ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Office of Legislative Research and General Counsel expresses appreciation to the Legislative Redistricting Committee, county clerks, and other dedicated individuals who have spent an extensive amount of time and effort helping to prepare the maps, redistricting plans, reports, and legislation. The 2001 redistricting has been completed because of their combined efforts and spirit of cooperation.

In addition to the hard work of the Legislative Redistricting Committee, I would like to acknowledge the work of the staff who have spent many hours, weeks, and months preparing the redistricting plans, reports, and legislation. Stewart E. Smith, John L. Fellows, Richard C. North, Joseph T. Wade, Mark D. Andrews, John Q. Cannon, Jerry D. Howe, Mark J Allred, Alicia Laughlin, and Cassandra Bauman served as the Legislative Redistricting Committee staff.

Appreciation is also expressed to the staff of Legislative Printing for their assistance in preparing and printing this report.

Michael E. Christensen, Director
Office of Legislative Research and General Counsel

INTRODUCTION

REPORT CONTENTS

This report contains the results of Utah's redistricting. The report is divided into four sections: Congressional, Senate, House of Representatives, and State Board of Education. Each section contains a table of contents, detailed maps of each district's boundaries, a summary showing the population of each new district, including deviation from the ideal district size, and a list of the counties or portions of counties within each district boundary.

REDISTRICTING PROCESS

The United States Constitution requires states to redistrict congressional and legislative boundaries every 10 years. The Utah Constitution requires each redistricting process to be completed by the general session following the receipt of the census data. The Utah Constitution also provides the Utah Legislature exclusive authority to redistrict congressional, legislative, and other state district boundaries. The redistricting process is subject to the legal parameters established by the United States and Utah Constitutions, state and federal laws, and case law.

The Legislative Redistricting Committee met regularly between April and September 2001 to make recommendations to the Legislature. For more detailed information and an account of the redistricting committee's work, see the Redistricting Committee Report, September 2001, available on the Legislature's homepage, http://www.le.state.ut.us or printed copies available in the Office of Legislative Research and General Counsel. The committee's report includes a detailed summary of legal requirements, the committee's procedural guidelines, redistricting principles, and committee recommendations.

When the Legislature met in September/October 2001 in its Second Special Session, it modified many of the districts recommended by the Redistricting Committee. The district maps included in this report represent the official district boundaries adopted by the Legislature.

OFFICIAL RECORD

Unless modified, district boundaries established by the Utah Legislature and represented in this report will be in effect for the 2002 elections and will remain in effect until the next redistricting process is completed.

The following bills from the 2001 Second Special Session contain the plans of district boundaries adopted by the Legislature. These new district boundaries and copies of the bills are available on the Utah Legislature's home page, http://www.le.state.ut.us, or printed black and white copies of the bills are available from Legislative Printing in room 419 State Capitol.

Copies of the official maps are also available on the Legislature's homepage, http://www.le.state.ut.us. Additional copies of this report are available for purchase in hard copy, $25.00, or CD Rom version, $5.00, at the Office of Legislative Research and General Counsel, Room 436 State Capitol.

STATISTICAL TERMINOLOGY

"Ideal district population" is the total state population divided by the number of districts.

"Deviation" is the degree by which a district population varies from the ideal district population. It is attained by subtracting the ideal district population from the district population.

