SIXTY-FIRST LEGISLATURE of the
STATE OF UTAH
GENERAL SESSION
FIRST DAY

MORNING SESSION

House Chamber
State Capitol
Salt Lake City, Utah
January 26, 2015

The House was called to order by Congressman Rob Bishop, former Speaker of the Utah House of Representatives, at 10:00 a.m.

Prayer given by H. David Burton, former Presiding Bishop of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

PRAYER BY H. DAVID BURTON

Most Holy Father, on this historic occasion, we have gathered in this historical building in the magnificence of this architecture, to welcome the 61st Legislature of the State of Utah, and to offer dear Father a prayer in their behalf. We are grateful Father for all that thou hast given us, for the opportunity of living in a free land, and exercising our citizenship in the manner that has been displayed this day. We are grateful Father for men and women who have been selected by their peers in their respected districts to represent them in these hallowed halls. We pray that thou wilt bless each of those representatives, bless them with health and with strength and with wisdom. Bless them that they may carry out the responsibilities of their office and calling in a manner pleasing unto themselves and for the benefit of the citizens of this great state. This sacred house Father, is a place where many have served with great devotion, we pray that thou wilt bless those who have served and those who will serve. May this house be a house of peace, may it be a house of mutual respect, may it be a house where the agendas of men are set aside for the good of the people of this state. May it be a house of love and respect, and may it be a house to enact the business of the State of Utah. Dear Father we acknowledge thy hand is all things that are good. We pray that thou wilt bless each individual member, particularly those who have positions of leadership. Wilt thou bless them in their assignments, and bless their homes and families in their absence. These blessings we humbly petition thee for dear Father, and we do it in the holy name of Jesus the Christ. Amen

Communication filed.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

Roll call showed all members present, except Representative Keith Grover, excused.

Congressman Rob Bishop, former Speaker of the House, administered the Oath of Office to the members of the Sixty-first Legislature.

On motion of Representative Brian King, the House voted to nominate Representative Gregory H. Hughes as Speaker of the House of Representatives for the 61st Legislature.

On motion of Representative Dunnigan, the House voted that Representative Gregory H. Hughes be elected as Speaker of the Utah House of Representatives for the 61st Legislature by acclamation.

Representatives Mike Noel and Mike Schultz escorted Speaker Gregory H. Hughes to the dais.

Congressman Rob Bishop, former Speaker of the House, administered the Oath of Office to Speaker Gregory H. Hughes; his wife Krista and the Lockhart family, Stan, Hannah and Emily, joined the Speaker on the dais.

REMARKS BY SPEAKER GREGORY H. HUGHES

Fellow representatives, it is truly an honor to stand before you today as Utah's Speaker of the House. This is a responsibility I take very seriously and I'm humbled by the trust you all have shown in me.

I want to thank Congressman Rob Bishop for joining us today and let him know what a privilege it was to have him administer my oath of office.

I also need to take a few moments to thank some special people who are here with us - my friends and family, some of whom came all the way from Pittsburgh, my business partner Gary Nordhoff, my children - Sophie, Holden and Reagan, and of course my wife Krista. I wouldn't be here without them.

Please join me in thanking the Lockhart family for their strength and for being here today to support us as we kick off the 2015 General Session of the 61st Legislature.

I view all of us in the House as a family; not majority and minority members, battling each other for control, but as brothers and sisters committed to making Utah a better place. Although this is a very a difficult time for us, it is also a time when we must unite as a House family and through tough times become stronger. Speaker Lockhart, more than anybody, would tell us that we have a job to do and we need to move forward and get to work. As I recall, she wasn't a big fan of inaction.

It's been said, "Man does not control his own fate. The women in his life do that for him." For me, this has always proven true. Like Becky was a strong example to us all, I stand before you as the product of many strong-willed women; women who have played an important role in my life and without whom, I would be lost. I was raised by a single mother, with help from my aunts and my Grandma Maxine - all strong women who prepared me for this world while teaching me the lessons of faith, hard work and strength of will.

My start in politics began when Pennsylvania National Committeewoman Elsie Hillman gave me the opportunity to work on the Bush-Quayle campaign of 1988; Enid Greene helped me get my foot in the door and introduced me to Utah politics; Becky Lockhart was important to this body, and for many of you in this chamber today, she's the only Speaker you've known. I knew her long before entering the legislature. She and Stan were among the first to believe in me and were instrumental in the success of my initial House race. When I was first elected she mentored me and helped me navigate the processes and procedures – and she did her best to try and keep me in line. Megan, who many of you know, has kept my legislative life on track these last eight years; and finally, the most important woman in my life, my wife Krista, who is the rock of our family. In our home, I am a spoke; she is the hub.

One thing I learned from the role models in my life is that you shouldn't say something that you can't back up. We have a duty to live up to the obligations of the office we hold, as well as the promises we have made to our constituents. Members of the House have a fiduciary responsibility to recognize that the next economic downturn could be right around the corner. Few foresaw the financial crisis that led to the deepest recession in a generation and brought cities and states to the brink of insolvency.

Wisdom of previous legislatures, of which many here were a part, allowed our economy and this state to make one of the strongest and swiftest comebacks in the nation - the fruits of which we are currently enjoying. It would be foolish for us to abandon these prudent principles and not do our part to adequately prepare now for the future challenges this state will surely face.

In these First Day Ceremonies that begin our General Session, I believe we all arrive ready and able to make a difference, but if we aren't careful this place can start reminding us of the movie Groundhog Day, in which the main character played by Bill Murray, relives the same day, Groundhog Day, over and over again. Do you recognize the legislative version of Groundhog Day?

For how many years have we talked about some of the same issues? For how many legislative sessions have we tinkered around the edges because the challenges seemed insurmountable in just 45 days? How many times have we heard, “Let’s put this issue on the Master Study resolution and work on it during the interim” only to see hard things put off for another season; left to wait for another year; punted off to a future legislature? By design, it is hard to pass legislation. And by design, it is easier to defeat legislation. This keeps our process healthy. However, sometimes I wonder if we let ourselves get bogged down; intimidated by the process and by the weight of the lift that hard issues present.

