PRAYER BY ELDER TAD R. CALLISTER

Our Father in Heaven, we are so grateful to be in this wonderful land of America. We’re grateful for this state of Utah, and for our legislators who give so much to help us have a community that is united, a community that’s striving to be self–reliant, but also compassionate for those who are unable to fend for themselves. We’re grateful for these legislators who make a conscientious effort to have us be economically sound and morally sound and pray that Thou will bless them with wise and good judgement, that Thou will bless each of them with the integrity to vote their conscience, and bless them with the support of their constituents, and pray that all the discussions that we have that we might ultimately follow Thy will and be as David said, a blessed nation because our God is the Lord. This we humbly pray for in the name of Jesus Christ, Amen.

REMARKS BY SPEAKER REBECCA LOCKHART

I’m breaking with tradition a little by standing here in front of you this morning. But in that big chair and behind that huge desk there’s a lot of separation and frankly, it’s a bit awkward when giving a speech. Today I want to speak to you as your colleague and fellow legislator in addition to being the Speaker of the House. I’m grateful for your confidence in me as your leader, and I hope in that spirit I can share some blunt words.

There are always many people to be thanked at times such as these. I’d specifically like to thank my husband and children, who have supported me through the years, in the good times and also in the more challenging times. And also a big thank you to my parents who taught me to value family, faith, and the Constitution. A special thank you also to those in the huge majority and those in the vocal minority and to those in the gallery and those outside our doors, lobbyists and activists, protestors and the media. This can be a frustrating process. It’s an imperfect process. But to all those who participate, thank you for your time, your energy, your help, and yes, I suppose your occasional opposition. You are making Utah a better place for all of us.

There is one group of people I exclude from my gratitude. Today I exclude Congress. A group of 535 people who have made gridlock a profession. Normally, I’m in favor of gridlock in Washington. It means less mischief that we have to deal with on a state level. But after years of meddling with the economy and amassing trillions in debt, their actions are having a direct and immediate impact on Utah. The Utah Legislature has spent decades making good decisions on behalf of our people. We’ve enacted good tax policies and created a business-friendly environment. Those actions are bearing fruit, as Utah’s job growth is double the national average. That’s allowed us to invest significant funds in our education system, our transportation infrastructure, and in public safety. We’ve also pursued sustainable and responsible development of our natural resources. But lately, it’s become increasingly apparent that the action or in-action of the Federal Government profoundly influences our success. It’s beginning to feel like it really no longer matters how carefully we manage our budget here in Utah. The so-called “fiscal cliff” crisis is just the latest example. One day we’re looking at promising revenue forecasts, the result of years of hard work and difficult decisions; and literally, the next day we’re staring at perhaps $100 million less in revenue because of a Washington D.C. deal. What have we lost with that $100 million? What could we fund with that revenue?

$100 million could provide a modest tax cut for the people of Utah.
$100 million could fund 1,600 new teachers per year.
$100 million could fund drug and alcohol rehabilitation for 28,000 prisoners.
$100 million could provide necessary services for the disabled who have been waiting patiently for years.

Who do we want managing our affairs in Utah? A federal government trillions of dollars in debt and unable to do something as basic as passing any budget – let alone a balanced budget? Or responsive state level representation that balances the budget and regularly answers to the public?

While I’m on the subject of the federal government, I’ll briefly mention the Affordable Care Act. We are being tempted to enter into a partnership with the federal government with promises of flexibility. But we have learned through sad experience over many decades that the federal government is never truly interested in a partnership. They give lip service to partnerships and flexibility, but over and over we are denied the promised flexibility. And now Utah’s health insurance exchange, Avenue H, faces the threat of being moved away from a free market consumer-driven vehicle to a single-payer government-issue gateway.

Let me be absolutely clear on this: there is no negotiating with the federal government on this issue. There will be no such thing as a true state and federal partnership. The federal government’s definition of a partnership is one in which they command and we obey – usually while they’re picking our pockets. Anyone who believes otherwise is in it for the money, or deliberately ignoring history.

Our decisions on behalf of the people of Utah must be based on facts and the historic record, not on wishful thinking. And lest we get smug as we sit in these hallowed chambers, confident in our self-righteous anger, lest we sit back and point fingers and lay all the blame on others, we in this room are not free from sin. Yes, we have done a great degree of good for this state. But why is it that we find great fault with Congress while also greedily stumbling toward their siren song of cheap and easy money? A song that will lead us to a fiscal shipwreck. We claim and embrace the values of self-reliance, yet we are content with over 30% of our budget coming from Washington, D.C.

We must have and implement a plan to get the state of Utah less reliant on federal revenues. We know from experience, representatives, we KNOW that money alone does not solve problems. It can be a tool, but solving problems requires changing how we do things. If we need more technology in classrooms, we may need to move money away from ineffective programs. If the higher education certificates and degrees we fund aren’t cutting it in today’s job market, perhaps it means eliminating some while elevating others. I challenge you today to become problem solvers. Think outside the money box. States are supposed to be the incubators of innovation for this great country. Let’s find solutions that don’t further burden our taxpayers. Utah taxpayers are saddled with the 29th highest tax burden in the country. For a state that prides itself on low taxes and good management, that seems awfully high, don’t you think? But it’s not only money management where we and Congress run into trouble. We emulate their draconian regulatory schemes. We far too often look for problems where none exist. Can someone here please tell me what definition of “health and public safety” hair braiding falls into? Do we really need to license more so-called professions so as to artificially limit commerce? The free market?

