Local Government

UCA 36-12-13(2)(c)

By excluding certain aircraft from state-assessed property beginning in FY 2026, enactment of this legislation could result in a property tax shift within taxing entities. While the amount could vary by entity and depends on the value and number of aircraft required to register, the aggregate statewide property tax shift is estimated at approximately $615,000.

Individuals & Businesses

UCA 36-12-13(2)(c)

Enactment of this legislation could result in approximately 350 additional aircraft being required to register with the Department of Transportation and being newly subject to the annual registration fee, estimated at approximately $5,000,000 annually in aggregate. Registered aircraft would be exempt from property tax for an estimated reduction in property tax paid of approximately $615,000 annually in aggregate. This property tax exemption for such aircraft could result in a tax shift to other taxpayers within an impacted taxing entity.

Regulatory Impact

UCA 36-12-13(2)(d)

Enactment of this legislation could result in a small increase in the regulatory burden for Utah residents or businesses.

Notes on Notes

Fiscal notes estimate the direct costs or revenues of enacting a bill. The Legislature uses them to balance the budget. They do not measure a bill's benefits or non-fiscal impacts like opportunity costs, wait times, or inconvenience. A fiscal note is not an appropriation. The Legislature decides appropriations separately.