Let us not subject ourselves to a Groundhog Day experience where we adjourn Sine Die and think, “I hope we get that big problem solved next time.” Not in this session; and not for the rest we serve together! The reality is that the reform or transformational issues, which were easy to do, have already been done, while the transformational heavy lifting still remains. That’s our job. It’s time to dynamite those boulders in the middle of the field that we’ve been plowing around for years. We are a part-time Legislature and as such, we’ve been fortunate to find among us such tremendous talent and knowledge that I refer to this House as the League of Extraordinary Legislators. The expertise and leadership in this chamber allow us to tackle the most urgent and complex issues that come before us. We don’t need to parade doctors in lab coats, like props, in front of cameras when discussing healthcare policy. We already have physicians, healthcare administrators and insurance executives within our own ranks. Each of these individuals brings a varying perspective to the table as they help guide our policy decisions.

As a state, we’re currently dealing with a number of issues regarding state sovereignty and federal lands. Once again, we can count on our ranchers, resource developers and constitutional experts to inform our legislative deliberations. The state’s economic development prospects are in good hands with our budget experts and economists as well as our bankers, real estate professionals, small business owners, home builders and engineers, just to name a few. Hey, we even have members of the executive branch who realized that to have any real impact they needed to join us here in the House. Our state is no stranger to positive headlines for our innovation and best practices. If there’s a ranking or top ten, identifying which states do things the right way, Utah is always at the top! This recognition doesn’t come by accident. Our fiscal prudence is what has led us here. The Utah motto of “Industry,” emblazoned on our state flag, reminds us of the work ethic and productive fiber that runs through the people of this state and has made us who we are.

The bloated, dysfunctional Washington D.C. beltway could learn a lesson or two from this House. Here, we can’t fire up the printing press and spend money we don’t have. Here in Utah we balance our budgets! This is not a partisan remark. I feel comfortable saying that I could take every member in this chamber, majority as well as minority party, and with absolute certainty know we could walk right in the doors of that U.S. Capitol building and find common ground and make real progress on behalf of those we represent. And we can do the same thing this year in Utah with the challenging issues facing us in this session. One of those transformational issues staring us in the face is Medicaid expansion.

I think I speak for this whole House in a bipartisan way when I say - We oppose an unhealthy Utah. We want to help the person with hemophilia who can't afford medication. We want to help the woman with breast cancer who has no options. We want to help the single father with diabetes who sees his health deteriorate because he can't afford regular treatment. But this is not a simple yes or no issue. Medicaid, as is, continues to take more and more of our state budget. The decision to expand must stand the test of time and the state must keep its commitments. It is with that understanding that the dramatic changes in the rules and the numbers bring us pause. Our Legislative Task Force has been examining this issue and developing solutions for the past two years. Governor Herbert has diligently worked to seek waivers and exemptions to allow us to find solutions for all Utahns and we applaud him for his efforts. We look forward to collaborating together on this issue to find common ground and ultimately develop a solution that best serves the interest of all citizens of our great state.

When it comes to transportation, our funding mechanism is broken and it stopped doing its job long ago. It is up to us to fix it. As one of the fastest growing states in the nation, expecting to double our population by 2040, we must take the lead now to plan for what the future will bring. The structure of our gas tax is failing us in all areas of the state, rural as well as urban. The state gas tax is supposed to fund the upkeep of roads and the building of new infrastructure - but it doesn't. Additionally, we often find ourselves raiding transportation funds to pay for the needs of education during times of shortfall, while in years of surplus we appropriate money for roads that would otherwise fund education. This legislative version of Groundhog Day simply does not work and it is our obligation to fix it now rather than kick this can down the road to a future legislature!

The duty of our office requires us to plan and prepare for the transportation needs of the future, yet the promises to our constituents requires us to guard their precious tax dollars and not accept the simplest approach of just raising the gas tax. In this legislative session we will have the opportunity to reform the funding formula into something that actually makes sense and keeps pace with inflation. If we succeed, it will be truly transformational. And while I can't guarantee an outcome, I can promise you we are ready for the challenge.

Similarly, counties, cities and transit are all confronting ever-increasing demands. They must come together with a unified plan to responsibly address their challenges so we can provide more tools for their toolbox. If they do, all ships will rise. We will help them get there. We have the opportunity to create a multimodal transportation infrastructure that consists of well-planned highways, roads, transit and other alternatives including bikes and trails. This will better prepare us for the future and we will become the envy of other states.

It's difficult to talk about transportation without also talking about clean air. This discussion should no longer pit the environment against businesses and our economy. We can incentivize jobs within our state, while cleaning the air and being good stewards of the environment. Natural gas from the Uintah Basin can be an important component of this solution. Those who want to be part of the solution will learn the legislature can be a great partner. Those who want to rattle sabers or obstruct what is possible will also have lessons to learn.

In 2005, my friend Gov. Jon Huntsman asked if it made business sense to keep putting expensive Band-Aids on that old prison in Draper. Last year, after careful deliberation and years of economic study, we passed a resolution to relocate the state prison. Now comes the heavy lift. Criminal Justice Reform is a critical component of the work we are engaged in. Utah's prison population has grown by 18% since 2004 and nearly half of our inmates released from state prison return within three years. We can better prepare inmates for life upon release. New construction, using state-of-the-art design, will better accommodate modern rehabilitation programs to reduce recidivism. $1.8 billion in new economic activity, generating nearly $100 million in state and local taxes each year, will create an opportunity to finally address the needed reforms and redesign that are long overdue. Finding the right location is hard, and the process has been imperfect; but it is possible and we will do it. The economics are indisputable. The needs for better programming and justice reforms are indisputable. I am proud that we are engaged in such a difficult and vital cause. Doing nothing is not an option.

In most states, property tax is the engine that funds public education. Here in Utah, the federal government controls nearly 70% of our land, leaving us dependent on our state income tax. We know that a strong education system helps bolster our economy, while a strong economy helps bolster our education system. This is why the debates to control our lands, strengthen our education system and stimulate our economy are not mutually exclusive concepts. They are each extremely important and must work hand in hand.

As legislators we need to continue our commitment to strengthen our education system, both traditional and nontraditional public education. For many years, Utah has ranked #1 in the nation in the time our House Members spend in public schools through the NCSL Legislators Back to School program. While the demands on our time seem to be increasing, we must redouble our efforts and spend more time with our kids and our educators. This will help us better understand the challenges and successes happening daily in our schools. Finally, during this difficult time we should harness the passion Speaker Becky Lockhart had for Utah's schoolchildren by embracing the innovation and individualized instruction that technology can deliver. It is time we bring our classrooms into the 21st century and better prepare our children for the jobs of the future.