So to you, the members of the House of Representatives, I’m pleading with you to remember this one word for the next 45 days: restraint. Restraint, representatives. Make sure to take a second and third look at that legislation you are proposing. Do we really need it? It’s been said that we each commit three federal felonies a day whether we know it or not because of the complexity of federal code. Do we as a Legislature really want to be in that kind of company? Creating so many regulations, complicating so many issues, that the average citizen can’t help but run afoul of the law? Restraint, representatives. Read through the bills brought to you by outside influences. Ask tough questions, even if what you’re being asked to carry sounds innocuous – especially then! If you hear anyone say, “This is really a very simple bill,” that should be your first warning. A little restraint today, means a lot less trouble down the road. I know there are some great ideas out there. There are critical issues we must address. But we’ve already got almost 1,000 bills being prepared this session. History says we’ll pass somewhere around 400 of them. And the governor doesn’t use the veto pen nearly as often as he should, which means we’ll add another 200 pages of code on top of the 200 pages we added last year. That’s on top of the thousands of pages added over the decades. Do we really want to keep doing that? Really? Really? That was a rhetorical question. What we should be doing is tackling the foundational issues that government is supposed to handle, and setting into motion legislation that will benefit our children and our children’s children.

While in Florence, Italy some years ago I had the opportunity of visiting the Duomo. If you have seen this cathedral you know it is absolutely beautiful! It is one of the most incredible buildings I have ever seen. It took my breath away! Construction began in 1296 and it took 140 years to complete. The workers and artists who laid the foundation probably knew they would never see it to completion and never have the opportunity of worshipping inside. But they did it anyway. It could have been faith, it could have been loyalty, it could have been the need to make a living. But those who finally had the opportunity to worship there benefitted greatly because of the sacrifices and foresight of previous generations. Like those who built the Duomo, we can lay a foundation for future generations. Let us look forward as best we can and enact those policies that will ensure our posterity has abundant opportunity to achieve their hopes and dreams.
Many of you have seen the artwork I have in my office. One piece is a picture pedigree of my family tree. I hang this in my office to remind me of my heritage. It reminds me to not bring shame upon the names of those who have gone before and sacrificed so much so that I could be here today. One part of my family is what you would all expect: European Latter Day Saint converts and pioneers. But another part is quite different: my great grandmother, Guadalupe Cilberia Trujillo, died a few years before I was born, but my Mother knew her well and has fond memories of spending many days with her grandmother learning to make tortillas and attending Mass. She gained valuable and unique insights about life and religion from her grandma Lupe and passed them along to me. I tell you this, because we don’t always know where our colleagues come from. We make assumptions about each other that aren’t necessarily accurate. From the outside we look like a homogeneous like-minded group with common heritage. But each of us brings a unique history and valuable contributions from diverse experiences and families. You may not know your seatmate as well as you think you do. Get to know your colleagues and learn from their distinctive make-up.

However, knowing and respecting your colleagues shouldn’t prevent you from vigorously fighting for or against the issues important to your constituents. You’re going to hear a lot about a lack of “civility” up here, and I can tell you right now that most of it is nonsense. When someone is calling for more civility, it’s usually a demand that their opposition sit down and keep quiet. Well not here, not in this House! Speak your mind, but let me be absolutely clear: disrespect will be dealt with swiftly, and we are a House of rules that will be followed. But I expect Rep. Hughes to give the most heart-felt and aggressive defense of a bill, even while knowing that it is going down in flames. I expect Rep. Seelig to champion the minority with stinging rebukes to a majority who will pass a bill whatever she says. I expect and encourage those things because it’s in the heat of those debates that opinions are changed and friendships are forged. It’s where bills are refined, and laws made better.

In my 14 years in this House, this House that I love dearly, I have rarely, rarely seen instances that I would deem uncivil. Tense? Yes. Unfriendly? Certainly. Frank? Absolutely. But rare is the time when opponents haven’t been able to come together and shake hands whatever the outcome. There is no greater example of that than the relationship between John Adams and Thomas Jefferson. What began as near hatred of each other became one of the most enduring stories of friendship in our history. There was a key factor in the forming of that friendship. It was when they started listening to each other that their differences were put aside and they were able to reason together. I’m not saying that Rep. Hughes and Rep. Seelig will see eye to eye on ALL the issues. Or really any of the issues. But their friendship and banter is something I hold in high regard. It’s an example of what keeps us working together to solve problems. We need all of you to make this work. We need Rep. Ipson’s rags to riches life experience. We need Representative Cosgrove’s dedication to our veterans. We need Rep. Sanpei’s unshakeable level-headedness. At the end of the day, at the end of 45 days, I hope that you can look back and say that you did your very best. There are almost 37,000 people in your respective districts depending on you to make the hard decisions. And whatever else may influence you up here, never forget that in the end, it’s your constituents who matter most. To paraphrase the great Bill Cosby, “They brought you into this world. And they can take you out.”

