State Impact

Following the 2010 Census, provisions of this bill require a county legislative body to adjust district boundaries, or create a new school district, so that no district exceeds 30,000 students. Since state revenue to school districts is largely distributed on a per student basis, provisions of this bill may result in the redistribution of state revenue among school districts. It is anticipated that any costs associated with the creation of the administrative functions of a new school district, pursuant to the provisions of this bill, would be accommodated through current state or local revenue allocated for these functions.
