuse, sexual abuse, or emotional abuse, involving the child, the parent, or a household member of the parent;

(b) the parent's demonstrated understanding of, responsiveness to, and ability to meet the developmental needs of the child, including the child's:

(i) physical needs;

(ii) emotional needs;

(iii) educational needs;

(iv) medical needs; and

(v) any special needs;

(c) the parent's capacity and willingness to function as a parent, including:

(i) parenting skills;

- (ii) co-parenting skills, including:
- (A) ability to appropriately communicate with the other parent;
- (B) ability to encourage the sharing of love and affection; and
- (C) willingness to allow frequent and continuous contact between the child and the other parent, except that, if the court determines that the parent is acting to protect the child from domestic violence, neglect, or abuse, the parent's protective actions may be taken into consideration; and
- (iii) ability to provide personal care rather than surrogate care;
- (d) in accordance with Subsection (10), the past conduct and demonstrated moral character of the parent;
- (e) the emotional stability of the parent;
- (f) the parent's inability to function as a parent because of drug abuse, excessive drinking, or other causes;
- (g) whether the parent has intentionally exposed the child to pornography or material harmful to minors, as "material" and "harmful to minors" are defined in Section 76-10-1201;
- (h) the parent's reasons for having relinquished custody or parent-time in the past;
- (i) duration and depth of desire for custody or parent-time;
- (j) the parent's religious compatibility with the child;
- (k) the parent's financial responsibility;
- (l) the child's interaction and relationship with step-parents, extended family members of other individuals who may significantly affect the child's best interests;
- (m) who has been the primary caretaker of the child;
- (n) previous parenting arrangements in which the child has been happy and well-adjusted in the home, school, and community;

- (p) the stated wishes and concerns of the child, taking into consideration the child's cognitive ability and emotional maturity;
- (q) the relative strength of the child's bond with the parent, meaning the depth, quality, and nature of the relationship between the parent and the child; and
- (r) any other factor the court finds relevant.
- (3) There is a rebuttable presumption that joint legal custody, as defined in Section 30-3-10.1, is in the best interest of the child, except in cases when there is:

- (a) evidence of domestic violence, neglect, physical abuse, sexual abuse, or emotional abuse involving the child, a parent, or a household member of the parent;
- (b) special physical or mental needs of a parent or child, making joint legal custody unreasonable;
- (c) physical distance between the residences of the parents, making joint decision making impractical in certain circumstances; or
- (d) any other factor the court considers relevant including those listed in this section and Section 30-3-10.2.
- (4) (a) The person who desires joint legal custody shall file a proposed parenting plan in accordance with Sections 30-3-10.8 and 30-3-10.9.
- (b) A presumption for joint legal custody may be rebutted by a showing by a preponderance of the evidence that it is not in the best interest of the child.

- (b) The court may not consider the disability of a parent as a factor in awarding custody or modifying an award of custody based on a determination of a substantial change in circumstances, unless the court makes specific findings that:
- (i) the disability significantly or substantially inhibits the parent's ability to provide for the physical and emotional needs of the child at issue; and
- (ii) the parent with a disability lacks sufficient human, monetary, or other resources available to supplement the parent's ability to provide for the physical and emotional needs of the child at issue.

(c) Nothing in this section may be construed to apply to adoption proceedings under Title 78B, Chapter 6, Part 1, Utah Adoption Act.

(7) This section does not establish a preference for either parent solely because of the gender of the parent.

(8) This section establishes neither a preference nor a presumption for or against joint physical custody or sole physical custody, but allows the court and the family the widest discretion to choose a parenting plan that is in the best interest of the child.

(9) When an issue before the court involves custodial responsibility in the event of a deployment of one or both parents who are servicemembers, and the servicemember has not yet been notified of deployment, the court shall resolve the issue based on the standards in Sections 78B-20-306 through 78B-20-309.

(10) In considering the past conduct and demonstrated moral standards of each party under Subsection (2)(d) or any other factor a court finds relevant, the court may not:

(a) consider or treat a parent's lawful possession or use of cannabis in a medicinal dosage form, a cannabis product in a medicinal dosage form, or a medical cannabis device, in accordance with Title 4, Chapter 41a, Cannabis Production Establishments, Title 26, Chapter 61a, Utah Medical Cannabis Act, or Subsection 58-37-3.7(2) or (3) any differently than the court would consider or treat the lawful possession or use of [an opioid or opiate] any prescribed controlled substance; or

(3) Except in case of injury resulting in death:

(a) compensation provided for by this chapter shall be reduced 15% when injury is caused by the willful failure of the employee:

(i) to use safety devices when provided by the employer; or

(ii) to obey any order or reasonable rule adopted by the employer for the safety of the employee; and

(b) except when the employer permitted, encouraged, or had actual knowledge of the conduct described in Subsection (4):

(ii) disability compensation to an employee under this chapter or Chapter 3, Utah Occupational Disease Act, shall be reduced by 15% when the employee's conduct is a contributing cause of the employee's injury but not the major contributing cause.