Representatives, you came forward and asked your friends and neighbors to put their faith and trust in you. And they responded by voting for you to represent them. They put you in these seats to find solutions to the challenges we all face. Those challenges will stretch us to our limits. The burdens we bear will feel heavy on our shoulders. The decisions we make will be our legacy. The words of Thomas Paine are as true today as they were hundreds of years ago, “These are the times that try men’s souls.” Be courageous, make the difficult decisions, and the people of Utah will thank you now and in the future.

Representatives, thank you for all that you are about to do. Now, let’s get to work!

H.B. 16 was transmitted to the Senate for its consideration.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

On motion of Representative Dee, the House resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole, with the Speaker as Chairwoman, for the purpose of hearing from Matthew B. Durrant, Chief Justice of the Utah Supreme Court. Other Justices in attendance: Associate Chief Justice Ronald E. Nehring, Associate Justice Christine M. Durham, Associate Justice Jill N. Parrish, and Associate Justice Thomas R. Lee.

REMARKS BY CHIEF JUSTICE MATTHEW B. DURRANT

When I was an undergraduate at BYU, I was invited to a gathering at a professor’s home. As an icebreaker, he had us sit in a circle and introduce the person to our left. When it got to me, my introducer said, “This is Matt Durrant. He is the son of George Durrant.” My father was a BYU professor, and a well-known author and speaker.

Then he continued, “He is the brother of Devin Durrant.” Devin was a star player on the BYU basketball team.

He continued, “He is the cousin of Stephen Durrant, a language professor on campus.”

He then paused, looked a little embarrassed, and said, “He’s never really done much himself, but he is related to a lot of important people”

I think that my chief credential remains the same today. I am related to or now serve with a lot of important people. I am privileged to serve on our Supreme Court with four superb jurists, who are here with us today, each committed to diligently honoring the oaths they have taken. I am also honored to serve with the other members of our state’s judiciary, including the members of the Utah Judicial Council, who are also here in the gallery today, as well as our State Court Administrator, Dan Becker.

In Utah, we are fortunate to have judges of an extraordinarily high quality. Utah’s judges are selected by a nonpartisan vetting process that may well be more thorough and rigorous than any state in the nation, one designed to ensure that only those applicants who have established a reputation for excellence and integrity are selected.

As Chief Justice I wear two hats: I preside over our Supreme Court and I chair our Judicial Council. The Judicial Council is the constitutional body by which we govern the judiciary and is composed of judges from different court categories who have been elected by their peers to serve. The council makes policy and administrative decisions for the judicial branch.

While as Chief Justice I now have many more administrative responsibilities, above all I am a judge like the other 210 judges in our state. I, like they, feel the weight of the decisions we are called upon to make. People come to us at critical junctures in their lives. Their business, their family, their financial future, even their freedom may be at stake. They deserve a judge who is fair, impartial, and committed to fairly applying the law to the facts. They deserve a judge who is uninfluenced by public opinion, position, power, race, gender, or anything beyond the law and the facts.

A fair judiciary is also critical to our state’s economic success. A recent World Bank study indicates that the most important ingredient to the economic success and strength of a country is the presence of a court system that applies the rule of law fairly and impartially. To have a judiciary committed to the rule of law, one dedicated to fair and impartial justice, not only benefits those who now do business in our state, but it plays a key role in decisions being made by those who are considering locating here. In a survey conducted by the US Chamber of Commerce, of the 1500 employer respondents, two-thirds agreed that the litigation environment in a state is an important factor that impacts decisions of where to locate or do business.

In this regard, I can report to you that Utah’s court system is held in very high regard. This is something that I hadn’t fully appreciated before becoming Chief Justice. Through my involvement with the National Conference of Chief Justices, I have come to see how highly regarded our court system is nationally. Our governance structure, the way in which we select and retain our judiciary, our innovative juvenile courts, our application of alternative dispute resolution, and our use of technology are often cited as models that others should emulate.

But even more important is the opinion of Utah’s citizens. I am pleased to tell you that in an independent survey conducted last July and August, 81% of respondents indicated that they had confidence in Utah’s courts, with 29% responding that they were very confident. In a separate recent survey given to court users as they were leaving courthouses throughout our state, 96% indicated they had been treated with courtesy and respect by our staff. Notably, this survey was conducted at a time of historically high filings and workload in our courts.

Fortunately, as our Utah economy has improved, our record high civil filings are now returning to more normal levels of growth. We’ve made the business adjustments necessary to continue to serve the public with fewer dollars and a downsized workforce and, importantly, we are not asking that any of the staff reductions taken over the past three years be restored. We commit to continue to provide excellent service to litigants, the bar, and the public with our new smaller, more tech-savvy, and better trained and educated staff.

A critical factor in our ability to achieve this success in our courts has been our relationship with this legislature. While there is, and should be, some tension between our branches, we are fortunate to live in a state where our legislators, while firmly committed to fiscal responsibility, are also committed to providing the resources necessary to ensure a fair and impartial judiciary of the highest quality. During these recent years of uncertainty, you have allowed us the flexibility to retool and right-size, and our exemplary performance is the result, and people are noticing – both our performance, and your contribution to it.