Fellow representatives: Now is the time to take action, and get to work doing the difficult, but transformative, things that lie ahead. Now is the time to prepare for our future by reforming our broken transportation formula. Now is the time to push back against the federal government and insist that we control our lands, our healthcare and our schools. And now is the time to ensure that our schoolchildren are given the best education possible. We must work together to avoid another legislative version of Groundhog Day. There is no better time than now for us to tackle the difficult but transformational issues that will ensure our state is destined for greatness for the many generations to come.

Now, you might have heard that I like to fight. It might be more accurate to say that I'm not afraid of a good fight. What do I like? I like a good win. But I'm not afraid of these big, hard fights because they truly are good fights. They are important fights. They are potentially transformational fights. It is our duty and obligation to try. It is our promise to do it carefully. And it is our privilege to serve. I look forward to working with you. I look forward to working for you.

God bless America and God bless the greatest state in the union!

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

On motion of Representative Dunnigan, the House voted to have the prayer given by Elder H. David Burton, former Presiding Bishop, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and the remarks given by Speaker Gregory H. Hughes printed upon the pages of the House Journal.

On motion of Representative Francis Gibson, the House voted to authorize the Speaker to appoint a committee to meet with a like committee from the Senate to wait upon the Governor to inform him that the Legislature is organized and ready to receive any communication or message he may have to offer. Speaker Hughes appointed Representatives Gage Froerer, Doug Sagers, and Sandra Hollins.

On motion of Representative Rebecca Chavez-Houck, the House voted to authorize the Speaker to appoint a committee to notify the Senate to inform that Honorable Body that the House is organized and ready to do business. Speaker Hughes appointed Representatives Dan McCay, Lowry Snow, and Brad King.

Durrant of the Supreme Court. Associate Chief Justice Christine M. Durham, Justice Thomas R. Lee, and Justice Jill Parrish were in attendance.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

REMARKS BY CHIEF JUSTICE MATTHEW B. DURRANT

Thank you Speaker Hughes for the privilege of addressing this distinguished body. I am pleased to be joined by Justices Durham, Parrish, and Lee. Justice Nehring is unable to be here. It is one of the great privileges and pleasures of my life to work with four colleagues who are not just exemplary jurists, but also extraordinary people. I would like to make particular note of Justice Nehring's upcoming retirement. He has served this state with distinction both on the trial bench and on our court.

I would also like to take this opportunity to note the tragic passing of Speaker Lockhart. Along with you, we mourn her loss, and wish comfort to her family, her friends, and to you, her colleagues.

Now, in this annual report on the state of Utah's judiciary, I customarily do a good deal of unapologetic bragging about the accomplishments of the judicial branch of government. You see, when you work every day with dedicated, hardworking judges and staff, it's normal to want to share our collective accomplishments. But on this occasion, I thought I would take a different tack and, instead, praise the accomplishments of this, the legislative branch.

This is the thirty-year anniversary of the Utah Constitution's present Judicial Article, an extraordinary legislative achievement. The 1985 amendments to Article VIII of our constitution changed the way judges are selected, retained, disciplined, and governed. It required vision, insight, and the courage to change. We all know that change is not easy. I remember as a young man worrying about the changes an LDS mission might bring to my life, so I approached my father.

"Dad," I said, "I'm just not sure I can go for two years without a date."

"Son," he replied, "You've gone the last two years without one."

Well, things worked out for me, and the revised Judicial Article has worked out for the citizens of Utah in enormously beneficial ways.

It was passed by the house and the senate, and ratified by the people, in 1984. It became effective on July 1, 1985. If I'm not mistaken, there is only one member of this Legislature who was serving when the revised Judicial Article was debated and adopted— Senator Lyle Hillyard. Thirty four years of service to the people of this state certainly warrants special recognition and attention. (Thank you Senator.)

The revised Judicial Article was the product of more than four years' work by the Legislature's Constitutional Revision Commission. In the 1970s, consensus was building that fundamental changes to our state judicial system were needed. The system was fragmented by geography and by court level, and there was no cohesive direction – no rudder, so to speak. The immediate issue was the workload of the Supreme Court, which was among the highest in the country, and the obvious solution to that problem was the creation of an intermediate level appellate court. Yet as this study group looked at the whole judiciary, it was apparent that broader reform was needed. The creation of the Court of Appeals would fix the biggest hole in the ship, but there were others. In hindsight, the vision, creativity and courage to think big shown by the Legislature and the Commission were truly remarkable.

The new Judicial Article, together with its implementing legislation and the subsequent refinements it made possible, effected three basic changes that have enabled our judiciary to become a national model.

First, it created a system for the selection of judges that excises politics from the process and ensures that Utah's judges are picked based exclusively on merit. The amendments to the Judicial Article led to the creation of a non-partisan commission made up of lawyers and non-lawyers that certifies a list of qualified applicants to the governor. The commission does so based upon its own evaluation of the accomplishments of the applicants and upon anonymous critiques of them—by lawyers with whom they have had cases, and judges before whom they have appeared. The governor must choose a nominee from this list of applicants, and that person must be confirmed by the senate. This process serves as a referendum on the applicants' professional reputation. If they have not distinguished themselves in their career, if they have not developed a reputation for hard work, excellence, and integrity, they will not become a judge in Utah. It is a judicial selection process that is as rigorous as can be found in any state in the nation.

Because of this body's foresight in creating this system, our state has now enjoyed a judiciary of uniformly high quality for the last thirty years. The effect has been far-reaching. Not only because a strong judiciary ensures that individuals receive a fair forum for the resolution of their disputes, not only because it ensures that those rights guaranteed by our State and Federal Constitutions will be protected for all, but because a predictable, thoughtful, and stable judiciary is critical to our state's economic success now and in the future.

Second, the revised Judicial Article created a unified system of governance for the judiciary. It established a judicial council that is chaired by the chief justice and consists of representatives of each of the different kinds of courts—appellate, district, juvenile, and justice. It includes representatives who are elected by their colleagues in those courts. It also includes a representative from the bar. In this way, all judges participate in the governance of the judiciary. All have a voice. This is very different from the way in which the judiciary was governed before the Judicial Article was passed. Governance power resided, in a patchwork way, in various district court judges throughout the state. Let me pause to recognize members of the council who are with us today in the gallery.

