MORNING SESSION

House Chamber
State Capitol
Salt Lake City, Utah
January 26, 2009

The House was called to order by Former Speaker Greg J. Curtis at 10:00 a.m.

Prayer given by Elder Russell M. Nelson, Quorum of the Twelve, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

PRAYER BY ELDER RUSSELL M. NELSON

Oh God our Eternal Father,

We thank thee for our many blessings, for life, liberty and opportunity as citizens of the United States of America. Thou hast established this great nation as a beacon of freedom and a citadel of spiritual strength to all the world. Unitedly, we pray for our new President and for the success of his administration.

We thank thee for this sovereign state of Utah. We feel a deep debt of gratitude for the faith of its founders, who made the desert blossom as a rose. We are grateful for others who followed to bring diversity and variety to the society that we now enjoy. We pray for our Governor and his administration. We thank thee for the citizens of this great state. We pray for them individually and collectively. Bless them to respect one another and share this state in peace and harmony. May we host with dignity our visitors who flock as doves to our windows. May these guests return to their homes with a renewed passion for peace and recollections of righteousness.

In this Legislative chamber, we thank thee for these distinguished men and women, who have been elected by the people. We pray for each member of this House of Representatives. Wilt thou bless them and their families. Bless their personal affairs. Bless them with safety in their travels and fulfillment of their heartfelt hopes. Bless them to strengthen the ties that bind us together as a people. Bless them with wisdom, vision and the courage to place principle above politics and morality above expediency. Bless them to merit the reward of public trust. Humbly we pray for these dedicated Representatives as they commence this Legislative season in the sacred name of Jesus Christ. Amen.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

The posting of Colors was performed by the Utah National Guard. The Color Guard consisted of the following members: Technical Sergeant Brian Fortie, Technical Sergeant Jamie Phair, Technical Sergeant Ron Ford, and Staff Sergeant Nathan Abejars.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Speaker Clark's grandchildren: Ashtyn Thayn, Brantson Thayn, Cierra Clark, Jaxon Clark, and Jorey Clark.

The National Anthem was performed by The Crimson Four. Members are Ricky Parkinson, Andrew Neff, Dave Gray, and Isaac Bickmore, accompanied by Brittany Gray.

The Crimson Four also performed "Prayer of the Children," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "Utah Man."

Speaker-elect Clark appointed Sandy D. Tenney as Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives for the 2009 General Session.

The Chief Clerk, Sandy D. Tenney, read the following:

Communication filed.

Roll call showed all members present.

Former Speaker Greg J. Curtis administered the Oath of Office to the members of the Fifty–eighth Legislature.

Representative David Litvack nominated Representative David L. Clark as Speaker of the House of Representatives for the 58th Legislature.

On motion of Representative Kevin Garn, the House voted that Representative David L. Clark be elected as Speaker of the Utah House of Representatives for the 58th Legislature by acclamation.

Representatives Kevin Garn and David Litvack escorted Speaker David L. Clark to the chair.

Former Speaker Greg J. Curtis administered the Oath of Office to Speaker David L. Clark.

REMARKS BY SPEAKER DAVID L. CLARK

With humility and gratitude I address you today. Before we commence, I feel that I would be remiss if I failed to express my appreciation for the many people who have loved and supported through life's journey to this a position of reverent service. I have been blessed with parents who provided me with emotional and spiritual support. I do not remember an event (that I participated in) where they were not there supporting me. Being raised in a strong and stable family has given me purpose, grounding, and a context for everything I do.

My parents set wonderful examples for their children. Education was very important in our house. My father was the first in his family to attend college. He obtained his Doctorate, and for 35 years was a college professor at BYU. My mother was the first in her family to go to college obtaining her masters degree and becoming the first female Principal in the Nebo school district. I wanted to express to them the love of a thankful and proud son.

I also count, as chief, among my many blessings my wife, Nan. She has supported me in the pursuit of my many dreams and has made me a better man. Together, we have been lucky enough to have four wonderful children who have given us nine beautiful grandchildren. Some of whom led us in the Pledge of Allegiance today.