At a recent press conference held at the National Press Club in Washington DC, Utah was recognized as one of three states that had most successfully responded to budget reductions by changing its business model. Specifically, Utah was recognized for the positive and productive working relationship between our courts and this legislature. Representative Eric Hutchings, co-chair of our Appropriations Committee, was invited by the organizers of the event to participate in that press conference, which he did, and he represented all of you admirably. The cooperative and effective institutional support we enjoy is unsurpassed anywhere in the country.

We not only weathered the recession, but came out better for it. Though we faced a 10% staff reduction at the same time we were experiencing record high case filings, we were able to improve our efficiency, reducing the age of our pending cases by 34%. In other words, cases moved along faster. In fact, the average age of pending cases has improved over that of 2008 in every case category and in every judicial district. How has this happened? One key factor in our ability to increase productivity during workforce reductions and increased workload has been our unwavering investment in E-solutions.

We are almost to the finish line of operating in a fully electronic environment. We are now paperless statewide for all civil cases filed after July 1, 2012. Shortly after the gavel falls on this legislative session, all civil cases filed by the bar will be done so entirely electronically, and criminal cases are next. The advantages to these electronic solutions are endless.

- Efficiency – we move data, instead of pieces of paper, so everything can be seen and worked on by everyone at once.

- Security – redundant electronic storage means records won’t be lost in the case of fire, or, as we saw just a few days ago, a burst water pipe in our Farmington courthouse.

- Transparency – public records are much more accessible to the public. A visit to the courthouse is replaced by a visit to our website. Even court proceedings are more available without a trip to the courtroom, including digital audio recordings of justice court proceedings.

While we are already regarded as one of the most transparent court systems in the country—due both to our open, public governance meetings and to the way in which we report our performance—in detail, on our website—we have recently taken additional steps to enhance our openness and accountability. In November, the Judicial Council enacted a rule that allows the media to cover courtroom proceedings using audio and, now, video. While this represents a big change for our trial courts, the Judicial Council concluded that allowing this change makes Utah’s courts even more transparent and accountable.
While we are proud of the success we’ve had, and always working to improve the quality of our court system, we do face a number of significant challenges. The nature of what I will call our customer base, those using the courts, is changing. Fifty-seven languages had to be interpreted in Utah courts last year. And there are, of course, drug addiction or mental health issues in the vast majority – some estimate over 80% – of our district court criminal cases, as well as in many of our juvenile court referrals.

The number of litigants coming to court without an attorney has also continued to rise. For example, this year, in 56% of domestic cases, neither party had a lawyer. In the public opinion survey I mentioned earlier, 70% of respondents felt that the cost of hiring an attorney would be a barrier if they needed to access their courts. This should be troubling to all of us. And yet for many in today’s You Tube society, do–it–yourself is always the first choice, even if cost is not the barrier, and even for something as complex as a court proceeding.

To address this concern a number of resources, programs, and initiatives are in place. The court–run state–wide Self–Help Center you funded this past year is now serving people all across the state, and is on pace to assist 16,000 Utahns this year. Those 16,000 Utahns owe thanks to Senator Urquhart for his sponsorship of that legislation last year, and to all of you for its passage.

In addition to our Self–Help Center, we also have an online court assistance program, or OCAP, that helps self represented parties prepare court documents the way a TurboTax program might help prepare taxes, and our website has a great deal of information, including many simple, ready to file forms. Half of all divorce petitions last year used this OCAP program. But let me tell you a story of how it was used to bring a family together, as well.

A fatal tragedy took a young mother from her child. The mother’s devastated parents, grandparents to the little girl, sought help with how to take care of their granddaughter. They needed to become the legal guardians of their granddaughter, as the father is out of the picture. The grandparents are of meager means and cannot afford a lawyer. Fortunately, they found and called a Self–Help Center staffer, who then walked them, step by step, through the process of finding the correct online tool to help them. In this case they were able to answer questions in the OCAP program, and the result was a ready–to–file petition for guardianship of a minor, as well as instructions for what to expect in the court hearing. Within weeks, the grandparents became the court–appointed guardians of their grandchild and have the legal tools in place to care for that child for years to come.

There are thousands of stories similar to this one, and there are certainly other entities dedicated to assisting those with unmet legal needs. Utah Legal Services, to which you provide modest financial support, works mightily to address the demand for legal services, and the Utah State Bar has begun a state−wide pro bono initiative to provide legal help to those in the greatest need.

All of this and much more will be needed if we are to ensure that our courts are available to those without the financial means to seek representation from an attorney.

Once these court users—represented or not—do make it to court, we need to be sure there is a judge there to help them. In one part in our state that has become a critical issue.

I don’t need to tell you about the growth in the Uintah basin in recent years, but you may not be aware that it has resulted in a sustained explosion in the workload for both our juvenile and district courts serving Duchesne, Uintah, and Daggett counties—the Eighth Judicial District. The need for additional judges has actually been apparent for over four years, but because of the recession, we have done what was necessary to delay coming to you for help. We have used judges from neighboring judicial districts, as well as retired senior judges, to fill in, but the citizens of the Eighth Judicial District are entitled to more than a fill−in patchwork of judges.