Our governance process is also very different from that in place in almost every other state and appears to have been created by the commission and the legislature largely out of whole cloth. The fact that our judiciary is governed by a judicial council allows us to speak with one voice. It allows us to move with alacrity in addressing problems as they arise. For instance, in the recent financial crisis we were able to quickly modify our organizational structure and expedite our adoption of e-filing. By doing so we did not just survive the downturn, we flourished, increasing our efficiency and improving our performance during that time. And this while reducing the size of our workforce.

Our unified, state-wide court management system has not only made for a better judiciary. It has also been enormously beneficial to the citizens of our great state. Not every state is so fortunate. There are state judiciaries that have struggled to introduce modern technology, some spending in the hundreds of millions on efforts that ended up being abandoned. One state recently abandoned a one billion-dollar, decade-long initiative to develop an electronic court management system, with nothing to show for it. We on the other hand, have long had a highly efficient, self-designed state-wide case management system. And without any additional appropriation, we have successfully transitioned to an entirely electronic operation in our district and justice courts. Our juvenile and appellate courts will soon be all electronic as well. At present, no other state can make these claims. The difference, I believe, is the ability our judicial council form of governance has given us to plan, prioritize, make difficult decisions, and implement them as a system.

Third, the legislature's foresight in passing the revised Judicial Article was important in one additional respect—it created a balance between judicial independence and judicial accountability. If judges are made too subject to popular sentiment, the people are denied an unbiased arbiter. To the extent that judges are encouraged to have their finger to the wind of popular sentiment, their independence is undermined. And when a judge's independence is undermined, that precious right of all citizens, the right to a neutral forum in which their case can be adjudicated, is threatened. One of our most valued assets is the rule of law. Our judges need the independence necessary to uphold it. Our citizens are entitled to have the law fairly applied to the facts in their case, without regard to how much money they have, the color of their skin, their gender, or any other irrelevant factor.

The Judicial Article, together with its implementing legislation, struck a sensible balance between judicial independence and accountability. The vision of the commission and the legislature included several accountability mechanisms. Complaints against judges in our state can be filed with the Judicial Conduct Commission. This is an independent body created under the Judicial Article. The commission is required to be politically balanced and also to include lawyers and non-lawyers. It investigates every complaint made against a judge and, where warranted, makes recommendations for discipline to the supreme court. These recommendations range from informal reprimands up to removal from the bench.

In addition, as a result of the Judicial Article and subsequent legislation it made possible, judges are evaluated by another commission, the Judicial Performance Evaluation Commission. This, again, is bipartisan and includes lawyers and non-lawyers. This commission surveys lawyers who have appeared before judges. It also surveys staff, jurors, and others. Then, based on these anonymous responses and other information, the commission evaluates judges prior to each retention election. These evaluations are published and disseminated in a variety of ways, including social media, so that voters can make informed decisions in voting for judges.

So in Utah, even though judges periodically stand for retention elections, they are not subject to partisan political elections. In other states where judges do run in political elections, some supreme court candidates raise millions of campaign dollars. This money is often contributed to judges by the very corporations that will have cases before them and by the very lawyers and law firms that will be appearing before them. This kind of a system is inimical to the fair administration of justice and to a healthy business environment. In providing for the evaluation of judges by a nonpartisan commission, and making them subject to retention elections, rather than to political elections, Utah's legislature has done the public a great service.

For all of these reasons, I want to thank you, the legislative branch, for the revised Judicial Article and for the many other wise and forward-thinking decisions you have made.

Now finally, I would like to address three issues you will have before you in this legislative session that I believe could have a profound effect on the administration of justice in our great state. First, the Justice Reinvestment Initiative. At the request of Governor Herbert, then Speaker Lockhart, President Niederhouser, Attorney General Reyes, and myself, the Commission on Criminal and Juvenile Justice conducted a comprehensive study of our criminal justice system. The Commission's report details a variety of evidenced-based recommendations designed to make Utah a safer place through reducing recidivism. Ninety-eight percent of those who are sent by our courts either to jail or prison will at some point get out. When they then become productive, contributing, law-abiding members of society, our state is a better and safer place. On the other hand, when, upon their release, they return to their criminal ways, our state is diminished and our citizens made less safe. It is clear that the single most important thing we can do to break this cycle, to reduce recidivism, to ensure that when offenders are released they stay released, is to provide them with appropriate treatment, whether substance abuse or mental health treatment. And for many, treatment, rather than prison, is the better alternative in the first instance. In fact, for some, prison may do more harm than good. And it is important that valuable prison beds be available for those, especially violent offenders, for whom prison is the appropriate sanction.

As a district court judge I was amazed at how often the defendant appearing before me had some underlying drug or alcohol problem. The effect of drug and alcohol abuse on crime in our state and throughout the country cannot be overstated. The consensus estimate is that eighty percent of all crimes involve some underlying drug or alcohol problem. Based on my own experience, that number seems about right.

We have seen great success with our drug courts. We design these courts for high-risk, high-need offenders. This means they have a high risk of re-offending and have a high need for treatment. Our drug courts are not designed for first-time offenders. But we have a troubling problem—we don't have enough treatment slots available to admit every defendant who qualifies. We estimate that more than fifty percent of those who would otherwise qualify for drug court cannot be admitted because, without our being able to provide them with treatment, there is no point to the drug court process. We also routinely include treatment as a part of sentences in many cases outside the drug court context as well, but how effective is that sentence if treatment is not available? One area in which we do have ample treatment resources concerns those who have given so much to defend our freedom—our veterans. Fortunately, the treatment services available through the Veteran's Administration are available to all veterans, and we have seized on this opportunity to create two Veteran's Treatment Courts in Utah. Just three weeks ago, Judge Royal Hanson in Salt Lake and Judge Sam McVey in Provo began presiding over these courts, and as we speak, service members involved in the criminal justice system in these communities are getting the combination of supervision, treatment, and respect that research tells us works, and that befits those who have put their lives on the line for us. They deserve no less.

This is why I urge this legislature to provide adequate resources to ensure that all offenders who need drug or alcohol treatment, or mental health treatment, can receive it. If this is done, as the Justice Reinvestment Initiative recommends, Utah will not only be a better place, but a safer place.

It is not my place to address the political aspects of the Governor's proposals with respect to funding in general, but the link between our role as sentencing judges, the reforms recommended by the Justice Reinvestment Initiative, and Healthy Utah, or something like it, are clear. From the courts' perspective, the most important thing we can do to reduce recidivism and increase public safety is to provide necessary drug and alcohol treatment. And to do that we need treatment resources.