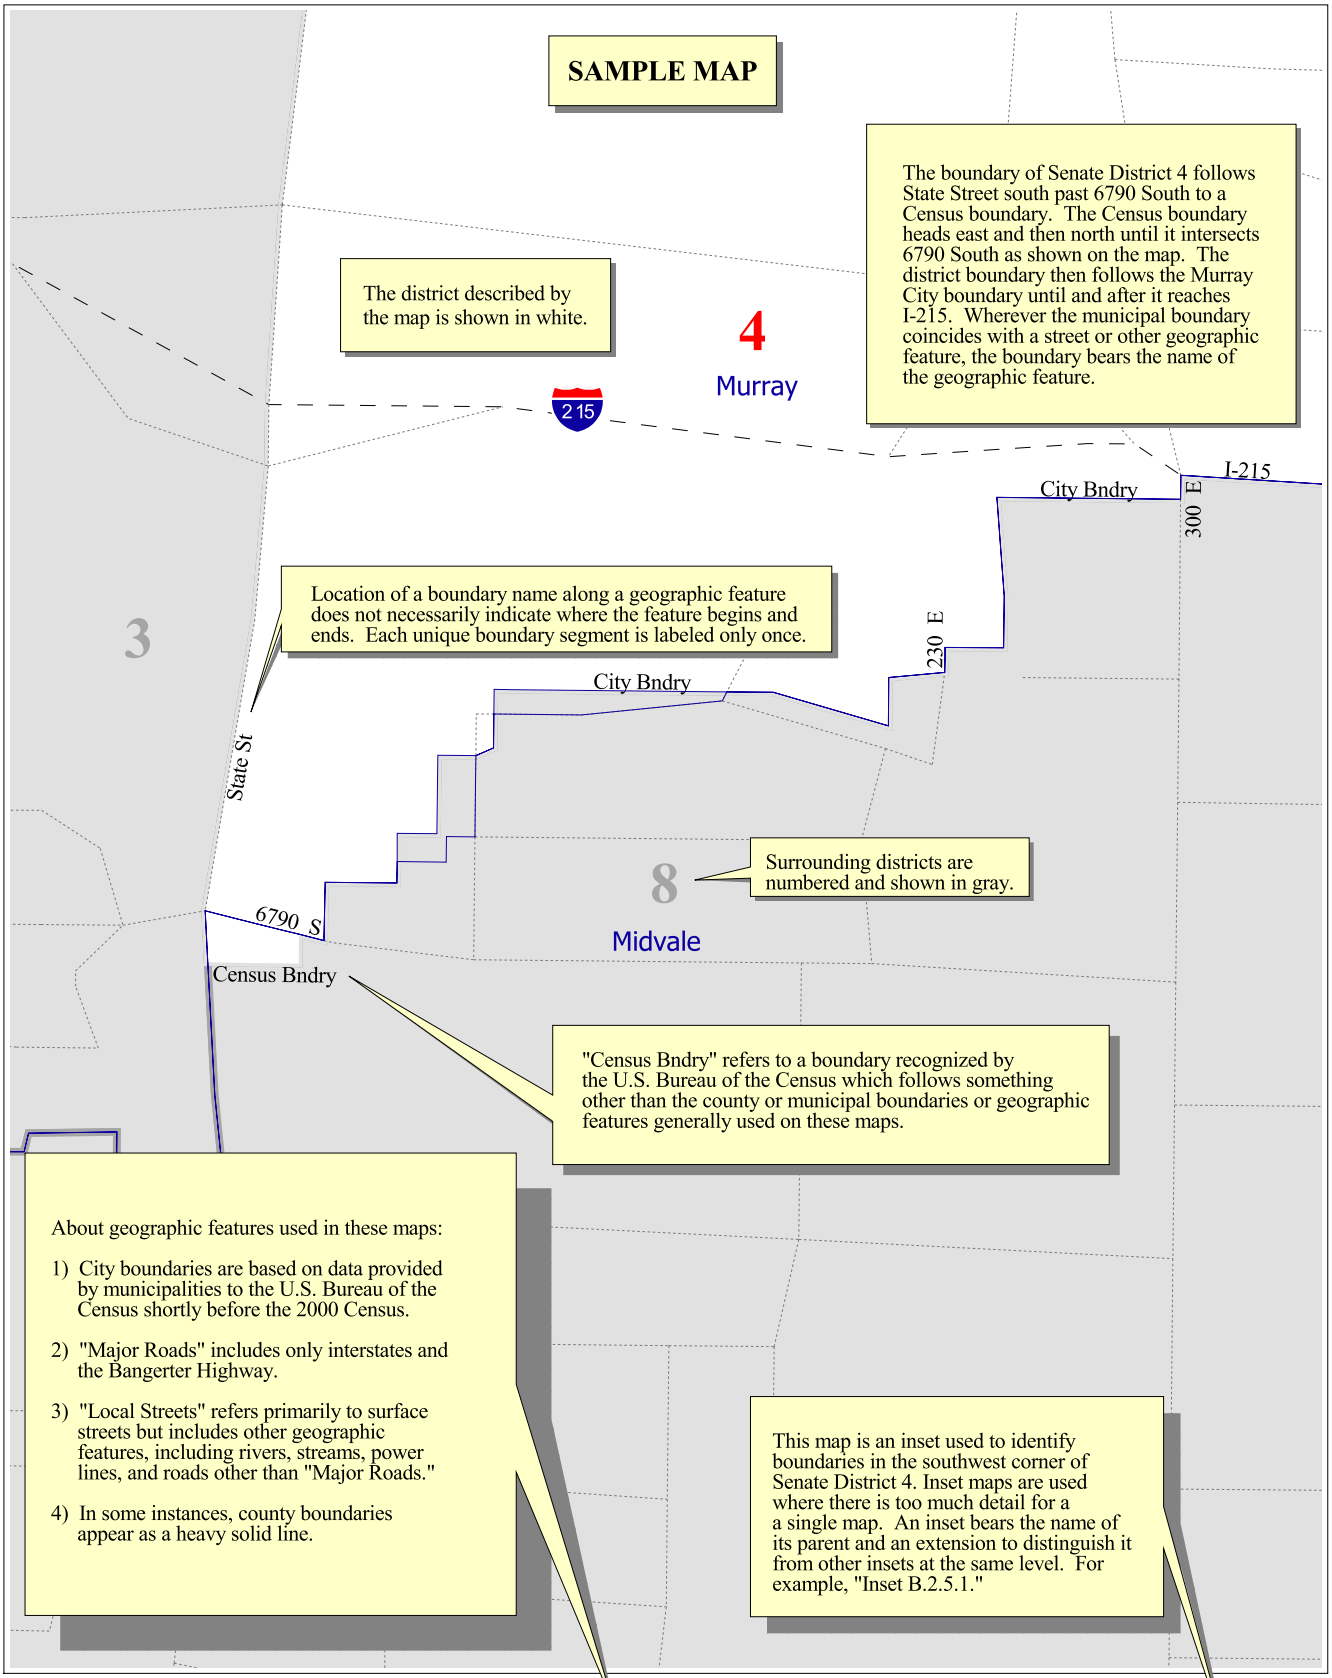

"Percent deviation" is the deviation divided by the ideal district population.

IDENTIFICATION OF BOUNDARY LINES

Identification of district boundaries in this report is based on data provided by the U.S. Bureau of the Census. Wherever possible, boundaries are identified by geographic features, including roads, shorelines, and railroads. The term "Census Boundary" is used to describe a boundary that does not coincide with a municipal or county boundary or geographic feature. "Census Boundary" includes Forest Service boundaries, lines between geographic features, and other boundaries identified by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

The maps in this report identify every boundary of each district. Where space does not permit the labeling of every boundary on a single map, insets are used to provide additional detail.
A district boundary that coincides with a municipal boundary is labeled "City Bndry" only where there is no other corresponding geographic feature. The labels for this type of boundary often alternate between "City Bndry" and the names of roads or other geographic features.

The boundary of Senate District 4 follows State Street south past 6790 South to a Census boundary. The Census boundary heads east and then north until it intersects 6790 South as shown on the map. The district boundary then follows the Murray City boundary until and after it reaches I-215. Wherever the municipal boundary coincides with a street or other geographic feature, the boundary bears the name of the geographic feature.

Census Bndry
"Census Bndry" refers to a boundary recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Census which follows something other than the county or municipal boundaries or geographic features generally used on these maps.
About geographic features used in these maps:
1) City boundaries are based on data provided by municipalities to the U.S. Bureau of the Census shortly before the 2000 Census.
2) "Major Roads" includes only interstates and the Bangerter Highway.
3) "Local Streets" refers primarily to surface streets but includes other geographic features, including rivers, streams, power lines, and roads other than "Major Roads."
4) In some instances, county boundaries appear as a heavy solid line.
This map is an inset used to identify boundaries in the southwest corner of Senate District 4. Inset maps are used where there is too much detail for a a single map. An inset bears the name of its parent and an extension to distinguish it from other insets at the same level. For example, "Inset B.2.5.1."

THREE-MEMBER CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING

The Utah Legislature adopted a plan that has three congressional districts. The ideal population for each of Utah's three Congressional districts is 744,390. The Legislature adopted an allowable deviation standard of ± 0.5 percent from the ideal congressional district population. In the new plan adopted by the Legislature, the district populations range from 744,389 in District 1 to 744,390 in Districts 2 and 3. The total deviation is 0.0 percent, which is within the ± 0.5 percent guideline.