I wish to give special recognition to the district and juvenile judges from the Seventh District who, for the last three years, have been covering all of their own courts, from Price to Blanding, plus the courts in Duchesne, which has meant many white knuckle drives between Price and Duchesne over Highway 191 during the winter months. They’ve done so willingly in order to ensure that the people of the Eighth District have access to court resources and timely justice. I should also note that the electronic record has allowed clerk offices in Price and Moab to provide case processing assistance to their colleagues in the Eighth District without leaving their offices. This is something new—being able to move work, rather than having to move people.

But I regard such assistance as a temporary emergency measure that has gone on too long and now needs to be addressed with permanent judges. The residents of Duchesne are entitled to have judges from their own community for whom they cast their retention vote. And, in juvenile court, the one judge/one family model that is in place everywhere else in the state, has had to be, in significant measure, sacrificed in the Eighth District because of the use of multiple visiting judges. In that district, our one judge juvenile court has the workload of two judges, and our two judge district court has the workload of three.

Senator Van Tassell has filed legislation that will address this long−standing need, and I hope you will give it your support.
So please know that the state of the Utah judiciary is strong, efficient, and forward looking. I am fortunate that Justice Durham and the Judicial Council put our courts on a constructive and innovative path. I intend to continue on that path and to explore additional ways to improve our courts. But this can’t be our journey alone. We need you to believe in and to continue to support our courts.

And we need the public’s support as well. The courts don’t belong to judges or to the Judicial Council, they belong to the people. And the people have every right to expect their courts to be fair, independent, timely, and accessible. Our judges and staff by their actions every day show their commitment to these principles, and I can assure you that the Judicial Council is working diligently to ensure that the confidence the public has in our work is not only maintained, but enhanced. Our courts need to be welcoming to all. Legal problems are not limited to the wealthy, yet too often the services of lawyers are. The high cost of legal services has become a barrier not just to the poor, but the middle class as well.

So, I see a critical part of my job as making sure our courts are like a big tent, with its flaps wide open, with room for everyone, not like a walled fortress accessible only to the few. When the good people of Utah need our courts, we don’t ask them whether they, like that fellow seemed to think I was, are “related to a lot of important people,” we just welcome them and treat them as the important people they themselves are.

Let me conclude by thanking you, as Chief Justice, but more importantly, as a citizen, for your service. I know that you serve at great personal sacrifice and from a commitment to improve the lives of our state’s citizens. We, as a judiciary, are proud to participate with you and with the governor in this great cause.

Thank you for the opportunity to talk with you today, and good luck with the session.

JOINT CONVENTION

President Wayne Niederhauser called the Joint Convention to order at 6:15 p.m. in the Chamber of the Utah House of Representatives and recognized Rebecca Lockhart, Speaker of the House.
President Niederhauser announced that a quorum of the House of Representatives and the Senate was present.

President Niederhauser appointed a Joint Committee comprised of Senators Ralph Okerlund, Stuart Adams and Gene Davis, and Representatives Brad Dee, Greg Hughes, and Jennifer Seelig to notify Governor Gary R. Herbert that the 2013 General Session of the Sixtieth Legislature is in Joint Convention and ready to hear his State—of—the—State address.

President Niederhauser acknowledged special guests and elected and appointed officials in attendance at the Joint Convention.

Senator Ralph Okerlund made a motion that the Legislature resolve into a Joint Convention and Committee of the Whole for the purpose of hearing Governor Herbert’s State—of—the—State address.

The Joint Committee escorted Governor Herbert to the House rostrum.

STATE—OF—THE—STATE ADDRESS
BY GOVERNOR GARY R. HERBERT

Speaker Lockhart, President Niederhauser, members of the Utah Legislature, our many special guests here today, Lt. Governor and Mrs. Bell, Utah’s First Lady, my wonderful wife, Jeanette, and my fellow Utahns, it is a privilege to address you this evening.

We assemble tonight in our beloved State Capitol, an edifice to the values and liberty Utahns hold dear. That liberty is defended on the front line by the brave men and women of our armed forces, and on the home front by our public safety officers and first responders. They sacrifice time with loved ones, serve with valor, and sometimes give their lives on behalf of others. Last June on Mt. Olympus, the State of Utah lost one of its own noble public servants, State Trooper Aaron Beesley, who gave his life while rescuing stranded hikers. Aaron’s family members are here with us tonight. To every first responder, public safety officer, and member of our armed forces, as well as those who wait for them at home, on behalf of the people of the Great State of Utah, we thank you.

In last summer’s devastating wildfires, three firefighters were injured battling the Clay Springs Fire. I was grateful for the chance to visit them in the hospital, and I am especially grateful that they are here with us tonight. I would like to ask Clarke Christensen, Ross Anderson, and Camron Nielson, as representatives of all who courageously defended our communities from one of the worst fire seasons in Utah’s history, to please stand as we thank them for their service.
My friends, as this legislative session convenes, we are setting the course for the State of Utah in a uniquely challenging time. We face uncertainty throughout our nation, and difficult challenges here at home. But let me be clear: I have never been more optimistic about Utah’s future. The state of our State is strong—and continues to grow stronger!

