Pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution of the State of Utah, the Senators of the Sixty-First Legislature of the State of Utah convened in General Session in the Senate Chamber on Monday, January 25, 2016, at ten o'clock a.m.

The Senate was called to order at 10:12 a.m., by Senate President Wayne L. Niederhauser.

PRAYER BY ELDER RONALD A. RASBAND, MEMBER OF THE QUORUM OF THE TWELVE APOSTLES OF THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER-DAY SAINTS

Our Dear God, Father of all of our Spirits,

We assemble this morning in this historic and beautiful chamber at the heart of our state government to thank thee for our very, very many blessings. We thank thee Heavenly Father for this great country, the United States of America. We're so grateful for our citizenship and honor the privilege of being citizens of this great land. We pray Heavenly Father that thou wilt bless those from our state who are involved in protecting our freedom at home and abroad and their families who may be apart from them; that they may especially be watched over and looked after in these difficult days. We thank thee Heavenly Father for the great state of Utah. We're grateful for its rich historic heritage. We're grateful for all those who have gone before us and even sat in these halls and helped to create good laws for the benefit of the people. This day especially we remember those who provide service in our state; those who serve as police officers and firemen and others who are first responders to needs. This day we are honoring Sheriff Doug Barney who has passed away in the line of duty and we pray that thou wilt bless his wife, Erica and their children Maddie, Mary and Jack that they will find comfort and peace on this day of mourning and the celebration of a great life. Now Heavenly Father we pray for the great legislators who are here on Capitol Hill, that they will be blessed to represent well their constituencies and we pray for those in this state who need thy blessing; the poor, the needy, the sick, the afflicted, the homeless, the elderly, the widows, the widowers and our wonderful children. And we pray that wisdom will prevail in this house and in the senate and that laws will be considered which will be for the benefit of our citizens of this state and to continue to make Utah the great and wonderful place that all of us cherish to raise our families. We ask this prayer now in gratitude and thanksgiving and ask thy blessings to be upon us. In the name of Jesus Christ, Amen

WELCOMING REMARKS BY PRESIDENT NIEDERHAUSER

The founders, leaders and people of the state of Utah that have gone before us are the reason we live in such a blessed state. I think about the situations that we could be in today. Think about the places in the world that you could live. Think about the turmoil that you could face today in your community or in your nation. We live in a country of peace. Yes, we just recognized the loss of one who was charged for our protection and our hearts go out to his family, but, for the most part our lives are peaceful. We have great neighbors. We have great comforts. We have the necessities of life. But most of the world doesn't even begin to have such opportunities. I think we need to express or at least have a feeling of gratitude for these opportunities, the place that we live and the people with whom we associate.

Utah is a great place to live. It's a great place to raise a family and to see our posterity continue on for generations. It's a place of prosperity and a place of beauty. We owe a lot to the people that have gone before us. It started with Mormon pioneers coming into this valley in 1847 and was followed by people of many faiths and of all generations. We've had some great leaders in this state that have put us on a proper and correct course. Their vision and commitment were uncommon. They were dedicated to hard work and innovation. They were dedicated to education at all levels. One of the first things the settlers did in Utah in 1850 was establish the University of Deseret, a school of higher learning. Learning was very important to them and it should be our first priority today. They sacrificed to establish great institutions of learning. They were dedicated to culture, the arts; those things that bring enjoyment, refinement and enlightenment to our life. They were committed to pay-forward. They sacrificed a little in their time so that generations beyond them would benefit. They planted and cultivated so that others could reap and benefit from their efforts. They built and maintained the infrastructure systems that are so vital to us today. Systems for education, agriculture, community, culture, recreation and religion; infrastructure for health, transportation, water and for a place where public policy could be addressed, this beautiful capitol. The great public policy of the past has made our state what it is today. Like those legislators of the past, we face similar challenges now. The word for our time is infrastructure; infrastructure at all levels.

We face a doubling of our population here in Utah in the next 30 to 40 years. There will be twice as many people on the Wasatch Front, in Washington County, Cache County, and other places; double the people currently living here. Can you imagine that? What will things be like at that time? Many of us will live to see that day. What are we going to do now so that our high quality of life and opportunities will be available to those generations? Sacrifice and pay-forward are the things we need to be considering. What can we do now incrementally to make those lives as rich and satisfying as our lives are today? We need to consider all kinds of transportation. We are doing pretty well in this area. We have invested a lot and paid forward for our transportation and transit systems, but the immediate emphasis, I believe, is education. Education infrastructure is paramount for our children, especially the jobs that will need to be available for them. Our education needs to be aligned with our workforce needs. We also need to consider water. We live in an arid state where water is almost as precious as gold. There have been some interesting disagreements over the years on a ditch bank somewhere, where maybe tempers have flared over water. It will be important for us to address these things as much as we can now, rather than moving that decision to future legislatures when it becomes more of a crisis.

We also need to be considerate of our resources; our land, air and water. We are stewards over those resources and clean air and clean water are going to be vital for the prosperity of Utahans in the future. It's not easy to address these as a political body. Our nature is to postpone until the moment of crisis. We can only look to Congress for an example of waiting for the crisis to hit before solving the problem. Sometimes legislatures are not much better.

We live in a different environment on a state level than on the national level so it is a little easier, but it is our nature to want to address these things tomorrow and not today. I hope that we'll have the vision and courage to address these issues now. Like saving for retirement, time can be our friend or our enemy. If you have a short time to save for retirement, that can be pretty painful. It can feel like a crisis. If you start when you're young and have 40 years to save for retirement, that incremental savings is a lot less painful and will prepare you for that day.

I'm proud to say that this legislature exhibited such vision and courage just last year. We increased the gas tax; something that had been put on the back-burner for 17 years. We mustered the political courage to raise that tax which will lessen the pressure on our education funds in the future. We made a hard decision to move and rebuild the prison; Senator Jerry Stevenson and those who participated in that process all the way along. They're familiar with torches and pitch forks. They have felt that sharp nudge that only a pitch fork can bring. I believe there probably will be some torches and pitch forks for us in this discussion of infrastructure going forward. We made a decision of a century in addressing our prison needs and now we need to make the decisions of a century to address education, water and other infrastructure.

Our forbearers built this Capitol at great sacrifice and established a Constitution. This was the place and the legislative session became the time to address public policy, infrastructure and to settle on issues for the future. It provided a place for people to express their voice directly or through their representatives. Any person of any mind can bring a question to the legislature, to their representative, for us to address. We have a process to deal with issues. We should never limit or dictate by constitution or law what we should or shouldn't consider. Often I hear from constituents, "Why are you addressing that issue? Why are you wasting our taxpayer dollars?" What they don't understand is our Constitution and forbearers provided this timeframe. (Thank heaven it's only 45 days. Let's never extend it. We get our work done and we can do it in that 45-day period. We've exhibited that time and time again.) It is fundamental to expression, liberty and the foundation of our state and country. If you don't like it, vote no or use the processes that we've established to dispose of that issue. Later this year, we will celebrate 100 years since the completion and dedication of this Capitol on October 9, 1916. I express appreciation to those who made this possible, who paid-forward and who had the vision to create such a grand state house, the Utah Capitol. I've had a chance to see a lot of Capitols across the country and there is none more grand. That grand hallway across the middle of the Capitol is inspiring. There is nothing like that in any Capitol in this country and we have our forbearers to thank.