Becoming a parent has broadened my perspective and increased my appreciation for a great many things. Like all parents, my children taught me to care about things I seldom thought of before and gave my life a purpose beyond myself. I wish to express to them the love of a proud dad.

Thank you for indulging me.

Today marks the opening of the 58th Legislature. The first to be opened on the fourth Monday in January and not on the historic third.

Today, January 26th is a date, historic in its own right.

On this date in history:

1945 The Russian Army first reached Auschwitz and the world never looked at its self the same.

1948 Executive Order #9981 ended segregation in the army and America took another step on the path toward a world where everyone is judged on the content of their character and not the color of their skin.

1954 Groundbreaking of Disneyland and the world found the happiest place on earth.

1980 Israel and Egypt establish diplomatic relations ending the period of violence that began with the Six Day War.

1992 America Disabilities Act goes into effect and we found a helping hand was not as difficult as we first thought.

And on January 26th, 2009, for the first time ever in Utah, we the Legislature are making history by convening not on the third, but the fourth Monday of January. By doing so we hope to pay respect to the progress that America has made, and to man who helped define that progress, Dr. Martin Luther King.

As we enter into a new era nationally, I would like to welcome all of you to the beginning of the new 58th Legislative Session of this great State of Utah.

In every new beginning, one should remember the history of what came before so as not to repeat the mistakes of yesteryear. With that in mind, I want share with you the story of how this hill overlooking the city became Capitol Hill.

Arsenal Hill Story by Faye Thorl

In 1888 Salt Lake City officials gave approximately 20 acres on a barren hill north of the city center to the territorial authority for the future purpose of building this Capitol. At first, the gentle rise had been called Prospect Hill because of its position overlooking the entire expanse of the newly settled valley. But by virtue of that advantageous view, in only a few years Prospect Hill had become the headquarters for the Nauvoo Legion, a civil defense group carried over from the Mormon Pioneer days in Nauvoo, Illinois. The hill had also been the repository for arsenals of munitions belonging to four Salt Lake “powder” companies and their agents. At least 3,000 kegs totaling over forty–five tons of gunpowder were stored in warehouses in the site.

Twelve years before the city gave the land to territorial officials on a bitter cold sixth day of April in 1876, three devastating blasts on the hill rocked the city below and caused widespread destruction. Subsequent newspaper accounts ran for days in the three local papers. The headline in the Deseret Evening News the day after the explosion read: “TERRIBLE DISASTER Terrible Explosion of Forty Tons of [explosive] Powder Four Persons Immediately Killed and Others Injured Great Damage to Property.”

Emergency workers at the scene found four large holes where the magazines had stood. The ground was strewn with small fragments of the buildings; an iron door was the only recognizable thing in the wreck. Reports claimed that 30 tons of flying missiles hurtled about as smoke and debris belched from the hill..

The blast caused widespread destruction. A large boulder went through the mayor’s roof and two floors of his new home. Territorial Governor Brigham Young’s flourmill, nearly a half–mile away on City Creek was destroyed. One of Young’s daughters was sitting near a window and received a head wound from the shattering glass.

The day following the blast city officials held an inquest at City Hall. Their preliminary verdict was that the explosion was caused by a burning paper wad shot from a gun igniting loose powder strewn around on the site. The act appeared to be traceable to two teenage boys, Charles Richardson and Frank Hill, who had been grazing their small herd of cattle on the side of Ensign Peak and had been seen taking target practice near the magazines. Both boys unfortunately were killed in the blast.

On February 28, 1888 that Mormon Church President Heber J. Grant proposed that Salt Lake City should donate the 20–acre plot of the former Arsenal Hill property for a future state Capitol site.

At times this last year it seems as though the headline from that terrible day in April 1876 proclaiming disaster and destruction could just as easily have been the headlines describing House ethics charges, counter charges and the surrounding events. The tragic story of Arsenal Hill and its rebirth as Capitol Hill provide lessons we should all take to heart. As I reflect on this story, and in an attempt to not have Capitol Hill revert to Arsenal Hill.