We recognize our strength when we reflect on our accomplishments, the mileposts marking our remarkable progress on the road to economic recovery. Last year, we united behind a commitment to education. We provided for 12,500 new students, we increased per pupil spending, we covered the increased cost of healthcare for our teachers, we invested millions in enhanced individualized instruction and help for at-risk children, and we put millions more in higher education, including our applied technology colleges.

Education is the largest and most important investment Utah makes. While we recognize that money isn’t everything, we should still take note—that while so many states face shrinking budgets and bleak forecasts, Utah has the means, the vision, and the commitment to rank education as its top priority. The proof of that investment is unmistakable. The national average Advanced Placement test score is 2.84. Utah’s is 3.1. More than 27,000 students prepare for college through concurrent enrollment, and compared to other states with a high percentage of students taking the ACT, Utah ranks second in our test scores.

Utah’s success starts with dedicated teachers, teachers like Maria Contreras of Alta View Elementary, where the dual immersion program boasts 275 students. For Maria, teaching is about more than just helping children learn Spanish, or Chinese, or French. It’s about cultural literacy, academic excellence, and preparing for a global economy. Immersion students often perform better on standardized testing, particularly in memory, attention control, and problem-solving. Tomorrow, more than 25,000 dedicated Utah teachers, just like Maria, will open the door to their classroom and start their day. Tonight, for opening young minds to the empowering knowledge and opportunity that awaits them, I thank every single Utah teacher.

Since the day I took office, my number one budget priority has been education—the key to a robust economy. I have invited educators, legislators and business leaders to serve on my Education Excellence Commission. We have a single, bold goal that is not only achievable, but for the sake of Utah’s economy and the future of our children, is essential. Our goal is that 66% of our adult population will have a college degree or post-secondary certificate by the year 2020. Right now, just 42.6% of our workforce meets that standard. In the next eight years we must improve that outcome by more than 50 %, and ensure that we are on pace to 66% by 2020.
Tonight, I call upon you, the members of this State Legislature, to unite behind the resolution supporting our 66% by 2020 goal, so we can declare with one voice, with singular focus, Utah WILL achieve education excellence. We must continue to fully invest in our growing schools, and we must also continue to provide our students critical tools, tools like computer adaptive testing and other technologies, across all grade levels and socioeconomic strata.

We must also remain fervently committed to STEM—science, technology, engineering and math education. As we discuss the future of STEM, the watchword is alignment—workforce alignment. Nothing matters more than preparing our children to face the new, interdependent global economy. So this year I propose we invest $20 million for STEM education. Eight state institutions of higher learning are reprioritizing their budgets to match that funding dollar for dollar. That’s a full $40 million for STEM programs to make Utah’s future workforce the smartest, most skilled, and most innovative workforce this nation has ever seen.

Aside from parents, teachers are the greatest influence on a child’s academic success. To ensure we have the most skilled educators, we must support continued implementation of teacher evaluation and performance pay. Once the federal fiscal dust settles, whether there is little to spend or a lot, education must continue to be our top priority. We can afford nothing less.

My vision for Utah remains steadfast: Utah will continue to lead the nation as the premier business location that provides opportunity for all Utahns. Thanks to Utah’s economic engine, we are well on the road to economic prosperity. While the nation’s unemployment rate is 7.8%, Utah’s is 5.2%. The U.S. economy is growing at 1.4%, while Utah’s economy is more than double that at 2.9%. That means that 35,800 Utahns who were jobless one year ago are working today. More Utahns are now able to pay their bills, buy their groceries, pay for gasoline, cover the mortgage, maybe afford piano lessons or soccer cleats for their children, and even start setting money aside for the future. Hundreds of thousands of Utah families now have the security of economic stability.

Lasting job creation and capital investment hinge on the free flow of commerce, another area where Utah excels. There is no better example than the I-15 CORE project, built faster than any other billion-dollar highway project in America, and $260 million under budget. UTA’s commuter rail now runs from Ogden to Provo, two years ahead of schedule and 15% under budget. We are building the infrastructure that will enable Utah’s future economic success.

Now, while I am optimistic about Utah’s future, I realize that 71,000 Utahns still seek employment. And I will continue to work tirelessly with you in the legislature to empower the private sector to create job opportunities for every Utahn.

For the third straight year, Forbes ranked Utah number one as the best place for business. That is no accident. Business continues to benefit from Utah’s stable environment and educated workforce. For example, homegrown Omniture attracted software giant Adobe to Utah. Adobe just completed its beautiful, new 280,000 square foot Lehi facility, a complex that will house 1,100 employees, and it’s just phase one of a three-part project!

With companies like Adobe and Microsoft expanding in northern Utah Valley, and eBay and Oracle in southern Salt Lake Valley, this area is rapidly becoming an IT hub. That is why it’s time to get serious about finding a more suitable location for the state prison. We must make this 700 acre parcel available for the continued growth of our IT industry. Sometimes promoting economic development means accepting the herculean task of moving and modernizing a prison.

