

Dear Amanda Gilbert,

This statement made in the following article by Sue Robbins of Equality Utah is false and must be retracted.

"There is no documented evidence of a transgender person in the United States ever causing an issue in the bathroom. We have real issues we need to address. The transgender community is not one of them. Lets focus on improving things for all our youth," said Sue Robbins, with Equality Utah's Transgender Advisory Council.

Hamilton County, Ohio, has been investigating the alleged rape of a female inmate by Michael Cole (or now Michelle Cole), who is a man. Cole has a violent felony history dating back to 2012 and was sharing a prison cell with a woman.

In Canada, Tara Desousa is held in a "mother-and-baby unit" in prison. When Desousa was known as Adam Laboucan, the then-15-year-old boy sexually assaulted a three-month-old so brutally that the child required reconstructive surgery. Then, he was known as Canada's "youngest dangerous offender." Now, he is described as being a "two-spirit person."

In Scotland, Isla Bryson was held in a women's prison while awaiting trial for raping two women in 2016 and 2019. Bryson was known as Adam Graham at the time because Bryson is a man. But Bryson has been sentenced to a women's prison because Bryson decided to claim that he was a woman after rape charges had been brought against him.