I’ve found there are four things that once done you cannot un–do:

First you can not un–do:

A stone after it is thrown

A word after it is said

The occasion after the loss

The time after it has gone

In 2008, stones were thrown, words said, occasions lost and time gone that will never return. I suggest to you that we are at a crossroads. To plow old fields as I recently read in the City Weekly is not what we should be about. As a legislative body we have a choice to look backward or look forward. I choose to look forward toward positive change.

For the better part of over 150 years Utahns have proven that the pioneer spirit is alive and well and is still one of our core cultural values. We are a state born from adversity and persecution, yet we are quick to help a neighbor in need as demonstrated by Utah's ranking as the most charitable state in the nation. Utah's firm foundation has not been built on misgivings or hesitations; rather civility is the foundation—civility for a social peace and human cooperation for a greater good. In fact the definition of civility is the art of maintaining good manners, a calm demeanor, and consideration of others in social interactions for the good of society. So I ask you, my fellow representatives: Why are you here? Is it to prove a point? Or are you here to solve the challenges facing our state?

As elected representatives, we owe the people of the state of Utah our very best efforts on their behalf. Our actions inside and outside of our official duties should not detract from our ability to deliver our very best efforts to the people. Geoffrey Chaucer, the author of The Canterbury Tales said, "If gold rusts, what shall iron do?" If we do not uphold the high values entrusted to us in this representative form of democracy, we risk the deterioration of the people's trust in us. Sam Rayburn, former Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, shared this thought, which I believe applies to us, "Members have two constituencies they have their constituents at home and their colleagues in the house. To serve their constituents at home they must serve their colleagues here in the house." The persona we project to our constituents should be the very same persona we show our colleagues here in this chamber. The power of our political system is that it requires collective work, input and perspective in order to produce a finished product. Every piece of legislation is better for having been thoroughly debated, even contentiously debate as its rough edges are refined. In short, teamwork, compromise and openness are the hallmarks of our system and we should strive to ensure those traits are never repressed, but always celebrated.

In the dark days of the Battle for Britain in 1941 Winston Churchill lifted the spirit of his nation by reminding them to never give in "Except to convictions of honour and good sense." As I have contemplated the example the Office of Speaker might set I have committed myself to the following eight guiding principles. I suggest they be helpful to all who serve in this chamber. They are:

1. Understand limits legislative “power” stems from personal influence rather than mere office.

2. Have genuine respect for differing points of view as demonstrated by consulting with as many colleagues as possible.

3. Remember that the members of this chamber are your colleagues, and not your opponents. Everyone here has a family, people that support him or her, and loved ones that read the newspaper.

4. Listen more often than you speak. Senator Everett Dirksen once admonished his son-in-law, Senator Howard Baker, in his first year in the U.S. Senate to “occasionally allow yourself the luxury of an unexpressed thought.”

5. No surprises, simply keep colleagues informed.

6. Tell the truth— whether you have to or not. Remember that your word is your only currency; devalue it and your effectiveness as a legislator is over. Even when as Harry S. Truman once said, “I never give them hell, I just tell the truth and they think it is hell.” Be honest.

7. Be patient with colleagues and the process. Patience and persistence will always win the day.

8. Be civil and encourage others to do likewise.

9. In concluding my remarks, I would like to ask the pages to please begin passing out the books.

Over the past 8 years I have often found myself faced with two choices with regard to policy: either tinker with systems clearly not working and then rest on the laurels of having made a bad system a little less bad; or dive headlong into issues that will attract the critics, risk be ridiculed and maybe, just maybe, transform the system. I have always tried to choose the latter.

As we look at our State today there is a widespread sense of financial insecurity. Many in our State feel they are one layoff or one serious illness away from losing everything they have earned. Worst of all, Utahns doubt that they will be able to leave their children what their parents left them: a better life.

As I look out this Chamber I wonder if we are a Legislature of Destiny or Demise. No other Legislature has been asked to meet such ever-growing needs under such trying economic circumstances. It will require all of our collective wisdom, courage and vision.

I ask each of you to accept the responsibility for Utah's future. I ask you to not see Utah as it is today. Rather, we must envision it as it could be tomorrow.

