[26] (4) "Medical emergency" means that condition which, on the basis of the physician's good faith clinical judgment, so threatens the life of a pregnant woman as to necessitate the immediate abortion of her pregnancy to avert her death, or for which a delay will create serious risk of substantial and irreversible impairment of major bodily function.

(i) deliberately and intentionally vaginally delivers a living fetus until, in the case of a head first presentation, the entire fetal head is outside the body of the mother, or, in the case of breech presentation, any part of the fetal trunk past the navel is outside the body of the mother, for the purpose of performing an overt act that the person knows will kill the partially delivered living fetus; and

Legislative Review Note

The Utah Legislature's Joint Rule 4-2-402 requires legislative general counsel to place a legislative review note on legislation. The Legislative Management Committee has further directed legislative general counsel to include legal analysis in the legislative review note only if legislative general counsel determines there is a high probability that a court would declare the legislation to be unconstitutional under the Utah Constitution, the United States Constitution, or both. As explained in the legal analysis below, legislative general counsel has determined, based on applicable state and federal constitutional language and current interpretations of that language in state and federal court case law, that this legislation has a high probability of being declared unconstitutional by a court.

This bill prohibits the abortion of an unborn child if the pregnant mother's sole reason for seeking the abortion is because the unborn child has or may have Down syndrome.

The U.S. Supreme Court has recognized the competing interests of the state’s desire to "protect . . . the life of the fetus that may become a child" and a mother’s right "to choose to have an abortion." Planned Parenthood v. Casey, 505 U.S. 833, 846 (1992). Analyzing these competing interests, the Court determined that "viability" is "the point at which the balance of interests tips." Id. at 861. Accordingly, "viability marks the earliest point at which the State's interest in fetal life is constitutionally adequate to justify a legislative ban on nontherapeutic abortions." Id. at 860. Prior to a fetus's viability, outside of the womb, "[a] State may not prohibit any woman from making the ultimate decision to terminate her pregnancy." Id. at 879; see also Roe v. Wade, 410 U.S. 113, 163–65 (1973); Gonzales v. Carhart, 550 U.S. 124, 146 (2007); Whole Woman's Health v. Hellerstedt, 136 S. Ct. 2292, 2299, 195 L. Ed. 2d 665 (2016), as revised (June 27, 2016). Since Roe was decided in 1973 and was reaffirmed by Casey in 1992, "circuit courts have consistently held that any type of outright ban on pre-viability abortions is unconstitutional." Planned Parenthood of Indiana and Kentucky v. Commissioner, No. 1:16–cv–00763–TWP–DML, 2017 WL 4224750, at *6 (S.D. Ind. Sept. 22, 2017) (holding that prior to viability, a State cannot restrict a woman from exercising her right to choose an abortion, regardless of the reason for her choice).

The United States District Court for the Southern District of Indiana adjudicated a constitutional challenge of an Indiana statute that created a similar abortion ban to the ban proposed by this legislation. Id. at *1. That court determined that Roe and its progeny create a "categorical" right for a pregnant woman to obtain an abortion prior to the fetus's viability, regardless of whether the woman exercises that right because she does not want a baby or because she wants a baby but not a particular baby. Id. at *7. At this time, no court has held to Assuming a court follows and applies the United States Supreme Court holdings and reasoning from Roe and its progeny, there is a high probability that the court would find the proposed legislation unconstitutional because the legislation violates current case law establishing a woman's constitutional right to a nontherapeutic previability abortion.
