PROTECTING STUDENTS FROM THE HARMFUL EFFECTS OF PORNOGRAPHY IN SCHOOLS

QUICK FACTS ABOUT THE HARMFUL EFFECTS OF PORNOGRAPHY

- A 2014 study found that increased pornography use is linked to decreased brain matter, which results in decreased motivation and decision-making skills, impaired impulse control, and desensitization to sexual reward.
- Research shows that a child or teen's exposure to violent pornography or excessive exposure to pornography can impair a changing child's brain, social interactions, and emotional skills well into their mid-20's.
- The brain scans of pornography addicts show more pronounced stimulation centers when watching X-rated material compared to those not addicted – this mirrors similar studies on drug addicts' and alcoholics' brain scans.
- Addictive substances and behaviors, like pornography, activate the part of the brain called the reward center, triggering the release of chemicals, including dopamine, that give the user a temporary buzz. High levels of dopamine cause a temporary feeling of extreme pleasure or euphoria. For teens, the risk of addiction is especially high because a teen's reward center in the brain responds two to four times more powerfully than an adult's brain and releases higher levels of dopamine.
- Women report lower body image as a result of viewing pornography.
- A 2015 study found that men's frequency of pornography use is linked to body image insecurity and increased anxiety in romantic relationships.
- The Department of Justice and the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children both recognize that pornography is an element that adds to the serious problem of sex trafficking. Many traffickers are found with filming equipment and cameras to create and sell pornography.
- More than 80% of women in pornography are sex trafficked into a hostile environment of sexual exploitation, forced labor, and physical abuse.
- By age 10, 32% of children have been exposed to pornography.
- The average age of first exposure to internet pornography is twelve years old.
- 53% of boys and 28% of girls ages 12-15 use sexually explicit pornography via the internet.
- Most cases of sex trafficking start on the internet and social media sites. It takes 24 hours to traffic a child from the time the trafficker meets the child online.

SCHOOLS AND LIBRARIES NEED TO BE SAFE ENVIRONMENTS FOR STUDENTS.

However, sexually exploitive material is finding its way into these educational spaces. Here are three areas students are accessing pornography at school:

1. School computers: may have inadequate computer Wi-Fi filters to prevent pornography.
2. School owned devices: may have inadequate filters to block pornography on school-owned devices like iPads or laptops.
3. Online school resources: may provide access to pornography, normalize sexually violent and risky acts, and promote prostitution.

WHAT WE CAN DO:

- TALK. Every time we talk to students about the harmful effects of pornography they are safer
- TEACH. Definitions give power. Use simple explanations to give students words to describe what they have seen. This opens the door for them to report what they have seen or abused.
- MAKE A PLAN. If students see pornography at school teach them to report it to an adult at the school. Teach them to advocate for themselves and others.
- BUILD TRUST. Give students credit for the good they do and reinforce that they can talk to and trust school staff.
- STAY INFORMED. Periodically spend time to get updated on this difficult topic. Read the latest research, find new resources, and new ways to help students.

DATE: June 1, 2022
RE: Official Memorandum—Laws Surrounding School Libraries

Introduction

This memorandum provides analysis regarding HB 374, Sensitive Materials in Schools, and its prohibition of obscenity in school libraries. This memorandum supersedes any prior memorandum or other information previously provided by the Office of the Utah Attorney General (AGO) on the question of removing pornographic books from school libraries, including a May 4, 2022 memorandum from AGO Education Division Counsel (May 4 Memo), titled “Laws surrounding school libraries.” Any conflict or inconsistency between this document and any prior pronouncement from the AGO should be resolved in favor of the analysis herein. Any relevant part of the May 4 Memo not inconsistent with this document is incorporated by reference.

This memorandum has been personally written, reviewed, and approved by the Utah Attorney General and senior executive leadership of the AGO and constitutes the official position of the AGO (Official Memo). Our office was asked by the Utah State Board of Education (Board) and local education agencies (LEAs) to address issues limited to removal of inappropriate books in school libraries. Thus, the Official Memo does not address broader issues of appropriate classroom materials or other school curricula and focuses solely on school library books.¹ The focus and emphasis on these materials should not, therefore, be interpreted as the sum of AGO analysis on all issues relating to HB 374. The AGO is available to provide analysis

¹ The May 4 Memo similarly does not address these broader issues because the AGO was only asked about the limited question of books in school libraries.