The most important issue facing Utah today is the future!

I deeply believe in the power of ideas. In life, real progress results from a marriage of good ideas and the courage to see those ideas through. In government, we ask every Utahn to work hard and play by the rules. In turn, we commit to creating a government whose role is to insure that every Utahn is given the opportunity and freedom to achieve financial security and ultimately leave for their children a better life than their own.

So today, I ask you to make a commitment to the people of Utah about our future.

You hold in your hands the first draft of a book that charts the course of Utah's future. Today your book, as is mine, contains 100 blank pages. Our future has yet to be written. So between this historic day and another historic day, July 24th, 2009, our challenge is for each of us to fill these 100 pages with 100 innovative ideas. In doing so I ask that you enlist all 2.8 million of our fellow citizens and constituents to fill this book with the energy of ideas.

We should collectively challenge all citizens of Utah to consider their place in public service. One need not stand for election or sit in this legislative chamber in order to affect good government. Working as a private citizen does not excuse one from their obligation to society. I issue the challenge to legislators, local civic and business leaders, and those who call Utah home to not let this book sit silently and gather dust. To assist you even further if you prefer you can email your innovative ideas directly to HREF. Do not let the bold ideas in your heart fall silent. Give life to innovative notions and together we can chart a better, brighter course for Utah's future.

I urge all who engage in this process to keep three things in mind:

First, our ideas should focus on the real challenges and anxieties of Utahns. They should be relevant to the day-to-day lives of the average Utahn. In order to find those ideas, I suggest as legislators we talk a little less and listen a little more.

Second, our ideas should be focused on tomorrow. Each idea should be about what's best for our children and grandchildren now and 20 years from now.

Third, our ideas should not just be anti-government. Nor should they be about just expanding government's role. But they should be about anti-waste..

In our search for answers, I encourage you to look not to government but to what I believe are the foundations that have helped to make this country great; the family, the civil society and the free market system. The role of government should be to serve and protect these three institutions not run them.

You will notice on the book in your hands and on the wall above this dais, is written in Latin VOX POPULI voice of the people.

I ask you, my colleagues, to commit yourself to meet with your constituents' to fill your book with the ideas that will power Utah well into the future.

What we do in this Chamber matters. It will matter even more if we commit to be ambitious in bringing the voice of the people to the House of the People.

I look forward to July 24th, 2009 and the return of what, I hope, will be your dog-eared, well-worn, idea-filled books. Together, we will turn innovate ideas into excellent state policy that will serve our state well now and for generations to come.

Thank you for your services to this great State.

May God bless each one of you.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

Senators Morgan, Neiderhauser, and Hinkins formally notified the House that the Senate was organized and ready to do business.

On motion of Representative Garn, the House voted to have the prayer given by Elder Russell M. Nelson and the remarks given by Speaker Clark printed upon the pages of the House Journal.

On motion of Representative Ferry, the House voted to adopt the same House Rules, Joint Rules, and Interim Rules as were adopted by the 57th Legislature until such time as new rules may be drafted and adopted by the 58th Legislature.

On motion of Representative Dee, the House vote to authorize the Speaker to appoint a committee to notify the Senate to inform that Honorable Body that the House is organized and ready to do business. Speaker Clark appointed Representatives Herrod, Newbold, and King.

On motion of Representative Gowans, the House voted to authorize the Speaker to appoint a committee to meet with a like committee from the Senate to wait upon the Governor to inform him that the Legislature is organized and ready to receive any communication or message he may have to offer. Speaker Clark appointed Representatives S. Clark, Gover, and Black.

Representative Herrod reported that his committee had waited upon the Senate and formally notified them that the House was organized and ready to do business.