I would also like to recognize the legislature from about a decade ago for the vision and courage they had to make a major investment in the renovation of the Capitol. That was forward thinking. That was pay-forward. This Capitol was under construction for about three sessions and we had our meetings in the House building. It was a little tight but we got through it. That was my first session in 2007. Those are the kinds of decisions that are difficult and sometimes painful. Sometimes there are pitch forks and torches, but that's our job. That's what we need to be addressing and we need to do it with a long-term view. Last year, the Senate sponsored an art contest to paint the Capitol. I believe the results were astounding. I am going to have Melissa hold up the painting. This was the winning art piece. It hangs in our Senate and will hopefully hang there for many years to come. Please, those who stay here for a long time, make sure that this is exhibited. This is a beautiful rendering of our Capitol. There were many renderings that were amazing and we appreciate all the artists that spent so much time depicting the Capitol through art. This year we have extended that contest, especially since we are celebrating the 100-year anniversary of the dedication of the Capitol. I've had a chance to see those pieces of art and we have again been richly blessed. On February 9, we'll have a similar recognition for those students. The piece selected as the winning artwork will be exhibited in the Senate for many years to come.

I've asked Senator Henderson to present some history and facts about the Capitol because of her interest and the research that she has done regarding this great building. I'm going to turn some time over to Senator Henderson for a presentation regarding our Capitol.

*Capitol History Presentation by Utah Senator Deidre Henderson

Thank you very much, Senator Henderson. That was wonderful. I think it is a great start to our celebration of this great capitol building and the processes and policies that have taken place here for almost a century. I think they actually did meet in 1915 so last session was 100 years since it was used for the first time, but the official dedication and completion date was in October 1916. It's great to remember Charles Marx, affectionately called Charlie. Who knows, maybe 100 years from now, our name will be read on the floor of the Senate because of some bill we passed that paid-forward for the people of that time and made their life more prosperous and comfortable. The great work we do here will long be felt but names probably won't be remembered. But that shouldn't stop us from putting forth our best effort and the best of our minds toward future policy.

So now, I would like to have the pages go ahead and hand out our Senate coin this year and a couple of documents. It will take just a minute.

Hopefully everyone now has our Senate coin for this year. Also, in a plastic sleeve, you should have the Virginia Declaration of Rights and, just printed this morning, "An Act for Establishing Religious Freedom." So I'm going to go back now almost 250 years to the beginnings of our country, the United States of America. Virginia was one of the places where a lot of the ideas were fostered and percolated that made their way into the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. We've had a nice copy printed for you which you can frame. I've had mine framed. I was inspired by Senator Madsen. This is the Virginia Declaration of Rights; a precursor to our Bill of Rights and many of the thoughts in the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. Shortly after its passage, the Declaration of Independence was drafted. I hope you will read on your own from section one through section sixteen. Because of time, I'm just going to read section sixteen.

“That religion, or the duty which we owe to our Creator, and the manner of discharging it, can be directed only by reason and conviction, not by force or violence; and therefore all men are equally entitled to the free exercise of religion, according to the dictates of conscience; and that it is the mutual duty of all to practice Christian forbearance, love and charity toward each other.”

Now on the other piece of paper that was handed out, you will find “An Act for Establishing Religious Freedom.” This was enacted by the general assembly of the Commonwealth of Virginia on January 16, 1786. I invite you also to read the contents of the preface of that act. I will go ahead and read the resolve which is in the last two paragraphs.

“Be it enacted by the General Assembly that no man shall be compelled to frequent or support any religious worship, place, or ministry whatsoever, nor shall be enforced, restrained, molested or burdened in his body or goods, nor shall otherwise suffer on account of his religious opinions or belief, but that all men shall be free to profess, and by argument and to maintain, their opinion in matters of Religion, and that the same shall in nowise diminish, enlarge or affect their civil capacities. And though we well know that this Assembly elected by the people for the ordinary purposes of Legislation only, have no power to restrain the acts of succeeding Assemblies constituted with powers equal to our own, and that therefore to declare this act irrevocable would be of no effect in law; yet we are free to declare, and do declare that the rights hereby asserted, are of the natural rights of mankind, and that if any act shall be hereafter passed to repeal the present or to narrow its operation, such act will be an infringement of natural right.”

And so, at the beginning of this session, I lay these documents before you as a reminder of the fundamentals, of those fundamental principles that we need to be considering as we debate and discuss laws and policies for our state. On September 23, 1800, in a letter to Doctor Benjamin Rush, Thomas Jefferson related some of the history and some of the political turmoil that this country faced at the time. There was an effort to nationalize a religion. A couple of religions were mentioned; the Episcopalians and the Congregationalists. Alluding to this effort to establish a national religion, he said, “The returning good sense of our country threatens abortion to their hopes and they believe that any portion of power confided to me will be exerted in opposition to their schemes and they believe rightly; for I have sworn upon the altar of God, eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man.” Jefferson was talking about the political environment that was taking place. I hope that statement will be enshrined for a long time in the dome of the Jefferson Memorial in Washington D.C. Hopefully, it will be enshrined for a long time on this coin. Thank you for your indulgence today. The session now begins and I look forward to working with you to establish a great future for those who come after us.

Thank you.

On motion of Senator Van Tassell, the 2016 Senate Rules, Joint Rules and Interim Rules adopted by the 2016 First Extraordinary Session of the Sixty-First Legislature were adopted with the understanding that changes to these rules for the Sixty-First Legislature will be considered and adopted as soon as possible.

On motion of Senator Van Tassell, as allowed by the Utah Constitution and Joint Rules of the Legislature, the Senate voted to continue its practice of reading only the short title of bills and resolutions as they are introduced or considered on the Senate calendar and not read the long title of the bills and resolutions unless a majority of the Senate directs the reading of the long title, short title, or both of any House or Senate bill or resolution. The motion passed.

On motion of Senator Okerlund, and at 12:09 p.m., the Senate recessed.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The Senate was called to order by President Wayne Niederhauser at 2:55 p.m.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

On motion of Senator Okerlund, the Legislature resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of hearing from Chief Justice Matthew B. Durrant, Utah Supreme Court.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

REMARKS BY CHIEF JUSTICE MATTHEW B. DURRANT

Thank you President Niederhauser for the privilege of addressing this distinguished body. I am pleased to be joined by Associate Chief Justice Lee, Justice Durham and our new justices, Himonas and Pierce. They are superb additions to our court. It is one of the great privileges and pleasures of my life to work with four colleagues who are not just exemplary jurists, but also extraordinary people.

My wonderful mother was a tough and remarkable woman. She raised eight children on my father's seminary teacher salary and was fearlessly loyal to each of them, even to me, who as a lawyer-to-be was annoying even by teenage boy standards. She insisted on coming to my BYU junior varsity basketball games, despite the fact that my participation usually consisted of hoping against hope that, in a fit of irrationality, the coach might put me in. So I seldom had the opportunity to endanger the other team with my rough play. Our games were in the 20,000 seat Marriott Center, and I am guessing that, including my mom, there were usually 16 or 17 people in attendance, scattered around that vast arena.

