DIGEST OF LEGISLATION

2008 GENERAL SESSION

of the 57th Legislature

2007 First Special Session

of the 57th Legislature

INTRODUCTION

This Digest of Legislation provides long titles of bills and resolutions enacted by the 57th Legislature in the 2008 General Session and the 2007 First Special Session. The digest lists the sponsor, sections of the Utah Code affected, effective date, session law chapter number for each bill enacted, and whether the bill was studied and approved by an interim committee (in italics). Bills and resolutions not passed are indexed by subject. Statistical summary data are also included.

An electronic version of this year's publication, the complete bill text and a subject, numerical, and sponsor index for all bills introduced each session can be found online at <http://le.utah.gov>.

If more detailed information is needed, please contact the Office of Legislative Research and General Counsel at (801) 538-1032.

Governor's Veto Message

Dear Speaker Curtis and President Valentine:

February 29, 2008

After careful consideration and study, I have decided to veto S.B. 144, PARAMETERS ON GOVERNOR'S ABILITY TO ENTER AGREEMENTS BINDING THE STATE, and have transmitted it to the Lieutenant Governor for filing.

By reserving for the Legislature the final authority to approve or reject significant interstate agreements, S.B. 144 violates core principles of government established in the Utah Constitution. The bill's requirement, that I must submit such interstate agreements for approval before I implement them, violates the presentment clause set out in Article VII, section 8. And though S.B. 144 limits this legislative discretion to "significant" interstate agreements, the bill casts a wide net over duties clearly within the purview of the executive branch and in violation of the Constitution's separation of powers clause. Utah Const. art. V, § 1. Agreements of this nature, have been entered into by 15 Utah Governors for more than 100 years for the benefit of Utah's citizens. Further, this bill is just one of at least 16 bills introduced by the Legislature this legislative session to shift power away from the Governor and executive branch to the legislative branch. This trend is very concerning as laws passed that take away the executive branches ability to function hampers the state's ability to adequately perform vital public services for years and possibly generations to come.

In addition to the constitutional issues raised above, S.B. 144 would impede my authority to form interstate agreements during times of emergency and will unnecessarily paralyze our State's response to unforeseen catastrophe. Though I may now enter significant interstate agreements without legislative approval during a state of emergency, this bill would allow me to do so only after a declaration by the President of the United States or a prior proclamation of local emergency pursuant to Section 63-5a-5 of the Utah Code. In order to put this into practical terms, these emergency provisions would not have allowed me to assist in quickly acquiring and transporting needed mine rescue equipment from another state to Utah during the recent Crandall Canyon mine disaster. I would have had to wait until the local government declared an emergency and cited the pertinent legal criteria showing the emergency met the state and federal disaster criteria. That local government then would have been required to transmit that declaration to my office. My office then would have reviewed the declaration to see that it met the law allowing me to declare it a state emergency. This whole process from the local government through my office would likely have taken at least a day if not more.

My other option in an emergency situation under the language of this bill is to call a special session. The law requires that I give at least a day's notice before the legislature can meet in a special session. Both options would have taken at least a day, and that is a day too long for the miners trapped in Crandall canyon. I will not allow legislation that hampers a Governor's ability to exercise his or her best judgment in response to an emergency situation.

Finally, the bill's vague language will require me to call what are otherwise unnecessary special legislative sessions to approve interstate agreements fundamental to my duty to faithfully execute the laws of the State of Utah. Under S.B. 144, I anticipate having to call special sessions for this purpose several times a year at an approximate cost of $35,000 per session, an equally unnecessary expense to Utah taxpayers.

For these reasons, I have decided to veto this bill.

Jon M. Huntsman, Jr., Governor

PASSED LEGISLATION 2007 FIRST SPECIAL SESSION

HB 1001 Creation of New School District Amendments (John Dougall)

This bill modifies provisions related to the creation of a new school district.

This bill:

- ▶ adds an exception to the requirement that a proposed new school district include the entire boundaries of each city or town that participates in an interlocal agreement for the creation of a new school district, so that a city or town may include some but not all of the area within its boundaries if the portion to be included is within the same school district as the other interlocal agreement participants and the area to be excluded is in another school district;
- ▶ provides that a city or town located in more than one county that participates in an interlocal agreement to create a new school district as to some but not all of the area within the city or town under the preceding exception may not be considered to cross county lines for purposes of a prohibition against a proposed new school district crossing county lines;
- ▶ clarifies that a new school district may be created from multiple existing school districts;
- ▶ clarifies the election provisions applicable to an election for the creation of a new school district;
- ▶ authorizes an individual residing within a new school district to elect to enroll in a secondary school located within another school district under certain circumstances;
- ▶ modifies provisions related to a required feasibility study for proposals to create a new school district; and
- ▶ modifies the time within which requests for the creation of a new school district are required to be certified.

Amends 53A-2-118, 53A-2-118.1

Effective August 27, 2007
