Administrative Rules Review Committee

September 20, 2010

Duration of Contact Lens Prescriptions

The Division of Occupational and Professional Licensing and the Utah Optometric Association told the committee that they would urge their respective licensees and association members to comply with the state law.

Use of the Phrase "Liberally Construed" in Administrative Rules

Requested that legislative committees study the use of the phrase "liberally construed" in the administrative rules of state agencies they oversee. The committee also recommended that these committees recommend whether the state agencies should continue with the use of the phrase in their rules or repeal them. Committee staff reported on the legislative committees' responses and was directed by the chairs to coordinate with a House committee that has been directed by House leadership to review the issue.

Legislative Audit Subcommittee Releases Three Report

On October 21, 2010 the Legislative Audit Subcommittee released the following performance audit reports:

Audit of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control (DABC)

The DABC commission has habitually violated the state's open meeting laws and some commissioners have potential conflicts of interest that have not been adequately disclosed. Additionally, the DABC has experienced necessary growth in retail stores, but has done so without an adequate business plan that considers all alternatives to building and the placement of stores. While retail operations of the DABC stores are profitable for the state, store productivity could be improved.

The report also addresses the need to formalize policies and procedures in the licensing and compliance section.

Finally, the report suggests some licensing issues the Legislature could consider.

Audit of Charter School Oversight

The State Charter School Board has not established clear standards to evaluate schools' financial performance. The board needs to adopt policies that further define how its disciplinary and termination processes will proceed.

The audit found that a small number of charter schools are struggling to adhere to some financial best practices. The State Charter School Board should enhance its financial oversight by requiring training for charter school board members, enforcing financial reporting requirements, and further utilizing audited financial statements.

The audit also found that acceptable uses of charter school revolving loan funds need to be further defined. Loan requests for these uses should be prioritized by the Charter School Revolving Subaccount Committee as allowed by statute.

Audit of School District Travel Accountability

The audit shows that total travel expenditures amount to less than one percent of the total annual expenditures in five sampled school districts. The report also shows that most school administrators and boards in the sample group have started to cut travel expenditures because of difficult budget times.

The report recommends that districts review their number and type of association memberships and determine if continued involvement is appropriate in light of current budget cuts.

Additionally, Utah's involvement in the Chinese Bridge Delegation travel program is higher than other states, and the districts should review their level of involvement in this program.

Finally, recommendations were made to the Utah State Office of Education to standardize the reporting requirements so that reporting is consistent and comparisons can be made among districts.

Staff: John Schaff (Legislative Auditor General)*
