SUMMARY

One outcome measure of higher education is the percentage of students who graduate from an institution within a certain time period. The standard looks at cohorts of first-time, full-time students and determines the percentage of that cohort who graduate within 150% of the degree period. For example, the measure counts first-time, full-time students who complete an associate’s degree within three years and those who complete a bachelor’s degree within six years.

DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The following tables provide a historical perspective of the graduation rates at each USHE institution for the past eight years.
USHE Graduation Rates

Graduation Rates
Weber State University

Graduation Rates
Southern Utah University

Graduation Rates
Utah Valley University
USHE Graduation Rates

Graduation Rates
Snow College

Graduation Rates
Dixie State University

Graduation Rates
Salt Lake Community College