State Government

UCA 36-12-13(2)(b)

This bill restores the sales tax rate and individual income tax rate to the current levels should both the individual income tax and sales tax rates increase by .45% or more. If this occurs, the state may forgo $707 million in revenue ($465 million Income Tax and $242 million sales tax revenue). The bill also shifts tax on remote sales into the new remote sales restricted account created by the legislation should Congress or the U.S. Supreme Court act.

Notes on Notes

Fiscal notes estimate the direct costs or revenues of enacting a bill. The Legislature uses them to balance the budget. They do not measure a bill's benefits or non-fiscal impacts like opportunity costs, wait times, or inconvenience. A fiscal note is not an appropriation. The Legislature decides appropriations separately.