It was a very different story when, several years later, she attended my brother Devin's games. Not only did he actually play, he was a star. She and my father sat close to the floor, just in front of the seats set aside for LDS General Authorities, who dutifully watched the games in suits, white shirts, and ties. She never missed an opportunity to point out a referee's missed call. And in my mother's eyes, the referees missed many, many calls—all fouls that she felt had been inflicted upon her dear son. She was close enough to actually be heard by the refs, and with her big voice, believe me, she was heard. Whether that did more harm than good for Devin, I'm not sure. But he is BYU's all-time leader in free throws attempted.

My father, a gentle and modest man, was often uncomfortable with the volume and harshness of my mother's criticisms of the referees, especially within ear shot of the general authorities. But he sat there helplessly, knowing there was little he could do about it. He did feel much better one game, however, when a general authority leaned over and said, "Marilyn, thank you for yelling all of the things that I want to, but can't."

Well, I'm grateful that I feel no such constraint in addressing you today. There are a number of things I very much want to share with you (I hope with a little more objectivity than my mother showed), and I appreciate this opportunity to do so. And as much as I love basketball, these things are much more important.

In the past, I have principally used these remarks to speak on the state of our judiciary. Let me assure you, our state's judiciary is sound, and I will address that briefly later in my remarks, but I'd like to begin by discussing certain values and the efforts we have made this year as a judiciary to promote them. Each year seems marked by a sense of turmoil and unrest in the world. This year, that sense seems particularly acute. Media reports provide a forceful and daily reminder of the challenges we face as a nation. As I've read these reports, I am reminded that we must stay grounded in the values that provide continuity and make us strong. In particular, the values of fairness, access to justice, individual rights, and public safety are essential to the strength and continuity of our state. They are values shared by all Utahans.

This year, the judiciary focused on four initiatives to balance and strengthen these values. Let me start with an issue you know well, the Justice Reinvestment Initiative, or JRI. This act seeks to enhance fairness in sentencing and to provide defendants with increased opportunities to receive treatment, thereby reducing the stress on our prisons while advancing access to justice and public safety. It would not be an overstatement to describe House Bill 348, which implemented JRI, as the most significant change in Utah criminal justice policy in decades. Not only does it effect significant substantive change in our criminal law, it requires a significant cultural change, as well. It may be the latter that ends up being the most difficult challenge.

The most significant substantive changes went into effect in October. Have those first several months been without problems? No, of course not. With changes of this magnitude we expected transitional issues, and in this, we were not disappointed. Anyone who expected a flawless transition did not fully appreciate how drastically JRI changed Utah's criminal justice system. Since the Act's impact on Utah criminal justice policy requires a certain amount of phasing-in, some processes and tools await further implementation.

As noted, perhaps the most difficult change required by JRI is a cultural one. The judiciary, like other actors in the criminal justice system, must meet that challenge. Judges are now expected to use a more objective approach to sanctioning offenders than they are used to, and they now rely on tools and reports they have never seen before. To that end, we have provided extensive training to our judges in evidence-based sentencing and practices, as well as in the legal requirements of the new law. The courts are committed to realizing the full potential of JRI.

While these transitional issues will soon fade, of greater concern is an issue that is not transitional—inadequate treatment resources. The provision of treatment for defendants with substance use and mental health needs was at the heart of JRI; yet, so far, the necessary resources have not been provided. The Act was predicated on the demonstrated fact that it is more effective to treat substance abuse and mental health needs—which prevents recidivism—than to imprison. To this end, JRI reduced the supervision and incarceration aspects of the equation, but we have not added the treatment programs and funding necessary to replace the reductions in supervision and incarceration. Without adequate treatment resources to balance the equation, the promise of this model will not be realized.

On this point I need to be clear—if treatment is unavailable, not only will the system fail to improve, it will likely worsen. Putting offenders who would previously have gone to jail or prison back into the community, without treatment, will almost certainly increase crime. Passage of the Justice Reinvestment Act was clearly the right decision, but it was conceived of as a complete package and somehow the treatment side of the equation must be addressed.

Now let me turn to the values I mentioned earlier—fairness, access to justice, individual rights, and public safety. Judges are in a unique position. Though we have a very limited policy role, we encounter the concrete consequences of numerous policy issues that relate to these values. I believe that with this perspective comes a responsibility to raise issues for discussion that may not otherwise be addressed. In this way, we in the judiciary serve as conveners. We bring various stakeholders together to examine these issues and to explore potential solutions to identified problems. We then usually present whatever consensus proposal there may be to you, the legislature, for your consideration of possible action. We believe this shared process has served Utahans well.

As conveners, over the last several months, we have concluded three collaborative studies that address issues important to the people of Utah. They concern indigent representation in criminal cases, pretrial release practices, and access to civil justice.

First, indigent representation. The Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides that “in all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury..., to be informed of the nature of the charges against him, to be confronted with the witnesses against him..., and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.” Over the years, caselaw has defined this right to assistance of counsel to require states to provide a lawyer to those who cannot afford one in any case where there is a potential sentence of incarceration. In Utah, provision of this right has been delegated by the state to local government.

This year, a judicial council committee concluded an extensive multi-year study of how Utah is carrying out this constitutional responsibility. The committee was broadly representative, including legislators, judges, prosecutors, defense lawyers, and others involved in the criminal justice system. The committee’s report—some 192 pages—was presented to the Utah Judicial Council in October and identified three problems and three solutions.

As an initial matter, the committee found that there is a lack of oversight of how counties and municipalities comply with the constitutional mandate to provide lawyers to indigent defendants. As a result, little information is available on how this responsibility is being administered. In addition there is a dearth of operational or performance standards for these local indigent defense systems. As a solution, the committee recommends that a statewide, representative commission be created, which would set data collection standards, compile that data, and monitor the appointment and performance of defense counsel. This requires your assistance. Senator Weiler, who along with Representative McCay served on this committee, will introduce legislation this session to create the statewide indigent defense commission recommended by the committee.

Second, the way in which many counties and municipalities contract with defense lawyers often creates disincentives for those lawyers, disincentives that work against the effective delivery of legal services. The solution is to reform the contracting process by standardizing the structure of contracts between local governments and defense counsel. And many cities and counties have already addressed the contracting issue by revamping their contracts, and have developed and disseminated model uniform contracts.

Finally, the committee identified a lack of consistency in information and procedures, primarily in courts with misdemeanor caseloads, which has resulted in a failure to obtain adequate waivers of counsel, or a failure to appoint counsel, when required. This problem needs to be addressed through training and through implementation of mandatory uniform procedures and forms. And, in fact, the Administrative Office of the Courts has already provided this training and will continue to do so, and the Judicial Council is in the final process of adopting and requiring the recommended forms and procedures.

While everyone involved in addressing this issue agreed that there are shortcomings in Utah's indigent defense system, they also agreed that the needed solutions are apparent, and well within reach. We should collectively act to implement these solutions, and in so doing promote fairness, access to justice, individual rights, and public safety.