"They checked into Tart of the Day, which featured elaborate confectionery in the usual orifices, then went to Superswallowers; then to a Russian site that employed ex-acrobats, ballerinas, and contortionists. "Whoever said a guy can't suck his own?" was Crake's comment. The high-wire act with the six flaming torches was pretty good, but they'd seen things like that before. Then they went to HottTotts, a global sextrotting site. "The next best thing to being there," was how it was advertised. It claimed to show real sex tourists, filmed while doing things they'd be put in jail for back in their home countries."

"Their faces weren't visible, their names weren't used, but the possibilities for blackmail, Snowman realizes now, must have been extensive. The locations were supposed to be countries where life was cheap and kids were plentiful, and where you could buy anything you wanted. This was how the two of them first saw Oryx. She was only about eight, or she looked eight. They could never find out for certain how old she'd been then. Her name wasn't Oryx, she didn't have a name. She was just another little girl on a porno site. None of those little girls had ever seemed real to Jimmy — they'd always struck him as digital clones — but for some reason Oryx was three-dimensional from the start."

"She was small-boned and exquisite, and naked like the rest of them, with nothing on her but a garland of flowers and a pink hair ribbon, frequent props on the sex-kiddie sites. She was on her knees, with another little girl on either side of her, positioned in front of the standard gargantuan Gulliver-in-Lilliput male torso — a life-sized man shipwrecked on an island of delicious midgets, or stolen away and entranced, forced to experience agonizing pleasures by a trio of soulless pixies. The guy's distinguishing features were concealed — bag with eyeholes over the head, surgical tape over the tattoos and scars: few of these types wanted to be spotted by the folks back home, though the possibility of detection must have been part of the thrill.

Syracuse HS, Northridge HS (Davis)

P. 89

The act involved whipped cream and a lot of licking. The effect was both innocent and obscene: the three of them were going over the guy with their kittenish tongues and their tiny fingers, giving him a thorough workout to the sound of moans and giggles. The giggles must have been recorded, because they weren't coming from the three girls: they all looked frightened, and one of them was crying. ...

Poster in the Clearfield HS Library (Davis)

“Banned Books Week...September 19-24

“Find out why these books have been banned in other places (but not in Davis County)!”

Excerpt: “What if I told you I touched another guy’s dk?” I said “Pff.” Nick waved me off and turned his attention back to his beer.

“What if I told you I sucked it?”

“Will you please just shut up already?”

“I’m dead serious, Nick.”

“Well, I’d say you were a fk.”

“I was ten years old, but it’s true. I put Doug Goble’s dk in my mouth.”

“The real-estate guy?”

“Yeah.”

Nick looked around frantically. “What the fk are you talking about, Michael?”

“I was in fourth grade. It was no big deal.”

Voters Against Obscene Books in Public Schools

Monday, October 03, 2022

“Voters overwhelmingly oppose sexually explicit books in public school libraries, and believe schools have an obligation to inform parents what their children are being taught.

“..89% of likely U.S. voters think it is important that public schools fully inform parents about what is being taught to their children in classrooms, including 70% who say it is Very Important.

“Sixty-nine percent (69%) of voters believe books containing explicit sexual depictions of sex acts, including homosexual sex, should not be present in public high school libraries. The majority opposed to sexually explicit books in public school libraries rises to 79% for middle schools and 85% for elementary schools.”

The screenshot shows a webpage from Rasmussen Reports. The header includes the Rasmussen Reports logo and the tagline "IF IT'S IN THE NEWS, IT'S IN OUR POLLS. PUBLIC OPINION POLLING SINCE 2003." The article is categorized under "POLITICS" and has the title "Voters Against Obscene Books in Public Schools". The date is "Monday, October 03, 2022". The main text reads: "Voters overwhelmingly oppose sexually explicit books in public school libraries, and believe schools have an obligation to inform parents what their children are being taught." Below this, a paragraph states: "A new national telephone and online survey by Rasmussen Reports and the Capitol Resource Institute finds that 89% of Likely U.S. voters think it is important that public schools fully inform parents about what is being taught to their children in classrooms, including 70% who say it is Very Important. (To see survey question wording, click here.)" A table of contents on the right side of the page lists: "1. Daily", "2. GOP", and "3. What".

