UTAH RANKS HIGHEST IN NATION FOR
“LEGISLATORS BACK TO SCHOOL PROGRAM” PARTICIPATION

Special congratulations to Utah’s legislators! During the 2008–09 school year they claimed the nation’s highest participation rate in the “America’s Legislators Back to School Program.”

Ninety-four percent of Utah’s legislators visited schools as part of this program sponsored by the National Conference of State Legislatures.

In years past, Utah’s senators and representatives had consistently ranked in the top three states. In 2002–03 and 2005–06 they held first place, and again this year they lead the country.

Through this program, Utah’s senators and representatives give of their time and expertise every year to educate students – our future voters and leaders – about their responsibilities and opportunities for involvement as citizens.

Utah’s legislators have been participating in the “Back to School” program for many years, giving Utah students the opportunity to meet and talk with state leaders who listen to students’ questions and concerns. In turn, these young people learn about the experience of being a legislator through discussions, mock hearings and sessions, and drafting bills on subjects of interest to them.

Thanks also to Utah teachers, who continue to welcome legislators into their classrooms each year.
