

House Bill 100, Food Security Amendments

House Bill 100, Food Security Amendments introduces targeted interventions that support the children of the impoverished working class, expand the middle class, and promote upward mobility for Utah families. House Bill 100 would:

- Ensure students with the greatest need receive no-cost school lunch by eliminating the reduced-price category (cost of $2.8 million).
- Provide these students with access to food during the summer months through S-EBT (cost of $618k).
- Prevent shame and stigma associated with food insecurity.

HB100 will help many children from working families who don't qualify for SNAP or TANF assistance.

IN UTAH, 1 IN 6 CHILDREN EXPERIENCES HUNGER.

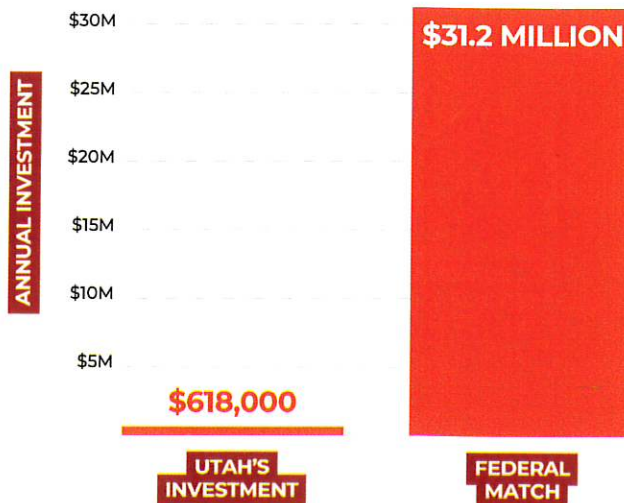

SCHOOL LUNCH

Even with the reduced price, some students who do not qualify for federal assistance, such as SNAP and TANF, cannot afford $0.40 per day.

A targeted $2.8 million in state funding will help these students stay in school and reduce the need for federal support.

SUMMER EBT

S-EBT ensures food during summer months for 260,000 Utah children from hardworking families.

ACCESS TO NO-COST SCHOOL LUNCH BOOSTS GRADUATION RATES.

A public-private partnership has been secured by The Policy Project and Utah's philanthropic families to cover $618,000. The state of Utah would not assume this payment until 2027.