"I believe pornography will follow the trend of the tobacco industry in public perception," Dawn Hawkins, executive director of the National Center on Sexual Exploitation, said in a statement. "Pornography today is pervasive and popular, similar to smoking in the 1950s, but as the harms become apparent, both the general public and elected officials will demand that a multi-disciplinary public health approach be implemented across the country to address it."

Unlike books' much younger cousins in the media family - movies, television programs, music, and video games - books remain unrated. This didn't used to be an issue, but graphic and explicit obscenity has made its way into books that sit on public school shelves. Even elementary schools have been found to contain extremely graphic content. To protect our children from this obscenity in public school libraries, where parents are not notified and cannot be present to help their children choose wisely, we have begun reading and rating books. Our ratings provide page numbers and quotes. The page numbers may vary depending on which version of the books was read and whether it was in print or digital. Nevertheless we present the evidence so that parents and schools may choose wisely, and choose to protect our vulnerable youth from the addictive stimulant, pornography.

In April 2016, Utah Gov. Gary Herbert signed a resolution that declared

Pornography is a Public Health Crisis.

The measure calls for education and policy changes to stop pornography exposure and addiction.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the state of Utah, the Governor concurring therein:

WHEREAS, pornography is creating a public health crisis;

Afterward I go bafroom. I smear shit on my face.

Rating System

Our rating system was inspired by the widely accepted MPA rating system. The system is easiest to understand by reading the rated book reports themselves (below). Please look through and compare it with our content-based rating chart to see if we are consistent in our application of the 0-5 level definitions.

The rater, from BooksLooks.org, explains the process:

"I created a rating system based on objectionable content whose definitions were derived from legal statutes and widely-accepted community standards. I have attached the rating system in the attachments.

A base rating is determined via the type and severity of the objectionable content found in the rating system. The final rating is based on the work as a whole, therefore, on occasion, there may be a rating lower than expected as mitigating factors may be present, negating the higher rating. For example, "To Kill a Mockingbird." While the book may seemingly be rated a 3/5 via the rating system due to the severity of the racism present, the overall theme of the book, being a positive anti-racist narrative and its significant historical value, the score was lowered to a 2/5.

I assign the final ratings for the books I read and those whose information is provided to me. This keeps the standards and level of objectivity, constant.

I hope that is helpful. If you have any further questions you can visit my website BookLooks.org on which I provide greater detail on the process. Please let me know if you have further questions."

Experience in ASD

- ASD policy was passed with 2 board member votes against it
 - The board members who voted against the policy stated that they “disagreed with HB374”
- The ASD policy has heavy restrictions on who can challenge books
 - Does not allow concerned grandparents to challenge books
 - Does not allow parents of future students to challenge books
- The timeline of the policy does not enable books to be removed in a swift manner
 - Limits review to one book at a time
 - Allows 45 school days to complete the review
- Enforcement is non-existent
 - The only consequence for a board that does not comply with the law is the threat of being sued. It is unacceptable to place the burden of legal accountability on parents who simply want obscenity removed from the school
- Nothing has been removed from library catalogs based on challenges thus far

My name is  and I am a parent of a student at Orem High School named . I extensively reviewed all 52 books that ASD originally had slated for removal from district schools, and have compiled a list of those books in Orem High School that contain violations of the "bright line rule" that exempts a material from further material review prior to removal of the material. I have furthermore listed each violation of 76-10-1227(1)(a)(i)(ii)(iii) contained in these books that requires that you immediately remove such books. This is fully documented in this link:

<https://docs.google.com/document/d/18fiV2G9pU8JVIMYuc6f7kcWo7kiik-2-e8FRPI4kR1A/edit?usp=sharing>

I would like to reiterate that I am not asking for a material review committee to review these books to see if they are in violation of the bright line rule. I have already documented that they are, and you can read for yourself in the document that I linked. If you would like to document these violations for your schools records, or if you would like to review them further for additional due diligence, you can do that after the books have been eliminated from the school and the library catalog.

Here is a list of the books in Orem High School that must be removed.