The second discussion that we convened addressed pretrial release practices, or what is commonly referred to as the bail process. The perception of most people about the bail process is likely based upon television shows like Law and Order or The Good Wife, where a judge is often shown setting bail in the hundreds of thousands of dollars in hopes of keeping the accused behind bars pending trial. But in reality, the bail process is far more complicated and important than these TV shows portray. It has profound implications for the accused, for public safety, and for taxpayers.

There is much research about what an effective and efficient pretrial process should look like. Five characteristics are essential. First, a smart pretrial process uses a short validated assessment to predict which detainees are likely to flee if released, and which are likely to commit new offenses if released. Outside of Salt Lake County, Utah does not use this best practice.

Second, an efficient pretrial release process quickly releases defendants who are not likely to flee or commit a new offense. Generally, Utah does not do this, either.

Third, a safe pretrial release process identifies those defendants who are truly a danger to the public and does not release them into the community before trial, offering no release on bail. In Utah, we do not have adequate tools to determine which defendants truly are a threat.

Fourth, an economical pretrial release process saves tax dollars by not using valuable jail space, as we do now, to hold thousands of defendants pending their court date who pose no risk to flee or re-offend.

And finally, a fair pretrial release process does not make defendants' wealth the deciding factor for whether they are released pending trial. In Utah, if defendants can raise enough money to meet the financial bail requirement, or 10% of that amount so that they can engage a bail bond surety, they will be released. If they don't have those funds, in jail they will stay pending trial, which means separation from their family and often a loss of their employment, with the accompanying loss of income. And as we learned from JRI, confinement in jail will forcibly expose them to a criminal culture, and research tells us they will then be more likely to commit crimes in the future. And remember that for all of these people this all occurs before they have been tried, so they are presumed innocent.

The study committee, composed of prosecutors, defense lawyers, judges, regulators, representatives of local government and the bail bond industry, as well as Representative Hutchings and Senator Hillyard, prepared 12 sound recommendations ranging from creating a statutory presumption in favor of pretrial release without financial conditions to instituting a validated pretrial risk assessment process for use in every jurisdiction.

The research in this area, and the experience of other states, has led to a national consensus about evidenced-based pre-trial release practices. Even the general public intuitively feels that these practices make sense. Independent polling shows that the vast majority of respondents support the approach recommended by the study committee. Senator Hillyard is sponsoring legislation that will move our state in this direction and better ensure fairness, protect individual rights, and promote public safety. I encourage your thoughtful consideration of the committee's recommendations.

The proposals I have outlined to this point relating to JRI, access to criminal defense counsel, and fair pretrial release practices are all consistent with the sound consensus of criminal justice professionals across the country. In fact, unlike in so many other important government functions, in these three areas Utah is not ahead of the pack, but rather in the middle of it. Many states have already adopted the best practices, the effective approaches, and the cost-saving ideas I have described, and we need to catch up.

But the last study I want to share with you puts Utah on the cutting edge of innovation and public service when it comes to access to justice. It is a study conducted by a task force appointed by our supreme court. This task force, which again had broad representation, including Senator Urquhart and Representative

Brian King, was asked to study the current rules governing the practice of law and to consider whether to permit qualified non-lawyers to provide certain law-related services currently provided only by lawyers.

The legislature, the court system, and the legal profession have, each in its own way, expressed concern about the growing chasm between the need for legal services and the ability of the average person to afford them. This is not an issue that has been ignored. The courts, with your assistance, are providing direct legal assistance to tens of thousands of self-represented parties every year through our self-help center. These are people who have chosen to participate in a legal proceeding without an attorney, sometimes because they can't afford one, but more and more because they just don't think they should have to hire a lawyer.

The Utah State Bar, through its pro bono and modest means programs, has worked hard to place attorneys with clients unable to afford one. As impressive as these efforts have been, they only scratch the surface of meeting the real need. In naming this task force, the supreme court wanted to consider a broader, market-based change to make legal services more accessible.

After studying the few states with similar efforts underway and examining where the need is most pronounced within our own state and court system, the task force recommended an innovative approach that has far reaching implications for improving access to justice in Utah. Last month the supreme court approved task force recommendations that would allow qualified non-lawyers to practice law, on a carefully defined basis, in three areas where legal needs are not being met: debt collection, landlord-tenant, and family law. These specially trained non-lawyers will be called licensed paralegal practitioners. For an analogy to the role they will play, you might think of the role of a physician's assistant in the medical setting.

There is still much to be done, such as finalizing minimum education, certification, and licensing requirements, but we believe this new client and market-driven approach holds great promise—not as a substitute for attorneys, but as a complimentary legal resource for providing meaningful assistance in specific areas where existing legal resources are inadequate but the need is great. The National Center for State Courts is interested in this project and has agreed to conduct an independent evaluation of our experience. I look forward to reporting to you on this initiative in a future address.

As I said at the outset, the state of our courts is sound. Our judges and staff work in an all- electronic environment. It's simply the way work is done now, and we remain one of the few state court systems able to say that. The metrics we use to track performance all show that we continue to increase our efficiency. In the last five years, the average age of cases pending in our district courts has dropped from 337 to 183 days. And we've been able to accomplish this with 81 fewer employees.

As for the court's budget, I'd like to mention just one issue. We have a continuing but acute need for two new judges: a juvenile court judge in the 4th District (Utah, Millard, Juab, and Wasatch counties) and a district court judge in the 5th District (Washington, Iron, and Beaver counties). The existing judges in these courts have for several years been carrying much higher workloads than is appropriate, and the public in these areas deserves your attention to this pressing need. And, while discussing appropriations, let me use this opportunity to sincerely thank you for the step taken last year to address the judicial compensation recommendation of your Elected Officials and Judicial Compensation Commission.

Finally, you may recall my boasting about our courts in my address two years ago, something about the public confidence in our courts being higher than John Stockton's basketball free throw percentage. And I may have modestly mentioned that my brother's percentage was itself higher than Stockton's. We have just recently completed our biannual survey of court users, and I'm pleased to be able to report that they continue to provide high marks. For example, 95% reported they were treated with courtesy and respect, and a like percentage reported being satisfied with their court experience. To give you some frame of reference, a recent national poll found that only 66% of respondents agreed with the statement: "Courts treat people with dignity and respect." I am gratified that we are doing significantly better than that.

As I have said before, I am extremely proud of our judges and staff, and for good reason. Because of the merit-based selection process that you, the legislature, have had in place for many years, we have one of the strongest benches in the country. It is an honor to be part of our state's extraordinary judiciary and to be able to work with such fine people, who, like you, value fairness, access to justice, individual rights, and public safety.

Thank you for the committed service you provide to the people of Utah, and I wish you well with your important deliberations over the next 45 days.

JOINT CONVENTION

President Wayne Niederhauser called the Joint Convention to order at 6:15 p.m. in the Chamber of the Utah House of Representatives and recognized Gregory H. Hughes, Speaker of the House.

President Niederhauser announced that a quorum of the House of Representatives and the Senate was present.

President Niederhauser appointed a Joint Committee comprised of Senators Ralph Okerlund, Stuart Adams, and Karen Mayne, and Representatives James Dunnigan, Francis Gibson, and Brian King to notify Governor Gary R. Herbert that the 2016 General Session of the Sixty-first Legislature is in Joint Convention and ready to hear his State-of-the-State address.

