Domestic violence is the problem/crime.

We address domestic violence two different ways:

- Victim Services
- Legal System

Protective orders are one of the main tools to address domestic violence.
Domestic Violence Rates

UNDERSTANDING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE DATA

Four main sources for data:

National Crime Victimization Survey
• Incidents deemed criminal, 3.6 per 1,000 (2010)

National Family Violence Survey
• Family conflict

National Violence Against Women Survey
• Combination of the two

Local crime data
• Issues of reporting, resources, etc.

THESE APPROACHES PRODUCE VERY DIFFERENT STATISTICS

Domestic violence is an intergenerational issue

More than 15 million children in the United States live in homes in which domestic violence has happened at least once.

These children are at greater risk for entering abusive relationships or becoming abusers themselves.

Domestic violence offenders will most likely reoffend.
What Is Domestic Violence?

FEDERAL DEFINITIONS

• DOJ: “A pattern of abusive behavior in any relationship that is used by one partner to gain or maintain power and control over another intimate partner. Domestic violence can be physical, sexual, emotional, economic, or psychological actions or threats of actions that influence another person. This includes any behaviors that intimidate, manipulate, humiliate, isolate, frighten, terrorize, coerce, threaten, blame, hurt, injure, or wound someone.”

• 18 U.S. Code § 921: “has, as an element, the use or attempted use of physical force, or the threatened use of a deadly weapon, committed by a current or former spouse, parent, or guardian of the victim, by a person with whom the victim shares a child in common, by a person who is cohabiting with or has cohabited with the victim as a spouse, parent, or guardian, or by a person similarly situated to a spouse, parent, parent, or guardian of the victim.

TWO BASIC APPROACHES TO DEFINING THE PROBLEM:

1. SOCIOLOGICAl: Patterns of behavior, methods of control
2. LEGAL: Typically focused on physical abuse
1970s & 1980s

Legal definitions relied primarily on social science theories of abuse:

- Developed by social theorists
- Prioritized physical abuse
- Integrated into laws
- Commonly referred to by expert witnesses

Cycle of Violence
- Tension
- "Honeymoon"
- Battering

Power and Control Wheel
- Coercion/Threats
- Emotional Abuse
- Isolation
- Using Children
- Male Privilege
- Economic Abuse
- Minimizing, Denying, and Blaming
- Intimidation

Questions and Considerations

When considering policy in this area:

- Constitutional protections for offenders
- Focus on services vs. legal system
- How should the definition of domestic violence evolve and determine outcomes?
“In one field after another, we are learning that so much of the most promising work in addressing the most intractable social problems is complex, multifaceted, and evolving.”

(Schorr & Farrow)