Representative S. Clark reported that his committee had met with a like committee from the Senate and waited upon the Governor to inform His Excellency that the Legislature was organized and ready for any communication he may have to offer. He will address the citizens of the state and a Joint Convention of the Legislature on Tuesday, January 27, 2009 at 6:30 p.m.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

On motion of Representative Garn, the House voted to recess until 2:00 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

JOINT CONVENTION

The Joint Convention was called to order by Senate President Michael Waddoups at 2:30 p.m.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

On motion of Senator Killpack, the House resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole, with the President of the Senate as Chairman, for the purpose of hearing from Chief Justice Christine M. Durham, Supreme Court.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY BY CHRISTINE M. DURHAM

President Waddoups, Speaker Clark, members of the Senate and the House of Representatives, I thank you for the invitation to address you today, and for your courtesy in convening in joint session. I appreciate and acknowledge the presence of my colleagues from the Supreme Court, the Judicial Council, and our State Court Administrator.

My task in reporting to you on the state of Utah's judicial branch is somewhat more difficult today than it has been in the past because we are all dealing with enormous challenges and uncertainty stemming from a troubled economy and related losses in state revenue. Ordinarily I use this opportunity to report to you on court initiatives and projects that you have identified in legislation, but this year I am going to forego those reports. The entire nation is grappling with serious challenges, and we in Utah are no exception. While those of us who are engaged in public service must take full account of the problems, we must also believe that hard work and creativity will ultimately see us through. I am extremely proud of the more than one thousand employees and over one hundred judges who make up the Utah state judiciary. We are asking more from them, professionally and personally, than ever before, and they consistently perform.

The role of the state courts in the American system has never been more critical. As one of my colleagues, recently nominated as the new Chief Judge for the state of New York, observed:

[A]ll over the country, state court leaders have committed themselves, like never before, to the pursuit of court reform as a way of life, whether it be modernizing the jury system, introducing specialized drug courts and domestic violence courts, promoting more coordinated and comprehensive justice for families and children, ensuring meaningful access to the courts, or using the latest technology to promote efficiency, and cost savings, among countless other reforms.

Whether we like it or not, the state courts are in the eye of the storm; we have become the emergency room for society's worst ailments – substance abuse, family violence, mental illness, mortgage foreclosures, and so many more.

(Jonathan Lippman, "Institutional Independence of the Judiciary")

To these observations I would add the point that the courts perform an essential function in the economy generally. For every contract dispute and debt collection action in the courts, there are thousands – cumulatively hundreds of millions – of dollars tied up, awaiting resolution. And, while we tend to hear and read a lot about the nation's federal courts, it is sometimes overlooked that the state courts conduct more than ninety five percent of the judicial business of this country.

In a recent conversation I had with Scott Anderson of Zions Bank, he pointed out that in the financial industry "so much depends on the timely adjudication of court cases." He suggested that as the "carrying costs businesses incur increase because of court delays, the overall costs to the business side are significantly increased," which further harms the prospects of economic recovery.

Our economy and our public safety, along with responses to so many of the ills that beset individuals and families, depend on the operation of our courts. The conclusion that courts perform core functions of government in American society is self-evident, and is indeed at the heart of our reliance on the rule of law.

As you gather for this legislative session, Utahns from every walk of life are aware of the critical issues you face in dealing with our state's budget in light of recent revenue shortfalls. I know that every aspect of state government will be affected, and I want to spend most of my time with you today describing what we in the judiciary have already done to cut our budget, what our plans are for the coming months, and what the implications are for our ability to fulfill our constitutional role.

Let me talk first about this fiscal year. As the state's economic downturn emerged late last summer, the Utah Judicial Council took immediate and in some cases dramatic steps. We implemented a hiring freeze in September and, with the concurrence of the Governor, determined to hold open all judicial vacancies for the foreseeable future. Aside from those individuals who were already in the nominations process when our announcement was made, current and future vacancies will be held open until we have managed the worst of this crisis. We have reorganized some of the ways we do business, completely eliminating our in-house court reporters, for example, and moving instead to full-time reliance on audio recording. This is a significant break with the way the courts have preserved records for many years. Through a combination of vacancies from the hiring freeze and staff cuts in the Administrative Office of the Courts, we will see a reduction in force of sixty employees by the end of the fiscal year. We have eliminated service contracts, closed programs, canceled travel and training, and identified every opportunity we can for creative funding and re-engineering of our operations.