Second, you will be considering legislation sponsored by Senator Bramble that would add a juvenile court judge to the fourth district (Utah, Wasatch, Juab, and Millard counties) and a bill sponsored by Senator Urquhart that would add a district court judge to the fifth district (Washington, Iron, and Beaver counties). Workloads have reached a point in these districts where our ability to resolve cases on a timely basis for the citizens of these counties is threatened. I would urge you to pass the necessary legislation to create these two judgeships.

Now finally, your Elected Officials and Judicial Compensation Commission has put before you another resource issue—that of judicial compensation. The Commission has recommended a salary increase for judges to be implemented over the next two years. This legislative commission studied the issue extensively over the summer, and I commend their report and their recommendations to you. Now it obviously has the air of self-interest for me to stand before you and say “amen” to the committee’s recommendations. But I genuinely believe it is in the best interests of the citizens of this state as well. You see, we have been very fortunate since the passage of the Judicial Article to have been able to attract high-quality, talented, and thoughtful judges. But we are seeing dwindling applicant pools. Fortunately, to date, the Governor has been able to find at least one qualified applicant for each position that has come open. But to have the best judiciary, the kind of judiciary that the citizens of this state deserve, he needs a broader array of qualified applicants from which to choose.

Those who seek to become judges do so to serve the public, to give something back. For these reasons, they are willing to serve at a financial sacrifice. But compensation remains important to attracting the best people. Because our criminal cases have decreased and our civil cases have increased in recent years, it is especially important that we be able to attract successful practitioners from the private sector who have experience in commercial and business law. The commission’s compensation goal is to maintain the kind of judiciary that will not only continue to protect the rights of individuals and provide them a neutral forum, but will also be stable, predictable, and sophisticated in a way that creates an attractive business environment. I am proud that we in the judiciary have been responsible stewards of the public’s money. I hope you will agree and give careful consideration to the Commission’s recommendations and the other request I have discussed.

In conclusion, allow me to return to my original observation that change is not easy, and to again acknowledge and thank this body for its foresight and courage 30 years ago in advancing to the voters a model judicial article. And in that spirit, I encourage you to again think expansively as you consider the proposals for criminal justice reform before you.

Finally, as chief justice and as a citizen of this state, I would like to sincerely thank you for your dedicated service. We as a judiciary are proud to participate with you and with the governor in serving those who call Utah home.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

On motion of Representative Dunnigan, and at 12:10 p.m., the House voted to adjourn until January 29, 2015, at 11:00 a.m.

JOINT CONVENTION

President Wayne Niederhauser called the Joint Convention of the Legislature to order at 6:15 p.m. in the Chamber of the Utah House of Representatives and recognized Greg Hughes, Speaker of the House.

President Niederhauser announced that a quorum of the House of Representatives and the Senate was present.

President Niederhauser appointed a Joint Committee comprised of Senators Ralph Okerlund, Stuart Adams, and Karen Mayne, and Representatives Jim Dunnigan, Francis Gibson, and Brian King to notify Governor Gary R. Herbert that the 2015 General Session of the Sixty-First Legislature is in Joint Convention and ready to hear his State-of-the-State address.

President Niederhauser acknowledged special guests and elected and appointed officials in attendance at the Joint Convention.

Senator Ralph Okerlund made a motion that the Legislature resolve into a Joint Convention and Committee of the Whole for the purpose of hearing Governor Herbert's State-of-the-State address.

The Joint Committee escorted Governor Herbert to the House rostrum.

STATE-OF-THE-STATE ADDRESS
BY GOVERNOR GARY R. HERBERT

Speaker Hughes, President Niederhauser, members of the Legislature, Lt. Governor and Mrs. Cox, Utah's First Lady, my wife Jeanette, and my fellow Utahns

I am pleased to join with you to report on the state of our state, though I do so with a heavy heart because of the recent loss of former House Speaker Becky Lockhart. She will be remembered as a talented legislator, a strong leader and as a dedicated public servant who made history as the first woman to preside over the Utah House of Representatives.

Our state is a better place because of her work in this chamber. On behalf of all Utahns, I express my condolences to her family, including her husband, Stan, and her daughter Hannah who are here with us tonight.

This year marks the 70th anniversary of the end of World War II. During that conflict, millions of Americans served and 407,000 gave their lives to defend our freedoms and safeguard the torch of liberty.

Today, we call these veterans "America's Greatest Generation." They weathered the Great Depression and fought and won the most consequential war the world has ever seen.

One of them is Casey Kunimura of North Ogden. He and other Americans of Japanese heritage served in the most decorated U.S. military unit in history, the Army's 442nd Regimental Combat Team.

We are privileged this evening to have with us Master Sergeant Kunimura and his wife Dorothy.

Our World War II generation met the challenges of their time. While many served abroad, Utahns on the home front bought war bonds, planted victory gardens, and donated materials needed for the war effort. Everyone worked and sacrificed together to secure victory.

Now, I would like to introduce you to some other very special guests – students from Mountain View Elementary in Salt Lake City, accompanied by Principal Kenneth Limb and Assistant Principal Jennifer Mayer-Glenn.

Just as our World War II veterans showed extraordinary valor in becoming America's Greatest Generation of the 20th century, these students symbolize the potential of youth all across Utah to become the Greatest Generation of the 21st century.

Progress is never easy. The challenges are complex. But each of us has a role to play and must do our part. I reach out to you tonight with a renewed spirit of collaboration and a steadfast resolve. We will do the hard things. We will also do the right things. And we will be the problem-solvers in this difficult era of political gridlock and divisiveness.

Our state's growing economy has us in a good position to invest in the rising generation. Our revenue is up, our job growth is up, and our unemployment rate is down to 3 1/2 percent.

When I stood before you in 2012, we set a goal to create 100,000 private sector jobs in 1,000 days. When our 1,000 days were up, not only did we meet our goal, but we exceeded it by more than 10 percent, creating more than 112,000 jobs. That is 112,000 Utahns—our friends and our neighbors—who can now work toward achieving their goals and realizing their dreams.

We also saved taxpayer dollars by making government more efficient. I have charged every state agency with improving performance by 25 percent and—Good News!—we are on track to hit that target.

As a state we are living within our means and setting aside money for unforeseen challenges that may lie ahead. Today, we have fewer state employees per resident than we did 15 years ago. We have approximately $470 million in the Rainy Day Fund, which is more than we had before the Great Recession. And we concluded the 2014 fiscal year with a revenue surplus of $166 million.

