

78A-2-210 Change of place of trial because of calamity.

- (1) The presiding judge may order court proceedings to be held at another location within the jurisdiction if the presiding judge determines it is necessary because of:
 - (a) war;
 - (b) insurrection;
 - (c) pestilence;
 - (d) public calamity or natural disaster; or
 - (e) destruction of or danger to the building in which court is held.
- (2) Any order to move court proceedings shall be reduced to writing and filed with the clerk of the court for publication.