President Niederhauser acknowledged special guests and elected and appointed officials in attendance at the Joint Convention.

Senator Ralph Okerlund made a motion that the Legislature resolve into a Joint Convention and Committee of the Whole for the purpose of hearing Governor Herbert's State-of-the-State address.

The Joint Committee escorted Governor Herbert to the House rostrum.

STATE-OF-THE-STATE ADDRESS
BY GOVERNOR GARY R. HERBERT

President Niederhauser, Speaker Hughes, Members of the Legislature, Justices of the Utah Supreme Court, Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Cox and Utah's First Lady, my wife, Jeanette. My fellow Utahns.

The Utah we know and love today stands on higher ground because of the many sacrifices of hardworking Utahns who have gone before us.

Let me begin this evening by acknowledging two of these giants who left us this past year--former Governors, Norm Bangerter and Olene Walker. Among Governor Bangerter's many achievements, he deserves great credit for increasing education funding and improving government efficiency during a time of economic uncertainty.

Governor Bangerter was a down-to-earth leader who liked to say that he was "just an old farmer and carpenter" from Granger who happened to be governor. We all saw so much more in Norm Bangerter. He was a true leader who had the courage to stand up for what he believed. He knew how to partner with the Legislature to solve the critical issues of the day. In short, Norm offered Utah what we need in this state, and that is the steady hand of leadership.

Governor Walker was also a leader, and a trailblazer, the first woman to hold Utah's highest office. Just as important, she was a tireless advocate for education who established early reading initiatives in our Utah schools.

As a state legislator, she had the foresight to create Utah's Rainy Day Fund to help us prepare our state for the unforeseen events of the future. That Rainy Day fund now has $528 million in it, the largest amount in our state's history, and for establishing and prudently increasing the Rainy Day Fund, both Governor Walker and everyone here in this body deserves a round of applause.

This week we witnessed a remarkable outpouring of love and support for hometown hero Officer Doug Barney, who gave the ultimate sacrifice while in the line of duty. He was a husband, a father of three beautiful children, a dependable friend and brother, and an honorable public servant.

In honor of him and others who have gone before, let us today commit ourselves as a state to show greater respect and appreciation for the men and women who willingly put themselves in harm's way to serve, protect, and defend Utahns every single day.

The question before us tonight is simple: what is the state of our state? And just as important, what are we going to do to make it even better?

Six years ago, our state found itself in the most severe recession since the Great Depression. The unemployment rate at the time was 8 percent. Each of us had family members and friends who struggled just to get by. Our economy had been weakened, but we did not give up hope. Together, we set a goal to not only recover from the Great Recession but to become the top-performing economy in America.

Six years later, our state economy has added 219,000 new jobs, with an unemployment rate dropping from 8 percent down to 3 1/2 percent today. In fact, in 9 of the last 12 months, Utah had the highest job growth creation of any state in the nation.

Our economy is now the third most diverse. Income inequality is low. Our wage growth is up. And just this fall, the state of Utah was recognized as the most fundamentally sound economy in America. Since I stood here one year ago, businesses across our state have now added approximately 40,000 new jobs.

Think about that for just a minute. Some of you within the sound of my voice know the pain that comes from losing a job. 40,000 new jobs means new opportunities for 40,000 Utahns. This isn't just a statistic. We're talking about real people here, our neighbors, our friends, our family members.

So what is the state of our state? The state of our state is strong, and I think most of us would say the state of our state is outstanding. That being said, I believe that we can do even better.

A high quality of life should mean parents don't have to watch their children leave and go to another town or another state because there are no jobs available where they live.

Jeanette and I enjoy the singular blessing of having our 6 children and now 16 grandchildren all living here in Utah within just 30 minutes of our home. Your children may not choose to stay here, but we need an economy strong enough that they always have the choice.

Unfortunately, this is not the case in some of the rural areas of our state. As we begin this session, I ask you in the Legislature to focus on these communities with renewed determination and resolve.

Thanks to the leadership of Senator Ralph Okerlund, we now have new tools available to help in this battle. Soon there will be a new industrial development in Iron County, roads and power to a potash mine in Beaver County, and other critical infrastructure projects that will enable businesses to expand in rural Utah like never before.

While developing this kind of basic infrastructure is the proper role of government, make no mistake, ultimately it is our small businesses and large businesses and the tens of thousands of hardworking, productive Utah workers who create Utah's economic success, and not the government.

If we expect to make even more progress in rural Utah, it will take more entrepreneurs like Roland Christensen, born and raised in Fayette, Utah, population 245. In his lifetime, Roland has developed 38 different patents and started four successful businesses. He has employed hundreds of people. And the place he chose to build those businesses is in his hometown in Sanpete County. For those of you born and raised in rural Utah, your hometown needs you.

To Utahns everywhere, whether you live in Blanding or Bear River, Parowan or Plain City, I pledge to you tonight that we will not rest until all 29 counties and all 245 cities and towns in our state are full participants in Utah's tremendous economic success.

Even in those areas of our state with abundant prosperity, we can still do better.

Recently, I had the opportunity to visit with Mellowdey Trueblood, a young single mother from Ogden. As a child and now an adult, she has experienced constant economic struggles, homelessness, joblessness, and the feeling that life just isn't what it could or should be. During my visit with her, she said something that has left an indelible impression upon me: She said, "Governor, A lot of brilliant minds are lost to poverty."

In typical Utah fashion, Mellowdey decided she was going to do something about her situation. She enrolled in a paralegal program provided by Weber State University. She began attending financial planning and budget classes. And because she lives in Utah, not only will she have a good education, but there will be job opportunities for her once she graduates.

As Mellowdey has demonstrated and as I believe, it is education, not entitlement, that creates the opportunity for self reliance. If you remember nothing else from my message this evening, remember this. Education is the most important investment we can make in Utah's future.

One of the defining moments in my time as governor came last year when we made one of the largest increases in education funding ever in Utah's history, $512 million in all. As I go around the state, I am often thanked by teachers, principals, parents and others for this extraordinary investment in Utah's future.

Members of the Legislature, I recognize that you often don't get all the credit you deserve on this issue. I believe that needs to change. So tonight I want to be absolutely clear. On behalf of all three million Utahns from across this state I am here to deliver a message that is long overdue. Thank you, members of the Legislature, for investing in our future.

With finite resources and hundreds of competing demands in last year's session, you made the tough decisions that put Utah's children first. Together we have invested over $1.3 billion of new money in education over the past four years, which is more money, by the way, committed to education than any other time in Utah's history.

Our sustained long-term investment in education is already producing positive results. For example when I first came into office, one in every four Utah high school students did not graduate. That was unacceptable to you and to me. Step by step, that number has improved.

I am pleased to report that Utah's graduation rate has grown by nearly 10 percent and now is at 84 percent. That means 3,400 additional students now graduate each and every year from Utah schools with increased opportunities like never before. Now 84 percent is good compared to other states, but I know that we can and that we must, in fact, do better.

Tonight, I am challenging teachers, parents, principals, school board members, and most importantly, our students to raise our graduation rate in this state to 90 percent in the next four years. I pledge to you tonight that we will bring to bear the necessary resources, determination and innovation to achieve this goal.