And sometimes it means removing or simplifying overly oppressive or nonsensical regulation that also presents obstacles to job creation. Last year I told you about the results of our state regulatory reform effort. This year I am pleased to announce that I am partnering with the mayors of Provo, Ogden, Cedar City, and South Jordan on a pilot project to engage in regulatory reform at the local level that I hope could be a model for every city and county. These efforts exemplify the best kind of economic recovery, with government removing the obstacles to innovation and free market growth, creating real opportunity for all Utahns.

We all recognize the benefits of economic growth. But what may be less obvious is how our culture of innovation impacts individual lives, individuals like our own Allyson White Gamble who runs our Capitol Preservation Board Office. She is the remarkable survivor of two heart transplants. We are so grateful Allyson is here today with her husband, Jim, and son, Ben. The very same devices and procedures that saved Allyson’s life were created by a global leader in heart surgery, with a facility right here in Utah: Edwards Lifesciences. This company grew from about 200 employees in Utah in 2010, to 550 employees today. And they plan to double that number again in the next few years!—real jobs, with real impact on people’s lives.

Of course, I could go on and on about hundreds of companies making a difference in Utah and around the world, companies like BioFire Diagnostics, Boeing, and G-A-F. Whether you started a high tech manufacturing firm out of your garage like the Springville company IMSAR, maker of high performance radar systems now built for the Department of Defense, or whether you are the “Chief Sauce Maker” of the Utah-based BBQ company Snap Daddy’s, the Beehive State IS the best place for business and careers. As we look to the future, we shift our focus from economic recovery to economic prosperity. Take a look at our web page utahjobsplan.com. You’ll see that with another 8,800 jobs created just last quarter, Utah is well on its way toward the goal we set last year of 100,000 jobs in 1,000 days.

On Utah’s road to recovery, our course is sure, with a steady hand and fixed gaze on prosperity ahead, we are leading this nation out of the Great Recession. We must not waiver; we must remain vigilant, vigilant to maintain low taxes and sensible regulation, anchored in our conviction that in a free market, the private sector, not government, will propel Utah to prosperity.

Utah is also leading out in energy development. The Uintah Basin is booming, with an average unemployment rate of 4.5%. And industry leaders there are developing natural resources in environmentally sensitive ways. Consider Newfield Exploration’s efforts to protect the environment and decrease truck traffic with centralized collection points for black wax crude, and recycled water for oil extraction. Newfield is one of many companies proving that private sector innovation, not government regulation, will drive the future of responsible energy development.

That same spirit of innovation is driving Utah State University’s Aggie Bus. Created through a public-private partnership between USU and a company called Wave, this electric bus is refueled by recharging on electric pads throughout its route. It is 100% emissions free. I think it’s fair to say, this energy innovation at USU is every bit as exciting as the Aggies were on the football field last season.

We’re not just talking about emissions; we’re also talking about conservation. Last year I signed an agreement with 13 other states, securing bulk purchasing power that allows us to acquire more natural gas vehicles at discounted prices, thereby reducing emissions and our reliance on foreign oil. Add that to increased use of video conferencing to reduce employee travel, more public transit eco-passes, more HOV lanes on I-15, and my executive order to reduce idling for our state fleet, and it’s clear that Utah does more than just talk about conservation; we are actually doing it.

I’ve said it before, and I’ll say it again—in fact, I’ll keep saying it until it’s understood from L.A. to D.C.: Responsible development of Utah’s energy resources and the protection of Utah’s scenic wonders are not mutually exclusive ideas! Outdoor recreation, with its $5.8 billion annual economic impact, is fundamental to our culture, our health, our economy and our lifestyle. Some have even said it’s in our DNA. And it provides a market for many Utah companies like Salt Lake City’s Bluehouse Skis and West Valley City’s Petzl. So last week we announced that Utah is doing something no other state is doing: we launched a long-term outdoor recreation vision, which includes the creation of an Office of Outdoor Recreation. With our iconic red rock deserts, and mountain peaks capped with world-class snow, Utah offers unparalleled outdoor recreational experiences, from the backyard to the backcountry.

Whether you’re hiking Calf Creek Falls with Representative Brian King, running RAGNAR with Senator Deidre Henderson, mountain biking with President Wayne Niederhauser, deer hunting with Representative Mike McKell, or exploring the wilderness hunting for golf balls in the rough with Senator Curt Bramble, there are countless, wonderful outdoor activities to enjoy in Utah!

To protect this quality of life, and address the seasonal problem of poor air quality, we must all be part of the solution. Tonight, as your Governor, I call upon every Utahn, every public agency and every Utah business to do your part, and to find ways to do even more. For example, fifty two percent of the pollution during inversions comes from tailpipes. Whether it’s taking mass transit, idling your vehicle less and carpooling more, unplugging devices, or using energy efficient appliances, each of us individually can do our part. And when we consume less, we pollute less. You can find ideas about how to save more and pollute less at our web page www.ucair.utah.gov. And I urge every Utahn to join UCAIR, Utah’s Clean Air Partnership.

I am not only calling on individuals and public agencies to act, I am calling upon industry and higher education to innovate—innovate ways to make energy more accessible, more reliable, cleaner, and affordable.