(4) The conduct described in Subsection (3)(b) is the employee's:

(a) knowing use of a controlled substance that the employee did not obtain under a valid prescription;

(b) intentional abuse of a controlled substance that the employee obtained under a valid prescription if the employee uses the controlled substance intentionally:

(i) in excess of prescribed therapeutic amounts; or

(ii) in an otherwise abusive manner; or

(c) intoxication from alcohol with a blood or breath alcohol concentration of [~~.08~~] .05 grams or greater as shown by a chemical test.

(5) (a) For purposes of Subsections (3) and (4), as shown by a chemical test that conforms to scientifically accepted analytical methods and procedures and includes verification or confirmation of any positive test result by gas chromatography, gas chromatography-mass spectroscopy, or other comparably reliable analytical method, before the result of the test may be used as a basis for the presumption, it is presumed that the major contributing cause of the employee's injury is the employee's conduct described in Subsection (4) if at the time of the injury:

(i) the employee has in the employee's system:

(A) any amount of a controlled substance or its metabolites if the employee did not obtain the controlled substance under a valid prescription; or

(I) in excess of prescribed therapeutic amounts; or

(II) in an otherwise abusive manner; or

(ii) the employee has a blood or breath alcohol concentration of ~~[-.08]~~ .05 grams or greater.

(b) The presumption created under Subsection (5)(a) may be rebutted by a preponderance of the evidence showing that:

(i) the chemical test creating the presumption is inaccurate because the employer failed to comply with:

(A) Sections 34-38-4 through 34-38-6; or

(B) if the employer is a local governmental entity or state institution of higher education, Section 34-41-104 and Subsection 34-41-103(5);

(ii) the employee did not engage in the conduct described in Subsection (4);

(iii) the test results do not exclude the possibility of passive inhalation of marijuana because the concentration of total urinary cannabinoids is less than 50 nanograms/ml as determined by a test conducted in accordance with:

(A) Sections 34-38-4 through 34-38-6; or

(B) if the employer is a local governmental entity or state institution of higher education, Section 34-41-104 and Subsection 34-41-103(5);

(iv) a competent medical opinion from a physician verifies that the amount of controlled substances, metabolites, or alcohol in the employee's system does not support a finding that the conduct described in Subsection (4) was the major contributing cause of the employee's injury or a contributing cause of the employee's injury; or

(v) (A) the conduct described in Subsection (4) was not a contributing cause of the employee's injury; or

(B) the employee's mental and physical condition were not impaired at the time of the injury.

(c) (i) Except as provided in Subsections (5)(c)(ii) and (iii), if a chemical test that creates the presumption under Subsection (5)(a) is taken at the request of the employer, the employer shall comply with:

(A) Title 34, Chapter 38, Drug and Alcohol Testing; or

(B) if the employee is a local governmental employee or an employee of a state institution of higher education, Title 34, Chapter 41, Local Governmental Entity Drug-Free Workplace Policies.

(ii) Notwithstanding Section 34-38-13, the results of a test taken under Title 34, Chapter 38, Drug and Alcohol Testing, may be disclosed to the extent necessary to establish or rebut the presumption created under Subsection (5)(a).

(iii) Notwithstanding Section 34-41-103, the results of a test taken under Title 34, Chapter 41, Local Governmental Entity Drug-Free Workplace Policies, may be disclosed to the extent necessary to establish or rebut the presumption created under Subsection (5)(a).

(6) (a) A test sample taken pursuant to this section shall be taken as a split sample.

(b) One part of the sample is to be used by the employer for testing pursuant to Subsection (5)(a):

(i) at a testing facility selected by the employer; and

(ii) at the employer's or the employer's workers' compensation carrier's expense.

(c) The testing facility selected under Subsection (6)(b) shall hold the part of the sample not used under Subsection (6)(b) until the sooner of:

(i) six months from the date of the original test; or

(ii) when the employee requests that the sample be tested.

(d) The employee has only six months from the date of the original test to have the remaining sample tested:

(i) at the employee's expense; and

(ii) at the testing facility selected by the employee, except that the test shall meet the requirements of Subsection (5)(a).