Members of the Legislature, now is not the time to take our foot off the gas pedal! Let us recommit tonight that we will work together to invest in our children and in our future.

As one of the fastest growing states in America, just a few months ago, our state welcomed its three millionth resident. With our growing population, we must do all that we can to preserve our enviable quality of life despite some of the challenges that we uniquely face.

One example is the meaningful progress we have made to improve air quality. Together, we have reduced total emissions by approximately 35 percent over the past 10 years. But the data means very little when the inversion sets in and those emissions hang in the valleys. There is important work yet to be done.

One thing is for certain—environmental challenges won't be solved with hyperbole or misinformation. We must invest our limited resources in programs and technology that will actually work, not just rhetoric that ignores common sense.

That's why I am continuing to push for our refineries to produce much cleaner Tier 3 fuel as soon as possible. This is one of the most effective steps we can take to improve air quality. I am proud to announce that one of our refineries, Tesoro, has already agreed to make this transition. I have personally met with every refinery in the state, and we expect others will work with us to fully bring Tier 3 fuels to Utah.

We are currently enjoying a wet winter, but we know from history it may not always be that way. That's why my budget also calls for funds to help find long-term solutions to our water supply to accommodate future needs.

We must make an individual and collective commitment to be good stewards of our land, our air and our water. There's no state in America with as much natural beauty as our state and our combined efforts will ensure that Utah's natural wonders can be enjoyed for generations to come.

Healthcare is another important issue. Some continue to struggle with inadequate healthcare coverage because of the fundamentally flawed Affordable Care Act, coupled with the U.S. Supreme Court decision.

Here in the state of Utah, we have worked together to try and find a solution. Unfortunately, we have not yet succeeded in that effort. Too often many of the problems created by the federal government are simply dumped at the feet of the states.

We can speak out in defiance. We can choose to ignore them. Or we can roll up our sleeves and work together to actually do something.

My friends in the Legislature, it is time to find a solution. This problem is not going to go away. This is too important an issue to ignore.

Too many Utahns work hard and still have no healthcare coverage.

I promise that I will work with you to continue providing constructive, practical solutions to every problem and every challenge that we face regardless of who created them, and I know that you want to do the same thing. No matter what issues we face, the states can and do find the best solutions, not the federal government. On this issue of healthcare, let this be the session when Utah leads the way in finding the right state solution.

We have seen that kind of innovation and success in other areas of state government. For example, if we simply added new employees over the last five years at the same rate as our growing population, we would have more than 2,200 additional full-time state employees today. Instead, we have reduced the number of state employees by 11 percent, saving Utah taxpayers over $177 million in 2015 alone.

What does that improved efficiency mean in practical terms for everyday Utah citizens? It means our tax burden is one of the lowest in the nation. Improved efficiency also means that you can now carry around your fishing or hunting license on your smartphone. It means that we can process fingerprints faster than ever before, to get criminals off the streets and behind bars. And we have accomplished what many may think is impossible - we have actually reduced the average wait time down to 4 minutes at the DMV.

Four years ago, my administration conducted an exhaustive regulation review process that has modified and eliminated 368 regulations. In addition, I have just completed a review of every executive order issued by a Utah governor since statehood. Tonight, I am pleased to announce that I will repeal 52 of these executive orders that are no longer necessary.

In Washington, D.C., we have a president who thinks it's okay to bypass Congress and create laws by executive order. Well, that's not the way we do it in Utah.

As governor, I will not issue executive orders to bypass you, the Legislature, or the will of the people. Here in Utah, we still believe in the rule of law and the three branches of government.

To my friends in the Legislature, I need your help. If we truly believe in limited government, now is the time to show it.

I see that a large number of bill files have already been opened this session. Most of those bills add a few lines to state code to fix various issues, but tonight I am calling on you to do something entirely different.

I have instructed my Cabinet to work with you to find areas of relevant state code that can not only be updated and improved but, where possible, deleted altogether. Let this be a session where we cut unnecessary red tape in government. Let's shrink the size of the state code.

Please know that you will have a willing partner in my administration to accomplish this laudable and overdue goal. We cannot simply wait for the next Zenefits or Tesla to come along for us to conclude that many laws are now onerous and unnecessary. We must streamline government today to allow the 21st century economy to continue growing uninhibited by outdated laws, rules and regulations.

While our economy may be tremendously strong today, there are, in fact, challenges on the horizon. The federal government still controls and mismanages too much of our backyard, and we live with the daily threat of a presidential monument declaration. I am encouraged by the work of Representative Keven Stratton and others on this issue.

I am also an enthusiastic supporter of the Public Lands Initiative of Congressman Rob Bishop, Congressman Jason Chaffetz and Senator Mike Lee. I believe these are critical steps to help resolve this long-standing conflict and improve our self reliance. Of course self reliance is not just an issue for our public lands. It should permeate everything we do in state government, especially in our annual budget process.

While a $528 million Rainy Day fund is extraordinary, there are others things we must do in order to preserve our state's unprecedented fiscal stability. First and foremost, my proposed budget calls for no new debt and no tax increases. In addition, it pays off $350 million in existing debt, bringing the total debt paid off by the state over the last five years to over $1.4 billion.

We all know that being prepared for the future means being fiscally prudent. That's why when measured on a per-capita basis, it is good news to know that Utah spends the fewest federal dollars of all the 50 states.

These are just some of the reasons why, just this past month, we have once again been rated as one of only nine states in this country with a AAA bond rating. Think about that for a moment. Forty-one other states have a tarnished bond rating. The United States of America recently had its own rating downgraded. But not here in Utah.

And don't think for a minute that this recognition does not matter. It saves the taxpayer money. AAA is the best you can get, and here in Utah we won't settle for anything less.

For all the challenges Utah faces, it is important to remember that there are 49 other states out there that would love to trade places with us. Political gridlock is everywhere in this country, but here in Utah we know how to come together, in spite of our differences, and get things done. I believe there has never been a better time to live, to work, and to raise a family in this state.

To answer the question I posed earlier, the state of our state is strong. It's outstanding. But it's much more than that.

The events of last week's tragedy with Officer Barney impacted all of us profoundly. But equally impactful was the tremendous outpouring of public spirit that we all witnessed. We will never forget the 50-mile long motorcade, the streets lined with children holding flags, and neighbors and friends on overpasses saluting one of our own. I have never been more proud to call Utah home.

Yes, the state of our state has never been stronger.

But as I watched Utahns mourn together, I realized something more important. I realized the state of our state is strong because the state of our people has never been stronger.

As Utahns, you are united, you are compassionate, you are inspiring, you are extraordinary. I am proud to be a part of this great state. I am proud to be a Utahn. It is indeed an honor for all of us to serve.

May God bless our great country in this difficult time.

And may God continue to bless the Great State of Utah and her people.

- 2. Page 10, Line 281 through Page 13, Line 369:

281           {~~Section 9. Section 32B-4-410 is amended to read:~~

282           32B-4-410. Unlawful admittance or attempt to gain admittance by minor.