Economic recovery has been our top priority for the past six years. Thanks to the good work of you in the Legislature and businesses in the private sector, Utah is nationally recognized today as the home of one of the strongest and most diverse economies in America.

As a result, we now have the ability to invest in important areas that will drive our economy for decades to come. None of these areas is more important to Utah's continued success than education.

Many things are going well in our schools. We applaud the work of teachers who have helped make Utah number one in ACT scores among states where all students take the exam. Teachers also helped Utah 8th-graders rank in the Top 10 in science both nationally and internationally.

It is also worth noting that the U.S. Chamber of Commerce calls Utah's education system the best return on investment of any state in the nation.

As you have heard me say before: "Education is not all about the money, but it is some about the money."

We have the means to increase our education investment by approximately $500 million in new money. That would be the largest true increase in student funding for public education in 25 years, raising the total of new money going to education over the past four years to $1.3 billion. This session we should continue our collective efforts to give our students and teachers the financial support that they need to succeed.

As important as funding education is, it is even more important to make each and every dollar count by setting benchmarks for what we will achieve with that investment.

Yogi Berra said, "If you don't know where you are going, you'll end up someplace else."

I am working with elected officials, education leaders and other stakeholders to develop a comprehensive 10-year education plan so we know where we are going and we end up exactly where we want to be. This plan will allow us to better connect the money we invest to improved outcomes for all students, and provide greater academic achievement. Part of that plan is for Utah to become a Top 10 state in graduation rates, ACT scores, and in math and in literacy.

There is also a need for a more robust discussion in our schools about the founding principles of this country. Our students must understand the importance of the United States Constitution, our free market economy and the responsibility we all share as Utahns and as Americans to participate in the democratic process. We need to understand the sacrifices of past generations that have made America great. Our young people must learn those lessons and never, ever forget them.

Local school administrators and their boards know more about the needs of their students than anyone. As champions for local control, we should not only ensure that they have the resources they need, but we should empower them to apply those dollars where they are needed the most.

Whether that means raising teacher salaries, hiring more teachers to reduce class sizes, investing in more technology, increasing the number of guidance counselors, or addressing a variety of other high priority needs—with appropriate accountability measures in place, local school districts and charter schools should be in control of those decisions.

As we continue to step up our investment in education, we must not sidestep our commitment to the principle of local control.

Next week I will join with Attorney General Sean Reyes and others to deliver a report to the state school board reaffirming that our state is now, and always will be, in control of every aspect of our education system. Rest assured, we will assert our rights to exercise local control over what we teach and how we teach it.

We will never back away from the challenge that every state in America faces today—the constant overreach of the federal government. If states fail to stand up and speak out for our right to self-determination, we will lose that right to an ever-expanding federal bureaucracy.

Washington really does believe that “one-size-fits-all;” they really do believe that a Washington bureaucrat knows better than a Utah parent or a Utah teacher; and they really do believe that the federal government can manage our affairs more efficiently than we can here in our home state.

They believe it. I don’t believe it. And I know you don’t believe it, either. This principle of self-determination not only applies to education; it applies equally to health care and to the management of our public lands.

I believe that the Affordable Care Act is a deeply flawed and unacceptable piece of legislation. But short of the opportunity to “repeal and replace,” which I would endorse, we have but one option—to make some kind of lemonade out the lemons we have been given.

That is why we created Healthy Utah. It is a plan that respects our own taxpayers, promotes individual responsibility and supports private markets. As complex as this issue is, there are three main reasons why Healthy Utah is a responsible solution.

First, the Affordable Care Act—which is the law of the land—requires Utahns to pay almost $800 million in new taxes each year. The choice before us is stark: we can either watch our hard-earned tax dollars remain on the table in Washington, D.C., primarily benefiting other states, or we can bring back a significant amount of our own money to Utah to be spent on Utahns. When it comes to expanding health coverage for uninsured Utahns, accepting the benefits is optional, but paying the taxes is mandatory.

Second, Healthy Utah will help fix the problem of nearly 100,000 people who too often use our health care system in the most inefficient and expensive ways. It’s better to give them access to private health insurance rather than have them continue to receive their health care in emergency rooms. Because, when this happens, the quality of our health care goes down and the costs go up for everyone.

Third, Healthy Utah addresses the health care needs of our citizens while respecting core Utah values. Chief among these are self-reliance and the dignity of work. We can connect people in need of health insurance with programs proven to help them improve their employment, putting them on a path to self-reliance.

Now I know this is a challenging issue. But I also recognize we have been elected by the people to resolve the tough issues and to resolve them together. I don't support the Affordable Care Act, but it's the hand we have been dealt.

Unfortunately, we cannot prevent billions of Utah taxpayer dollars from being sent to Washington, D.C., but I applaud both President Niederhauser and Speaker Hughes for wisely acknowledging that "doing nothing is not an option." I pledge to work with them, and with all of you, to make sure that we do the right thing—together—for the people of Utah.

We must also stand up to federal overreach when it comes to our public lands. Utah is, and will always be, a public lands state. The question is, who will manage our public lands most effectively—the best-managed state in America, or the federal government that is 18 trillion dollars in debt? The answer is obvious.

I strongly support the Public Lands Initiative championed by Congressmen Rob Bishop and Jason Chaffetz. I will continue to work shoulder-to-shoulder with our federal delegation and interested Utahns to resolve our public lands issues.

Utahns are significantly impacted by federal decisions concerning our public lands, and Utahns must have a strong voice and role in managing those lands. We value our partnership with the federal government in areas of shared responsibility, but we will never be content to be a silent or a junior partner.

In that regard, the state also needs to stand up and speak out to ensure that our most precious religious liberties are protected. I firmly believe that, to protect the personally held values of people on all sides of this issue, any advancement of non-discrimination legislation should be coupled with legislation to safeguard protections to religious freedom.

I am confident that, as elected officials, we can work together with religious, business and civic leaders, as well as the LGBT community, to develop policies that treat all people with dignity and respect.

As a result of our abundant economic opportunity and our enviable quality of life, Utah is now among the fastest-growing states in America. Our population is expected to double by 2060. Our task is to take advantage of the opportunities that come with growth, while addressing the challenges that growth presents.

In transportation, for example, maintaining our existing roads and building new ones to accommodate a growing population will cost tens of billions of dollars. While we have sufficient funding for all the road projects currently planned, projections show that our current revenue sources fall $11 billion short of what will be required for our long-term state transportation needs.