In addition to conserving energy, Utah must also conserve our precious water. In the year 2000 we set a target to use 25% less water by the year 2050, and we’ve already reduced our consumption by 18%. So let’s go one step further. Let’s cut the time in half, and achieve that goal by the year 2025.

As a state, we continue to strive for better management in all we do. It’s called good governance. Because of the economic downturn, every family, every community, and every business was forced to do more with less. Utah government is no exception. Utah now offers more than 1,000 services online and, since 2007, “e-government” has saved Utahns about $46 million! In the year 2000, there was one state employee for every 112 Utahns. Today, that ratio is one employee for every 139 Utahns, a 24% improvement.

While striving to maintain quality services, state agencies have innovated new ways to find efficiencies. For example, the Department of Technology Services installed a more efficient cooling system in our main data center, which now consumes 28% less energy. This saves more than 100,000 taxpayer dollars each year, and reduces carbon emissions equivalent to taking 268 cars off the road. Utah is providing great value to the taxpayer with lower cost, efficient, state government, but I believe there is more we can do.

With the taxpayers in mind, I have re-organized my Office of Planning and Budget to aggressively foster operational excellence across all of state government. We have introduced legislation, sponsored by Senator Jerry Stevenson and Representative Brad Wilson, to rename GOPB, the Governor’s Office of Management and Budget. This change is not just about rhetoric. Tonight I am challenging my cabinet, and all state employee, through improving quality and reducing costs, to improve their operational efficiency by 25% over the next four years—because every dollar we save through efficiencies is another dollar we can invest in our classrooms.

Let me conclude with a brief story. A few months ago I asked a nationally prominent magazine editor why he hadn’t written lately about Utah’s robust economic recovery. He responded, “Your success isn’t news, it’s just what we have come to expect from Utah.” Others expect it, but we know we have worked hard for that success.

The I-15 CORE completion, the Adobe expansion, the 35,800 new jobs—the list goes on and on. As I said before, those successes did not just happen by accident. They are the result of hard work, fierce determination, and a consistent adherence to sound principles. It’s never the effort of just one individual, or one company. It’s the effort of all. And I thank each of you here in the legislature for all that you do to play your part in each of these success stories.

A friend of mine once said to his son: “If you stay on this path, you will end up where you’re going.” Let me tell you: Utah is on the right path—we’re on the right road and, together, we’re going in the right direction. And our destination is economic prosperity with an unparalleled quality of life.

I ask you to join me tonight with renewed commitment, with clear focus, with a spirit of collaboration and civility; to achieve economic prosperity, to enhance government efficiency, to expand energy innovation, and to ensure educational excellence for our children and their children.

The State of Utah is strong, and I am committed as your Governor to continue working with you to make it even stronger. I pledge to you my very BEST effort. May God bless you, this great nation, and may God continue to bless the Great State of Utah.

The Business and Labor Committee reports a favorable recommendation on H.C.R. 10, CONCURRENT RESOLUTION ON THE PATIENT PROTECTION AND AFFORDABLE CARE ACT AND STATE HEALTH CARE REFORM, by Representative K. Ivory, with the following amendments:

1. Page 2, Line 42:

   42 employment in the state;

   Whereas hundreds of Utah medical device companies will be subject to the ACA’s excise tax on manufacturers and importers of certain medical devices, without regard for company profitability;

   Whereas, the tax will threaten the viability of many firms and have a chilling effect on the very innovation needed to drive down health care costs and support economic growth in this state;

2. Page 3, Lines 73 through 75:

   {73 WHEREAS, Utah families who lose employer sponsored coverage under the ACA may find exchange plans unaffordable because federal premium and cost sharing subsidies are based on 70/30 plans for single, not family, coverage; –}

3. Page 3, Line 88:

   88 hospitals that serve a disproportionate number of low-income individuals;

   WHEREAS, Utah families will suffer if medical facilities close or medical practitioners leave their professions in response to the financial strain created by shrinking provider payments under the ACA;
WHEREAS, implementation of the ACA will tend to destroy the private market for health insurance and move families, insurers, and health care providers ever closer to a single-payer system of federally controlled health care;

INTENT LANGUAGE FOR 2ND SUB. H.B. 290

On motion of Representative Froerer, the House voted to print the following intent language on the pages of the House Journal.
“The 2013 Legislature intends that the changes in this bill to Utah Code Section 61–2f–409 apply retroactively to May 11, 2010. The 2013 Legislature applies this law retroactively to remedy a defect in previous legislation that was discovered just before this 2013 General Session. During the 2010 General Session, while attempting to clean–up and clarify the Code sections related to real estate, the 2010 Legislature narrowed the class of persons authorized to maintain a cause of action to collect a commission, collect a fee, or otherwise recover for actions prohibited by Title 61, Chapter 2f. That change resulted primarily from amending the word ‘person’ to the word ‘individual.’ The 2013 Legislature believes that the 2010 amendment is problematic from both a legal and a policy standpoint. By passing this bill, the 2013 Legislature intends to enact language that reflects what it believes was the 2010 Legislature’s original intent – that either a principal broker or the entity with which the principal broker is affiliated may maintain a cause of action described in Subsection 61–2f–409(1).”