283           (1) It is unlawful for a minor to gain admittance or attempt to gain admittance to the

284 premises of:

285           (a) a tavern; or

286           (b) a social club licensee, except to the extent authorized by Section 32B-6-406.1.

287           (2) A minor who violates this section is guilty of [~~a class C misdemeanor~~] an 288 infraction.

289           (3) (a) If a minor is found by a court to have violated this section and the violation is

290 the minor's first violation of this section, the court may:

291           (i) order the minor to complete a screening as defined in Section 41-6a-501;

292           (ii) order the minor to complete an assessment as defined in Section 41-6a-501 if the

293 screening indicates an assessment to be appropriate; and 294 (iii) order the minor to complete an educational series as 295 defined in Section 41-6a-501
296 or substance abuse treatment as indicated by an assessment.
297 (b) If a minor is found by a court to have violated this section and 298 the violation is the
299 minor's second or subsequent violation of this section, the court 300 shall:
301 (i) order the minor to complete a screening as defined in Section
302 41-6a-501;
303 (ii) order the minor to complete an assessment as defined in 304 Section 41-6a-501 if the
305 screening indicates an assessment to be appropriate; and
306 (iii) order the minor to complete an educational series as 307 defined in Section 41-6a-501
308 or substance abuse treatment as indicated by an assessment.
309 (4) (a) When a minor who is at least 18 years old, but younger 310 than 21 years old, is 311 found by a court to have violated this section, except as provided in 312 Section 32B-4-411, the
313 court hearing the case shall suspend the minor's driving privileges
314 under Section 53-3-219.
315 (b) Notwithstanding the provision in Subsection (4)(a), the 316 court may reduce the 317 suspension period required under Section 53-3-219 if:
318 (i) the violation is the minor's first violation of this section; and 319 (ii) (A) the minor completes an educational series as defined in 320 Section 41-6a-501; or
321 (B) the minor demonstrates substantial progress in substance
322 abuse treatment.
323 (c) Notwithstanding the requirement in Subsection (4)(a) and in 324 accordance with the 325 requirements of Section 53-3-219, the court may reduce the 326 suspension period required under

313 Section 53-3-219 if:

314 (i) the violation is the minor's second or subsequent violation of 315 this section;

316 (ii) the minor has completed an educational series as defined in 317 Section 41-6a-501 or

318 demonstrated substantial progress in substance abuse treatment;
319 and

320 (iii) (A) the person is 18 years of age or older and provides a 321 sworn statement to the

322 court that the person has not unlawfully consumed alcohol or drugs
323 for at least a one-year

324 consecutive period during the suspension period imposed under 325 Subsection (4)(a); or

326 (B) the person is under 18 years of age and has the person's 327 parent or legal guardian

328 provide an affidavit or sworn statement to the court certifying that 329 to the parent or legal

330 guardian's knowledge the person has not unlawfully consumed
331 alcohol or drugs for at least a

332 one-year consecutive period during the suspension period imposed
333 under Subsection (4)(a).

334 (5) When a minor who is at least 13 years old, but younger than 335 18 years old, is found

336 by a court to have violated this section, Section 78A-6-606 applies 337 to the violation.

338 (6) When a court issues an order suspending a person's driving
339 privileges for a

340 violation of this section, the Driver License Division shall suspend 341 the person's license under

342 Section 53-3-219.

343 (7) When the Department of Public Safety receives the arrest or 344 conviction record of a

345 person for a driving offense committed while the person's license is 346 suspended pursuant to this

331 ~~section, the Department of Public Safety shall extend the~~ 332 ~~suspension for an additional like~~

332 ~~period of time.~~

333 Section 10. Section 32B-4-419 is amended to read:

334 32B-4-419. Unlawful permitting of intoxication.

335 (1) A person may not permit another person to become 336 intoxicated or an intoxicated

336 person to consume an alcoholic product in:

337 (a) premises of which the person is the owner, tenant, or 338 occupant; or

2nd Sub. S.B. 182 was transmitted to the House for consideration.

On motion of Senator Harper, the Senate voted to include the following intent language in the Senate Journal.

INTENT LANGUAGE

Legislative findings The Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution as currently interpreted by the United States Supreme Court prohibits states from imposing sales or use tax collection obligations on out-of-state businesses unless the business has a substantial nexus with the taxing state. The legislature recognizes that the United States Supreme Court's decision in Quill Corp. v. North Dakota, 504 U.S. 298 (1991) held that a person or entity must have a physical presence in the taxing state in order to find that a substantial nexus for sales and use tax collection purposes exists. The legislature finds that the reasoning of Quill Corp. V. North Dakota no longer applies for the reasons discussed below.

The legislature further recognizes that the Commerce Clause prohibits states from imposing a burden on interstate commerce only when it constitutes an undue burden. See, e.g. International Harvester Co. v. Department of Treasury, 322 U.S. 340 (1944).

The legislature finds that, due to the ready availability of sales and use tax collection software, it is not longer an undue burden for companies without a physical presence in Utah to accurately compute, collect and remit their sales and use tax obligations.

The legislature further finds that given the exponential expansion of online commerce and related technology, it is no longer an undue burden for the states to require remote sellers to collect sales/use tax.

The legislature further finds the sales and use tax system established under Utah law does not pose an undue burden on out-of-state retailers and provides sufficient simplification to warrant the collection and remittance of use taxes by out-of-state retailers that are due and owing to Utah and its local jurisdictions.

Nothing in this Act may be construed as relieving in-state businesses and other businesses having substantial nexus with Utah from their Utah sales and use tax collection obligations.

49-11-301, as last amended by Laws of Utah 2004, Chapter 322

3. Page 2, Lines 31 through 32:

31 Be it enacted by the Legislature of the state of Utah:

Section 1. Section 49-11-301 is amended to read:

49-11-301. Creation — Board to act as trustees of the fund —
Commingling and pooling of funds — Interest earnings — Funded ratio.

(1) There is created a common trust fund known as the “Utah State Retirement Investment Fund” for the purpose of enlarging the investment base and simplifying investment procedures and functions.

(2) (a) The board shall act as trustees of the Utah State Retirement Investment Fund and, through the executive director, may commingle and pool the funds and investments of any system, plan, or program into the Utah State Retirement Investment Fund, if the principal amounts of the participating funds do not lose their individual identity and are maintained as separate trust funds on the books of the office.

(b) (i) In combining the investments of any fund, each of the participating funds shall be credited initially with its share of the total assets transferred to the Utah State Retirement Investment Fund.

(ii) The value of the transferred assets shall be calculated in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

(c) Subsequent transfers of additional capital from participating funds shall be credited similarly to its respective trust account.

(d) The income or principal or equity credit belonging to one participating fund may not be transferred to another, except for the purpose of:

(i) actuarially recommended transfers in order to adjust employer contribution rates for an employer that participates in both contributory and noncontributory systems; or

(ii) transfers which reflect the value of service credit accrued in different systems during a member's career.

(3) The assets of the funds are for the exclusive benefit of the members, participants, and covered individuals and may not be diverted or appropriated for any purpose other than that permitted by this title.

(4) (a) Interest and other earnings shall be credited to each participating fund on a pro rata equity position basis.

(b) (i) A portion of the interest and other earnings of the common trust fund may be credited to a reserve account within the Utah State Retirement Investment Fund to meet adverse experiences arising from investments or other contingencies.