I look forward to working with you in the Legislature this session to address this important issue. The time to have a meaningful discussion about long-term solutions to our transportation funding is now.

This is also the year to pass meaningful corrections and criminal justice reform.

We have one of the lowest incarceration rates in the country; unfortunately, it's still too high. Part of the problem is that nearly half of all Utah inmates return to prison within three years of release. We can change these results, but not without meaningful reforms. Representative Eric Hutchings and Senator Stuart Adams are leading this effort. This is about more than simply building a new prison; this is about rebuilding lives.

Nothing is more fundamental to our quality of life in Utah than the water we drink and the air we breathe. Without them, there is no life and there is no economy.

Stakeholders across our state are working diligently to ensure that we will have enough water to support our growing population. Doing so will require us to conserve more water, to invest more in our water infrastructure and to develop future water sources in fiscally and environmentally responsible ways.

Air quality has long been an issue in Utah—even predating our statehood. Today, our efforts to improve Utah's air quality are making a positive difference. Over the past decade, we have added 350,000 people along the Wasatch Front while, at the same time, decreasing our total emissions by 35 percent.

When I addressed you a year ago, I called for an accelerated transition to cleaner Tier 3 fuels and automobiles. I have since met with the top executives of our refineries and received commitments that they will work toward producing these fuels ahead of the federal deadline. We are also working to expedite the arrival of Tier 3 vehicles to our state.

We further required business and industry to install stringent new emission controls, and we enacted 31 new state rules to reduce pollution. As a result, business is investing hundreds of millions of dollars in new technology to help clean our air.

While thoughtful regulation is an important tool for improving air quality, I recognize its potential to adversely impact individuals and small businesses. To ease such impacts, we have allocated $1.3 million in grant money through the Air Assist program to help small businesses cut emissions. And I am working with Representative Stephen Handy to reintroduce a bill to invest $20 million to replace old school buses with cleaner, lower-emission models.

I thank you in the Legislature who championed the eight air-quality bills I proudly signed last year. You helped lead the charge to do more to improve air quality than any previous Legislature on record.

Like you, I have always been a strong advocate of open and honest government.

I am working with Representative Mike McKell, Senator Deidre Henderson and Attorney General Sean Reyes to bring forward a proposal this session that would create a new office of Inspector General -- one that will act as an independent entity to elevate and ensure the highest levels of ethics and official conduct in state government. Ensuring the highest standards of open, honest government must always be our top priority.

These are just some of the challenges we must overcome if our young people are to reach their potential to become the Greatest Generation of the 21st century.

Our distinguished World War II veterans, like Master Sergeant Kunimura, stood together to withstand one of the greatest evils the world has ever known. And all across the country, Utahns and other Americans united to work and to stand with them.

Sadly, 70 years later, much of America is mired in political gridlock. Divisiveness too often characterizes our national political discourse and petty partisanship too often trumps common sense and the common good.

In Utah, I'm proud we do things differently. We have a history of setting aside our differences and working together to accomplish extraordinary things.

For example, many settlers during America's 19th-century push west did little for those who would come after them. On the other hand, Utah's pioneers labored to ease the way of those who would follow in their footsteps.

They removed obstacles on the trail; they built bridges and rafts that later settlers could use to cross rivers; and they planted crops for others to harvest. They understood the concept of the Greek proverb, which says: “A society grows great when people plant trees in whose shade they know they shall never sit.”

More than 165 years later, we are still a people who work together to solve problems and ease the passage for those who follow in our footsteps.

The state of our state is exceptionally strong, but not without significant challenge. We can make it stronger by investing and working together to ensure an even brighter tomorrow for the “Greatest Generation” yet to come.

Our World War II generation is passing the torch to us. They rose to the challenges of their time. It is incumbent upon us to rise and meet the challenges of our time, and to pave the way for our children and our grandchildren to meet theirs.

This is our time! This is our charge! This is our moment! May God bless us all in this endeavor, may God bless America, and may God continue to bless the Great State of Utah and her people.

143 (4) A vice chair may perform the duties of a chair:

144 (a) as requested by the chair; or

145 (b) in the absence of the chair.

(5) The chair, or the vice chair as authorized under Subsection (4), may designate a member of the committee to conduct a standing committee meeting when neither the chair nor the vice chair are able to attend a meeting.

(6) A committee member designated under Subsection (5) may conduct a committee meeting but may not perform the duties of a chair described in HR3-2-302 and HR3-2-303.

2. Page 8, Lines 215 through 220:

215 (3) During the presentation phase of a standing committee meeting, the chair shall:

216 (a) permit the chief {~~House~~} sponsor or {~~chief Senate sponsor~~} the legislator designated by the chief sponsor to be the floor sponsor in the opposite house to present the chief sponsor's

217 legislation; and

218 (b) except as provided in Subsection (4), and at the election of a legislative sponsor,

219 permit persons who have expertise on the legislation to assist with the presentation as provided 220 in HR3-2-304.

3. Page 14, Lines 403 through 411:

403 (1) A standing committee may recommend that legislation in its possession be placed 404 on the consent calendar if:

405 (a) the committee approves a motion, by a unanimous vote, that the legislation be read

406 a second time and placed on the third reading calendar;

407 (b) immediately subsequent to that action, the chief sponsor requests that the 408 legislation be placed on the consent calendar; {~~and~~}

409 (c) in a separate motion and vote, the committee unanimously approves the sponsor's

410 request to place the legislation on the consent calendar instead of the second or third reading

411 calendar {~~---~~}; and

(d) the legislation does not have a fiscal note of $10,000 or more.

2. Page 10, Lines 281 through 285:

281 (b) Upon the receipt of public assistance, any right of the recipient to receive support
 282 from another person passes to the {~~—~~} state, {~~—~~} { ~~department~~ } including a right to support on behalf of 283 any family member for whom the recipient is applying for or receiving assistance, even if the 284 [~~client~~] recipient has not executed and delivered an assignment of support to the [~~division~~]

285 department as required by Subsection (1)(a).

3. Page 10, Lines 289 through 296:

289 (2) An assignment of support, or a ~~[passing of rights under~~ Subsection (1)(b)] right to 290 receive support passed to the {~~department~~} state .

 includes payments ordered, decreed, or adjudged by 291 ~~[any]~~ a court within this state, ~~[any other]~~ another state, or a territory of the United States and is 292 not in lieu of, and does not supersede or alter, any other court order, decree, or judgment.

