288 (iii) there is probable cause that the conduct that led to a violation of parole or 289 probation is:

290 (A) a violent felony as defined in Section 76-3-203.5; or

291 (B) a qualifying domestic violence offense as defined in Subsection 77-36-1.1\(4\) that 292 is not a criminal mischief offense.

293 (b) In cases where the department desires to detain an offender alleged to have violated
294 his parole or probation and where it is unlikely that the Board of Pardons and Parole or court
295 will conduct a hearing within a reasonable time to determine if the offender has violated his 296 conditions of parole or probation, the department shall hold an administrative hearing within a 297 reasonable time, unless the hearing is waived by the parolee or probationer, to determine if 298 there is probable cause to believe that a violation has occurred.

299 (c) If there is a conviction for a crime based on the same charges as the probation or 300 parole violation, or a finding by a federal or state court that there is probable cause to believe
301 that an offender has committed a crime based on the same charges as the probation or parole
302 violation, the department need not hold an administrative hearing.

303 (2) The appropriate officer or officers of the department shall, as soon as practical
304 following the department's administrative hearing, report to the court or the Board of Pardons

305 and Parole, furnishing a summary of the hearing, and may make recommendations regarding 306 the disposition to be made of the parolee or probationer.

307 (3) (a) Pending any proceeding under this section for a violation of probation or parole,
308 the department:

309 (i) except as provided in Subsection (3)(b), may take custody of and detain the parolee
310 or probationer [involved] who committed the violation for a period not to exceed 72 hours

313 led to the violation is an offense described in Subsection (1)(a)(iii), shall take custody of and 314 detain the parolee or probationer who committed the violation for a period not to exceed 72
315 hours excluding weekends and holidays.

316 (b) The 72-hour period described in this Subsection (3) is reduced by the amount of 317 time a probationer or parolee is detained under Subsection 17-22-5.5(6).

318 (4) In cases where probationers are supervised by a local law enforcement agency, the
319 agency may take custody of and detain the probationer involved for a period not to exceed 72
320 hours excluding weekends and holidays if:

321 (a) the probationer commits a major violation or repeated violations of probation;

322 (b) it is unlikely that the court will conduct a hearing within a reasonable time to 323 determine if the offender has violated the conditions of probation; and

324 (c) the law enforcement agency conducts an administrative hearing within a reasonable
325 time to determine if there is probable cause to believe the offender has violated the conditions
326 of probation, unless the hearing is waived by the probationer.

327 (5) If the requirements for Subsection (4) are met, the local law enforcement agency
328 shall ensure the proper court is notified.

329 (6) If the hearing officer determines that there is probable cause to believe that the 330 offender has violated the conditions of the offender's parole or probation, the department may 331 detain the offender for a reasonable period of time after the hearing or waiver, as necessary to 332 arrange for the incarceration of the offender. A written order of the department is sufficient
333 authorization for any peace officer to incarcerate the offender. The department may promulgate
334 rules for the implementation of this section.

335 (7) A written order from the local law enforcement agency is sufficient authorization

336 for any peace officer to incarcerate the offender if:

337 (a) the probationers are supervised by a local law enforcement agency; and

338 (b) the appropriate officer or officers determine that there is probable cause to believe 339 that the offender has violated the conditions of probation.

340 (8) If a probationer supervised by a local law enforcement agency commits a violation 341 outside of the jurisdiction of the supervising agency, the arresting agency is not required to 342 hold or transport the probationer for the supervising agency.

343 Section 6. Section 77-18-103 is amended to read:

349 investigation report from the department [~~or information from other sources~~], a law
350 enforcement agency, or any other source about the defendant; and

351 (b) if the defendant is convicted of a felony or a class A misdemeanor, request that the 352 department or a law enforcement agency prepare a presentence investigation report for the 353 defendant.

365 in the custody of the jail and the number of days, if any, the defendant was released to a
366 supervised release program or an alternative incarceration program under Section 17-22-5.5.

374 and

375 (B) the court may grant an additional 10 working days after the day on which the 376 alleged inaccuracy is brought to the court's attention to allow the parties and the department to 377 resolve the alleged inaccuracy in the presentence investigation report.

378 (ii) If the court does not grant additional time under Subsection (4)(a)(i)(B), or the 379 alleged inaccuracy cannot be resolved after 10 working days, and if the court finds that there is 380 an inaccuracy in the presentence investigation report, the court shall:

381 (A) enter a written finding as to the relevance and accuracy of the challenged portion of 382 the presentence investigation report; and

383 (B) provide the written finding to the Division of Adult Probation and Parole or the 384 law enforcement agency.

385 (b) The Division of Adult Probation and Parole shall attach the written finding to the 386 presentence investigation report as an addendum.
