International students offer a more precise perspective. In my African politics class, the students from Africa were able to offer helpful personal experiences that enriched our classroom discussion.

MAX CHAFFETZ
STUDENT

I greatly value the relationships I have made with international peers; my global perspective has expanded and I feel better prepared to be a productive, globally-minded citizen after I graduate.

KELSEY PAULDING

Our international students' skills are in demand with local and national employers who are facing a shortage of qualified technology talent. I can't imagine what our University would be like without these students. They are an important part of our community.