293 (3) When an assignment of support is executed or the right to support passes to the 294 {~~department~~} state under [Subsection (1)(b), ~~the~~ ~~applicant or client~~] this section, the recipient is 295 eligible to regular monthly assistance and the support paid to the [division] {~~department~~} state is a

296 refund.

4. Page 10, Line 300 through Page 11, Line 311:

300 (5) {~~—~~} On {~~—~~} {~~Except for support already~~ received by the department, on} and after the date a 301 {~~family~~} recipient stops receiving cash assistance, an assignment of support under [Subsection (1)] this 302 section does not apply to [any] support that accrued before the {~~family~~} recipient received [such] the cash

303 assistance [if the department has not collected the support by the date the family stops

304 receiving cash assistance, if the assignment is executed on or after October 1, 1998] {~~—~~} if:

(a) the state has not collected the support by the date the recipient stops receiving cash assistance; and

(b) the assignment was executed on or after October 1, 1998.

305 (6) The {~~department~~} state shall distribute {~~—~~} arrearages {~~—~~} {~~overdue or unpaid amounts~~} to 306 [~~families~~] a recipient in accordance with the requirements of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C.

307 Sec. 657.

308 (7) [~~The total amount of~~] When an assignment of support includes child support, {~~the~~

309 ~~department may not collect more~~} the total amount of child support [~~assigned to the department and collected~~]

310 {~~payments~~} assigned to the state and collected under this section {~~it~~} may not exceed {~~it~~} {~~than~~} the total amount of cash assistance

311 {~~it~~} received by the recipient {~~it~~} {~~provided to the recipient~~} .

97 (ii) not more than 45 nor less than 14 days ~~[prior to]~~ before the due date of the renewal 98 premium, the insurer delivers or sends by first-class mail a notice to the policyholder at the 99 policyholder's last-known address, clearly stating:
 100 (A) the renewal premium;
 101 (B) how the renewal premium may be paid, including the due date for payment of the 102 renewal premium; ~~[and]~~
 103 (C) that failure to pay the renewal premium ~~[by the due date]~~ extinguishes the 104 policyholder's right to renewal; and 105 (D) subject to Subsection (4)(e), that the extinguishment of the right to renew for nonpayment of premium is 106 effective no sooner than at least 10 days after delivery or first class mailing of a written notice to the 107 policyholder that the policyholder has failed to pay the premium when due;

2. Page 4, Line 116:

116 (d) Failure to renew under this Subsection (4) is subject to Subsection (5).
(e)(i) During the period that begins when the notice described in Subsection (4)(b)(ii)(D) is delivered or mailed and ends when the premium is paid, coverage exists and premiums are due.
(ii) If after receiving the notice required by Subsection (4)(b)(ii)(D) a policyholder fails to pay the renewal premium, the coverage is extinguished as of the date the renewal premium is originally due.
(iii) Delivery of the notice required by Subsection (4)(b)(ii)(D) includes electronic delivery in accordance with Section 31A-21-316.
(iv) An insurer is not subject to Subsection (4)(b)(ii)(D) if it provides notice of the extinguishment of the right to renew for failure to pay premium at least 15 days, but no longer than 45 days, before the day the renewal payment is due.
(v) Subsection (4)(b)(ii)(D) does not apply to a policy that provides coverage for 30 days or less.

Section 202. Section 76-6-206 is amended to read:

76-6-206. Criminal trespass.

(1) As used in this section, "enter" means intrusion of the entire body.

(2) A person is guilty of criminal trespass if, under circumstances not amounting to burglary as defined in Section 76-6-202, 76-6-203, or 76-6-204 or a violation of Section 76-10-2402 regarding commercial obstruction:

(a) the person enters or remains unlawfully on property and:

(i) intends to cause annoyance or injury to any person or damage to any property, including the use of graffiti as defined in Section 76-6-107;

(ii) intends to commit any crime, other than theft or a felony; or

(iii) is reckless as to whether his presence will cause fear for the safety of another;

(b) knowing the person's entry or presence is unlawful, the person enters or remains on property as to which notice against entering is given by:

(i) personal communication to the actor by the owner or someone with apparent authority to act for the owner;

(ii) fencing or other enclosure obviously designed to exclude intruders; or

(iii) posting of signs reasonably likely to come to the attention of intruders; or

(c) the person enters a condominium unit in violation of Subsection 57-8-7(8).

(3) (a) A violation of Subsection (2)(a) or (b) is a class B misdemeanor unless it was committed in a dwelling, in which event it is a class A misdemeanor.

(b) A violation of Subsection (2)(c) is an infraction.

(4) It is a defense to prosecution under this section that:

- (a) the property was at the time open to the public ~~{-when the actor entered or remained-}~~ ; and
- (b) ~~{-the actor's conduct did not substantially interfere with the owner's use of the property-}~~ the actor complied with all lawful conditions imposed on access to or remaining on the property .

Renumber remaining sections accordingly.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

On motion of Representative Dunnigan, the House voted to strike the enacting clause on all Senate and House bills and resolutions remaining on the House and Senate calendars and with the House Rules Committee.

On motion of Representative Dunnigan, the House authorized the Speaker to appoint a committee to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the House of Representatives has finished its business and is prepared to adjourn sine die. Speaker Hughes appointed Representatives Val Peterson, Eric Hutchings, and Marie Poulson.

On motion of Representative Brian King, the House authorized the Speaker to appoint a committee to notify the Senate and inform that Honorable Body that the House of Representatives has completed its business and is prepared to adjourn sine die. Speaker Hughes appointed Representatives Mike McKell, Sophia DiCaro, and Brad King.

Speaker Hughes directed Sandy Tenney to read, revise and make minor corrections to the daily House Journals and be responsible for certifying the indexed and bound copy as the accurate record of the proceedings of the 2015 General Session of the Sixty-first Legislature.

Senators Osmond, Henderson, and Iwamoto formally notified the House of Representatives that the Senate had completed its business and was prepared to adjourn sine die.

Representative McKell informed the House of Representatives that his committee, with a like committee from the Senate, has notified the Governor that the Legislature has completed its business and is prepared to adjourn sine die.

Representative V. Peterson informed the House of Representatives that his committee has waited upon the Senate and informed them that the House of Representatives has completed its business and is prepared to adjourn sine die.

Governor Gary R. Herbert addressed the House of Representatives.

On motion of Representative Dunnigan, the 2015 General Session of the Sixty-first Legislature adjourned sine die.