We have some striking limitations, however. First, the courts' budget is almost all general fund dependent: eighty nine percent of our money comes from the general fund. Second, almost all of our budget is devoted to personnel. After our lease and contract obligations, fully ninety one percent of our budget pays for people. Thus, after the four percent budget reductions we took at the time of the special session, the additional seven and one half percent currently identified for us for this fiscal year will have to come through unpaid furloughs of our employees. The numbers are quite straightforward. As of today, we have approximately forty four million dollars left in our 2009 budget. After subtracting mandatory lease and contract payments and judges compensation (which cannot be reduced constitutionally), we will have approximately thirty million dollars left, virtually all of which is allocated to employee salaries. We have been told to assume a seven and a half percent reduction. That equates to eight million dollars out of our remaining thirty million, before the end of June. We understand that even as I speak you are engaged in discussions that may reduce the level of this cut, but until we learn otherwise it would be irresponsible not to have a plan for a seven and a half percent reduction in FY 2009.

The only way we will be able to accomplish such a large reduction is to furlough every one of our thousand employees for twenty-six days before June 30th, a total furlough of more than five full work weeks. This will mean that our employees will experience a twenty percent reduction in pay in every paycheck, and it also means that the courts will not be adequately staffed to perform our work. But even more critical is the impact of reduced staffing on the ability of the courts to do the public's business.

Because the time remaining in the fiscal year is so short, we believe that it would not be fair to our staff to delay the furlough process to the end of the legislative session. It will be more fair to our employees to distribute the burden over as much time as we can, and we are already effectively only twenty weeks away from the end of the fiscal year. While we hope that you will find a way to make implementation of this drastic step unnecessary, or at least very limited in duration, the Judicial Council has decided it will be necessary to start the furloughs for all of our employees in mid-February. Local presiding judges and court administrators have met and will meet again to address how to effectively operate the courts with such an emaciated staffing level. One option on the table is to close courts on a regular schedule to allow for somewhat normal staffing on other days. Let me be clear: this is not the way we as a state want to run our courts; this is not what Utah's citizens are entitled to. We need your help to find a way for the courts to perform their essential governmental role, and we hope that we will be able to re-assess our plans as the budget comes into clearer focus during the session.

I know that other government entities and many private businesses are also dealing with staffing reductions. At least in the private sector, however, when the employees are reduced it is because the work is reduced too. For us, the opposite is true. The workload of the courts is directly tied to the performance of the economy. For the first half of this fiscal year, we have seen a completely unprecedented increase in court filings. Civil case filings statewide were up twenty two percent, the first time in the history of the Utah courts that we have ever seen anything in double digit increases; criminal filings were also up. In a fairly dramatic illustration of the fact that the downturn in the economy gets reflected almost immediately in the work of the courts, filings in contract disputes increased sixty-one percent, debt collections twenty-seven percent, child custody and support matters twenty-seven percent, and mortgage foreclosures one hundred and one percent.

These pronounced trends will only get worse. As my colleague from New York put it, the state courts are the nation's legal "emergency rooms," and there are going to be a lot more emergencies out there for a while. If this were an ordinary year, the filing increases in the first half of this year would justify a request for three new trial judges and over forty new court clerks. Instead, the combination of increased demand and decreased resources is profoundly affecting our ability to hear cases at all levels of court. We are already receiving complaints from lawyers and members of the public about delays in processing cases, and frankly I sympathize with them. Delays in the resolution of legal disputes have profound human and economic costs.

Drastically reduced staffing and the possible court closures that likely would follow are not merely an inconvenience; they are an economic disaster. The more dreadful the economy, the greater the need for an efficient court system that can quickly get judgments entered and money transferred from debtors to creditors. The “domino effect” of a creditor’s inability to secure a prompt court-ordered judgment is far-reaching. A small business that cannot get money or assets owed to it is then at risk of defaulting on its obligations to suppliers and employees; then the suppliers and employees are unable to meet their obligations, and so on up the money trail to banks and investors, who in turn become unable to invest or loan money. Small debts become exponentially larger debts contributing to economic gridlock. These are not consequences that might be realized down the road; these effects can already be seen today, and they will only get worse as our existing filing backlog grows.