List of Books in Library:

A Court of Frost and Starlight by Sarah J. Maas
A Court of Thorns and Roses by Sarah J. Maas
Gender Queer by Maia Kobabe etc.....

List of books in Sora:

Damsel by Elana K. Arnold
Looking for Alaska by John Green

This Document lists any of the 52 books originally slated to be removed from ASD that are currently in the Orem High School Library, along with which other schools currently have the book in their libraries, and where in each book violations of the "Bright Line Rule" (Utah Code Sections 76-10-1227(1)(a)(i)(ii)(iii)) occur.

These books must be immediately removed from the schools according to the Attorney General's Guidance, and refusal to do so will result in a fine of up to $2,500 per violation according to Utah Code 78B-6-2105 (3)

Thank you

Alpine School District Policy 6161

SCHOOL AND DISTRICT REVIEW OF INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS

Before filing a request for review of a library item, the individual shall meet with the school librarian, who shall informally discuss the individual's concerns.

If the school librarian is unable to provide the information or to resolve the individual's concerns, the individual shall then meet with the principal or principal's designee, who shall discuss the individual's concerns and attempt to resolve those concerns on an informal basis.

If, after meeting with the principal or principal's designee, the individual remains dissatisfied, the individual may then request a review.

Limitations in frequency

A review committee is limited to one request at a time to review instructional or library materials.

A review committee should work within a reasonable timetable and is recommended to complete the review within 45 school days or less. Any item which has been subject to review under this policy and retained or removed may not be subject to another request for review for three years.

Requesting a review

Any adult who wishes to file a request for review must first read or review the instructional material as a whole before filing the request.

Students are not to be required, requested, or encouraged to complete reading or reviewing instructional material in which they have discovered content they believe is sensitive material.

1 CAUSE OF ACTION FOR MINORS INJURED BY PORNOGRAPHY

2 2017 GENERAL SESSION

3 STATE OF UTAH

4 Chief Sponsor: Todd Weiler

5 House Sponsor: Keven J. Stratton

7 LONG TITLE

8 General Description:

9 This bill amends the Judicial Code to provide for a cause of action for minors injured
10 by pornography.

11 Highlighted Provisions:

- 12 This bill:
- 13 ▶ enacts definitions;
 - 14 ▶ provides exemptions;
 - 15 ▶ establishes liability;
 - 16 ▶ provides a safe harbor; and
 - 17 ▶ addresses damages and class actions.

18 Money Appropriated in this Bill:

19 None

20 Other Special Clauses:

HB374 brings established code into the education code such that if there is a description or depiction of the following it is not allowed anywhere on school grounds.

- Human genitals in a state of sexual stimulation or arousal
- Acts of human masturbation, sexual intercourse, or sodomy;
- Fondling or other erotic touching of human genitals or pubic region

Typically, an obscenity loophole in 43 out of 50 states, was allowing libraries and educational institutions to bypass federal obscenity laws because when the material, “when taken as a whole, has serious value for minors” due to “artistic, political, or scientific value.”

But, HB374 closes that loophole in 76-10-1227 (2)(c) because it states that there IS NO SERIOUS VALUE FOR MINORS if it meets the criteria of 76-10-1227 (1)(a)(i, ii, iii), which is the portion in red.

76-10-1227 was brought into the education code through 76-10-1235

"Oryx paused in her activities. She smiled a hard little smile that made her appear much older, and wiped the whipped cream from her mouth. Then she looked over her shoulder and right into the eyes of the viewer — right into Jimmy's eyes, into the secret person inside him. I see you, that look said. I see you watching. I know you. I know what you want. Crake pushed the reverse, then the freeze, then the download. Every so often he froze frames; by now he had a small archive of them. Sometimes he'd print them out and give a copy to Jimmy. It could be dangerous it could leave a footprint for anyone who might manage to trace a way through the labyrinth — but Crake did it anyway. So now he saved that one moment, the moment when Oryx looked. ...The joint he'd been smoking must have had nothing in it but lawn mowings: if it had been stronger he might have been able to bypass guilt. ..."This a keeper?" Crake said. "You want it?" "Yeah," said Jimmy. He could barely get the word out. He hoped he sounded normal. So Crake had printed it, the picture of Oryx looking, and Snowman had saved it and saved it. He'd shown it to Oryx many years later."
