Regarding: Rectal Palpation and Reproductive Consultation of cattle in Utah

Two years ago in anticipation of greatly reducing my veterinary practice in Utah, which consisted entirely of dairy reproduction, I advertised and contacted seven or eight veterinary schools trying to find a replacement for me. This included talking to professors, who relayed the appeal to the graduating classes. I was not selling my practice. The offer was at no cost:

Palpate 1000 cows per week (2 ½ days' work)

Gross over $7000.00 per month

Low overhead: transportation and palpating supplies

The rest of the week to pursue other interests

No one responded.

Hence a couple of my clients, the Bateman Dairy in Mosida, UT and the Elberta LDS Dairy offered Jared McNaughtan the job. They could not find anyone else.

I have worked with Jared McNaughtan for over five years. He is very qualified. He has my blessing and well wishes in servicing the dairymen of Utah.
