Local Government

UCA 36-12-13(2)(c)

Enactment of this legislation likely will not result in direct, measurable costs for local governments.

Individual consumers may opt to obtain filtered internet service from their Internet Service Provider (ISP). The ISP may charge the consumer a fee for such service. Bill provisions require the ISP to allow the Department of Commerce, with technical assistance from the Department of Technology Services, to test the efficacy of internet filters annually. The costs of implementation for ISPs may vary by scope and cannot be quantified.

Regulatory Impact

Enactment of this legislation could result in a small increase in the regulatory burden for Utah residents or businesses.

Performance Note

JR4-2-404

No performance note required for this bill

Notes on Notes

Fiscal notes estimate the direct costs or revenues of enacting a bill. The Legislature uses them to balance the budget. They do not measure a bill's benefits or non-fiscal impacts like opportunity costs, wait times, or inconvenience. A fiscal note is not an appropriation. The Legislature decides appropriations separately.