The problems are no less severe on the human side. In delinquency cases in the juvenile courts, for example, the goal is to intervene at the earliest possible moment in a child’s unlawful behavior to prevent escalation into more serious criminal acts. Drug and alcohol use, without swift response, will in many cases lead to addiction. Because we will have to prioritize child welfare cases, which have mandatory time requirements, the processing of delinquency cases will inevitably slow. Imagine a fifteen-year-old who is being recruited by a gang and is caught shoplifting. In the months it will take to get that child and his family into court he may well become a full-fledged gang member with serious criminal acts under his belt. This is not the court system we want for Utah.

Let me move to a discussion of our budget for 2010. Under current projections, with the fifteen percent cuts the legislature has requested, the prospect is also bleak, but in this case we have some time and more options. The legislative fiscal analyst has calculated that at fifteen percent, the courts would have to permanently eliminate two hundred and eighty three court employees. Except for vacancies resulting from our current hiring freeze, every one of those positions has a person in it. A reduction in force at this level is to me almost unimaginable, but it would certainly entail closing some court locations permanently, and being unable to try civil cases or hear delinquency matters because we would have to prioritize criminal and child welfare cases to comply with constitutional and statutory requirements. Our capacity to do our work at even a minimally acceptable level would be gravely threatened; the time to resolve routine matters would go from weeks to months, and for more complex ones from months to years.

In searching for options to deal with these concerns, we conducted a survey of neighboring states to examine how our court fee structure compared. We determined that Utah is on the low end of civil filing fees, and that it would be equitable to raise those fees as a means of generating funds to avoid drastic personnel reductions. We need, of course, your support for such a proposal, and hope that you will see it as a reasonable solution to our budget dilemma for 2010. At the new filing fee levels we propose, enough revenue would be generated to prevent the hundreds of personnel losses that will otherwise be necessary. We have calibrated the proposed increases to distribute the burdens fairly, and we predict that Utah will remain on the low end of the scale after other states have revisited fees (as most are planning to do this year). Furthermore, if you are able to adopt a fee increase, it could be made effective on April 1st, which would generate three months of revenue in 2009 that could be used to reduce the length of our employee furlough and court closures. Such a solution would help maintain the courts' ability to function, and would reduce a significant amount of individual suffering, which in turn would have positive economic consequences.

While the solutions I have detailed are intended to alleviate the courts' budget concerns directly, we also have ideas that would benefit the state coffers generally. For example, the courts play a role in the collection of a variety of debts owed the state. Criminal fines, tax liens and surcharges are examples of state debts collected under court authority. One way in which you could assist us in that collection function is to support pending federal legislation that would allow the state to intercept federal tax refunds that are due to those who owe the state money. Utah's Finders Program currently intercepts state refunds; this would allow federal funds to be attached as well. A joint resolution supporting this federal proposal would help Congress to understand the need, and passage of that federal law would generate millions of dollars for Utah's general fund.

Let me end where I began, in emphasizing the critical role that courts play in sustaining and stabilizing the rule of law and the economic engines of our society. We resolve contract and property disputes, employment and labor issues, tax and regulatory cases, debt collections and property repossessions, state and local government disputes, divorce, child custody and family support cases, domestic violence claims, child welfare cases where the safety of children is at issue, juvenile delinquency cases where early and prompt intervention in young lives may prevent human tragedy, and, on the criminal side, dispositions that are necessary for public safety and effective law enforcement and, in settings like drug courts, may restore people to productive lives free of addiction and criminal acts. None of these are optional services; these are things that a constitutional democracy owes its citizens.

We in the courts are prepared to do everything in our power to continue to serve the people of Utah efficiently and effectively. We hope that you will do everything in your power to preserve our ability to do so. These are very hard times, and we are ready to do our part. But I believe that the magnitude of the budget cuts we are currently being asked to take will cause our capacity to perform our core governmental function to grind to a halt. Utah needs a healthy, functioning court system. I hope that I have done an adequate job today of explaining the challenges we face and their impact on the public, and of making it clear how much we need your help. For your dedication, for your hard work, and for your public service, thank you.