The following is a current incumbent list. The population summary and detailed maps on subsequent pages show the congressional redistricting plan adopted by the Utah Legislature.

FOUR-MEMBER CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING

Following the 2000 Census, the State of Utah challenged the federal apportionment of congressional seats based on Census Bureau counting methodologies. As a result, Utah may obtain a fourth congressional district.

The Utah Legislature also adopted maps and plans containing four congressional districts so it would be prepared for either a three-member or four-member congressional district. If Utah obtains a fourth congressional district, the ideal population for each of the four congressional districts is 558,292. The Legislature adopted an allowable deviation standard of ± 0.5 percent from the ideal congressional district population. In the plan adopted by the Legislature, the district populations range from 558,292 in Districts 1, 2, and 3 to 558,293 in District 4. The total deviation is 0.0 percent, which is within the ± 0.5 percent guideline.

SENATE REDISTRICTING

The Utah Legislature adopted a plan that has 29 senate districts, as required by the Utah Constitution. The ideal population for each of the 29 senate districts is 77,006. The Legislature adopted an allowable deviation standard of ± 4.0 percent from the ideal senate district population. In the new plan adopted by the Legislature, the district populations range from 74,179 in District 22 to 79,586 in District 7. The range of deviation is -3.67 percent to 3.35 percent, which is within the ± 4.0 percent guideline.

Unless otherwise provided by law, each senator elected from Senate Districts 1, 6, 8, 10, 13, 14, 16, 19, 20, 23, 24, 25, 27, and 29 at the 2000 General Election shall serve out the term of office for which he or she was elected and beginning January 1, 2003, shall represent the realigned district. At the general election to be held in 2002, senators elected from Senate Districts 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 9, 11, 12, 15, 17, 18, 21, 22, 26, and 28 shall be elected to serve a term of office of four years.

The following is a current incumbent list. The population summary and detailed maps on subsequent pages show the senate redistricting plan adopted by the Utah Legislature.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES REDISTRICTING

The Utah Legislature adopted a plan that continues to have 75 house districts. However, the Utah Constitution permits the number of members in the House of Representatives to range from 58 to 87. The ideal population for each of the 75 house districts is 29,776. The Legislature adopted an allowable deviation standard of ± 4.0 percent from the ideal house district population. In the new plan adopted by the Legislature, the district populations range from 28,587 in District 20 to 30,967 in District 70. The range of deviation is -4.0 percent to 4.0 percent, which is within the ± 4.0 percent guideline.

The following is a current incumbent list. The population summary and detailed maps on subsequent pages show the house redistricting plan adopted by the Utah Legislature.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION REDISTRICTING

The Utah Legislature adopted a plan that continues to have 15 State Board of Education districts. There is no constitutional requirement specifying the number of districts for the State Board of Education. The ideal population for each of the 15 State Board of Education districts is 148,878. The Legislature adopted an allowable deviation standard of ± 4.0 percent from the ideal State Board of Education district population. In the new plan adopted by the Legislature, the district populations range from 143,838 in District 6 to 153,091 in District 10. The range of deviation is -3.4 percent to 2.8 percent, which is within the ± 4.0 percent guideline.

In 2002 and every four years thereafter, one person each shall be elected from new Districts 2, 3, 5, 6, 9, 10, 14, and 15 to serve a four-year term. In 2004 and every four years thereafter, one person each shall be elected from new Districts 4, 7, 8, 11, 12, and 13 to serve a four-year term. The state school board members elected from old Districts 2 and 4, both of whom now reside in new District 1, may not serve out the term for which they were elected, but shall instead stand for election in 2002 for a term of office of four years from the realigned district in which each resides. If one of the incumbent state school board members from new District 1 indicates in writing to the lieutenant governor that the school board member will not seek reelection, that incumbent state school board member may serve until January 1, 2003 and the other incumbent state school board member shall serve out the term for which the member was elected, which is until January 1, 2005.

Although the Legislature made an attempt to conform the State Board of Education boundaries to the state's forty local school district boundaries, the State Board of Education district boundaries do not necessarily follow the local school district boundaries.

The following is a current incumbent list. The population summary and detailed maps on subsequent pages show the State Board of Education redistricting plan adopted by the Utah Legislature.