(ii) Each participating fund shall retain its proportionate equity in the reserve account.

(5) (a) The actuarial funded ratio of the systems may reach and be maintained at 110%, as determined by the board's actuary using assumptions adopted by the board, before the board is required to certify a decrease in contribution rates.

(b) ~~{The }~~ Except as provided in Subsection (6), the board may not increase contribution rates to attain an actuarial funded ratio greater than 100%.

(6) (a) The cost of any amendment to this title shall be included in the final contribution rates adopted and certified by the board in accordance with Subsections 49-11-102(14) and 49-11-203(1)(l).

(b) If a preliminary certified contribution rate approved by the board prior to an annual General Session or Special Session of the Legislature was maintained at a previous year’s level that is higher than the contribution rate calculated by the board’s actuary for that year in accordance with Subsection (5)(a), the board’s final certified contribution rate shall be the sum of the actuarially determined costs from any amendment to this title during the General Session or Special Session and the preliminary certified contribution rate.

1037    Section 49–11–505, Reemployment of a retiree — Restrictions.
Section 24. Coordinating H.B. 51 with S.B. 19 — Technical renumbering and substantive amendments.

If this H.B. 51 and S.B. 19, Phased Retirement, both pass and become law, it is the intent of the Legislature that the Office of Legislative Research and General Counsel prepare the Utah Code database for publication by:

(1) renumbering Part 12, Phased Retirement, enacted by S.B. 19 to Part 13, Phased Retirement, and renumber and change all references from Part 12 to Part 13 accordingly;

(2) changing the reference to “Section 49–11–505” in Section 49–11–1202 enacted in S.B. 19, which will be technically renumbered to Section 49–11–1302, to “Section 49–11–1204”;

(3) changing the reference to “Subsection 49–11–505(3)(a)” in Section 49–11–1206 enacted in S.B. 19, which will be technically renumbered to Section 49–11–1306, to “Subsection 49–11–1204(2)”;
and

(4) modifying Subsection 49–11–1202(4)(b) enacted by H.B. 51 to read:

“(b) does not include a person:

(i)(A) who was reemployed by a participating employer before July 1, 2010; and

(B) whose participating employer that reemployed the person under Subsection (4)(b)(i)(A) was dissolved consolidated, merged, or structurally changed in accordance with Section 49–11–621 on or after July 1, 2010; or

(ii) does not include a person who is working under a phased retirement agreement in accordance with Title 49, Chapter 11, Part 13, Phased Retirement.”

Senator Weiler proposed the following amendment:

1. Page 3, Lines 61 through 64:

61 In addition to any requirements imposed under common law,
 62 for a post-employment restrictive covenant entered into on or after 63 May 10, 2016, an employer and an

64 employee may not enter into a post-employment restrictive
 65 covenant for a period of more than

66 one year from the day on which the employee is no longer
 67 employed by the employer. A

68 post-employment restrictive covenant that violates this section is 69 void.

2. Page 3, Lines 71 through 74:

71 (2) This chapter does not prohibit a post-employment
 72 restrictive covenant related to or arising out of the

73 sale of a business, if the individual subject to the restrictive 74 covenant receives value {~~from the~~

75 transaction} related to the sale of the business .

SECOND SPECIAL SESSION
OF THE
SIXTY-FIRST LEGISLATURE

Convened and Adjourned on Wednesday, May 18, 2016

CERTIFICATION

The undersigned, as the duly appointed committee on revision of the Senate Journal for the Second Special Session of the Sixty-First Legislature of the State of Utah, do hereby certify that herein contained is an accurate record of the proceedings of the Second Special Session convening on Wednesday, May 18, 2016, and adjourning sine die the same day.

Leslie McLean
Secretary of the Senate

Mary B. Andrus
Journal Clerk

SENATE JOURNAL

SECOND SPECIAL SESSION
of the
SIXTY–FIRST LEGISLATURE

May 18, 2016

Pursuant to the proclamation of His Excellency, Governor Gary R. Herbert, the Senate of the Sixty–first Legislature of the State of Utah met in the Senate Chamber of the State Capitol in a Special Session at 4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, May 18, 2016.

The Senate was called to order at 4:12 p.m., with President Wayne Niederhauser presiding.

Prayer – Senator Karen Mayne

Pledge of Allegiance – Senator Alvin Jackson

Roll Call – All Senators present except Senator Millner, excused.

Leslie McLean read the following Proclamation and Certification:

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, since the adjournment of the 2016 General Session of the Sixty–first Legislature of the State of Utah, certain matters have arisen that require immediate legislative attention; and

WHEREAS, Article VII, Section 6 of the Constitution of the State of Utah provides that the Governor may, by proclamation, convene the Legislature into Special Session;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Gary R. Herbert, Governor of the State of Utah, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the laws of the State of Utah, call the Sixty–first Legislature of the State of Utah into a Second Special Session at the Utah State Capitol, in Salt Lake City, Utah, on the 18th day of May 2016, at 4:00 p.m., for the following purposes:

1. To consider the appropriation of the following:

To State Board of Education – Utah State Office of Education Initiative Programs

From Education Fund	998,900
From Education Fund, One-time	3,775,000
Schedule of Programs:
Electronic High School	(1,001,100)
Upstart Early Childhood Education	1,500,000
ProStart Culinary Arts Program	275,000
Electronic Elementary Reading Tool	500,000
Early Intervention	3,000,00 (sic)
IT Academy	500,000

2. To adopt the following intent language:

The Legislature intends that the Department of Workforce Services (DWS) authorize Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) funds for one year for the UPSTART program ($500,000). This TANF funding is dependent upon availability of TANF funding and expenditures meeting the necessary requirements to qualify for the federal TANF program. The Legislature further intends that DWS report to the Office of the Legislative Fiscal Analyst no later than September 1, 2016, regarding the status of these efforts.

3. To consider a concurrent resolution expressing opposition to the unilateral use of the Antiquities Act by the President to create a national monument in Utah and encouraging the President to include the State of Utah in any decision making or designation process.

4. For the Senate to consent to appointments made by the Governor.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF,
I have hereunto set my hand and
caused to be affixed the Great
Seal of the State of Utah. Done at the Utah State Capitol in Salt Lake City, Utah, this 20th day of April, 2016.

Gary R. Herbert
Governor
Spencer J. Cox
Lieutenant Governor

CERTIFICATION

I, Spencer J. Cox, Lieutenant Governor of the State of Utah, do hereby certify that the attached copy of the Proclamation issued on the 20th day of April, 2016, signed by Governor Gary R. Herbert, is a true and correct copy of the original Proclamation calling the Sixty–First Legislature of the State of Utah into the Second Special Session at the Capitol Complex at Salt Lake City, Utah, on the 18th day of May, 2016, at 4:00 p.m., for the purposes named in the Proclamation.

I further certify that the membership of the Utah State Senate has not changed from that Certification of the 2016 General Session.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF,
I have hereunto set my hand and
caused to be affixed the Great
Seal of the State of Utah at Salt
Lake City, Utah, this 17th day
of May, 2016

Spencer J. Cox
Lieutenant Governor
